

THE HERPETOLOGICAL CONTRIBUTIONS OF WILHELM C. H. PETERS (1811-1896). With an Introduction, annotated Bibliography, and Synopsis of Data. 1988. Aaron M. Bauer, Klaus Gösler, and Magnus Nylander. Society for the Study of Amphibians and Reptiles in cooperation with Deutsche Gesellschaft für Herpetologie und Terrarienkunde. 714 p. 95.00 (Dutch/Germ.).—The well-known (Herpetological Circular herpetologists learning many other in various Western Parts like as many the volume of herpetological papers, nearly all of which were written in German and most (about 90%) of them published in several Berlin journals. It is no hard to get to in many places nowadays. The authors of the present compilation of all of Peters' herpetological papers have done a tremendous job in getting all the publications together and in doing so, did a great service to herpetology. There is no need to go through extensive papers to libraries and search articles to locate a certain paper and so finally get it for an expensive "Kaufpreis" of 10 to 200 marks. The book is divided into two parts, the first of which consists of an original contribution by the authors with an Introduction, a short résumé on a Biogeography of Wilhelm C. H. Peters, an Annotated Herpetological Bibliography of W. C. H. Peters, a Synopsis of Herpetological Data Abstracted by W. C. H. Peters, and about 400 other mentioning and described by other authors in papers authored by Peters, of it a paper published by Peters and a section on literature cited in the foregoing chapters, not including any Peters' references. This part occupies 87 pages. The second part consists of concise reprints of all of Peters' herpetological papers. All papers have been reproduced in such a way that their original pages fit on one page of the reprint. There is only one exception to the rule and that is the book Reue nach Abweichung which was reprinted in 41 pages format, with the text in its original size, but with the plates reduced to a size of 1/4 the dimensions of the original. Although the volume and plates in the book were printed colored, the plates are reproduced here in black and white, which sometimes (p. 11, fig. 4, pl. 147, fig. 2, pl. 14, fig. 26) leads to misleading results but in some other instances (e.g., pl. 59) leads to a better result than the colored original.

The biography of Peters seems to have been done in a very thoroughly and quite recently manner in the 800 pp. biobibliography between 1942 and 1848. Many details are given of the places where he traveled and the periods he spent there, based on Peters' journals of the time. The major locality "Reue" has remained obscure, but the authors provide some evidence that it is likely to be the place in Germany. From the type Peters published some smaller papers describing the new species (mostly frogs and not described in the field by Peters). Some of these were published when Peters still was in Moldavia. In this connection, it might be worth while to mention that some of Peters' papers were several weeks (one week of being prepared) in a museum. Thus in all modern herpetological museums, modernity and dealing with being increasing at the time, when the authors have been papers published in a serious journal in such a short time? Maybe we can look something from our scientific societies.

During his stay in Moldavia, Peters collected 475 reptiles and amphibians but also many? specimens of other groups. Nevertheless, for protoplasm standards, this seems to be a very low number considering the amount of time spent in the field. This explanation, probably is that Peters did not pay special attention to reptiles and amphibians and only picked them up when they came his way and by collecting his usual collection, containing 119 species, descriptions of eight new genera, 59 new species and one new subgenus were based on it.

After his return to Berlin, Peters started working in the Anatomical Institute, and in 1868 he started his career in the Zoological Museum. After about a year, he had already become director of the museum, a position he kept till his death in 1896. During the period between 1868 and 1888, he published many papers dealing with reptiles and herpetology from all over the world. According to the authors, Peters maintained correspondence and traveled and traded specimens, exchanges with herpetologists throughout Europe, and they maintained a list of them. The list they provide certainly is not complete. One of Peters' long-time correspondents and only some years his senior was the prussian Schlegel, a German who had been working in the Zoologisches von Naturwissenschaften in Berlin since 1825, first as a herpetologist and later as an ornithologist and mammalogist. In 1838, he became director of the museum in London until his death in 1884. In the archives of the various library museum in London, now named Natural History Museum, there are a number of handwritten letters from Peters to Schlegel and the printed post (Schlegel to Peter) and a number of letters sent by the latter to Schlegel regarding exchange of specimens, plate names in Berlin and London. This is also evident from some descriptions of Peters, which he attributed to Schlegel (e.g., Appendix
