Home in British Working-Class Fiction Nicola Wilson,2016-03-09 Home in British Working Class Fiction offers a fresh take on British working class writing that turns away from a masculinist work based understanding of class in favour of home gender domestic labour and the family kitchen As Nicola Wilson shows the history of the British working classes has often been written from the outside with observers looking into the world of the inhabitants Here Wilson engages with the long cultural history of this gaze and asks how home is represented in the writing of authors who come from a working class background Her book explores the depiction of home as a key emotional and material site in working class writing from the Edwardian period through to the early 1990s Wilson presents new readings of classic texts including The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists Love on the Dole and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning analyzing them alongside works by authors including James Hanley Walter Brierley Lewis Grassie Gibbon Buchi Emecheta Pat Barker James Kelman and the rediscovered ex mill girl novelist Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Wilson s broad understanding of working class writing allows her to incorporate figures typically ignored in this context as she demonstrates the importance of home s role in the making and expression of class feeling and identity Working-Class Raj Alexandra Lindgren-Gibson,2023-11-02 Explores what happened to working class men and women when they left Britain and travelled to India after the Rebellion of 1857

Fatherhood and the British Working Class, 1865-1914 Julie-Marie Strange,2015-01-19 A pioneering study of Victorian and Edwardian fatherhood investigating what being and having a father meant to working class people Based on working class autobiography the book challenges dominant assumptions about absent or feckless fathers and reintegrates the paternal figure within the emotional life of families Locating autobiography within broader social and cultural commentary Julie Marie Strange considers material culture everyday practice obligation duty and comedy as sites for the development and expression of complex emotional lives Emphasising the importance of separating men as husbands from men as fathers Strange explores how emotional ties were formed between fathers and their children the models of fatherhood available to working class men and the ways in which fathers interacted with children inside and outside the home She explodes the myth that working class interiorities are inaccessible or unrecoverable and locates life stories in the context of other sources including social surveys visual culture and popular fiction Unmaking Merlin Elliot Murphy,2014-11-28 A unique exploration of how anarchist philosophy and practice has inspired some of the English language s most revered and reviled authors British Aestheticism and the Urban Working Classes, 1870-1900 D. Maltz,2005-11-22

This cultural study reveals the interdependence between British Aestheticism and late Victorian social reform movements. Following their mentor John Ruskin who believed in art's power to civilize the poor, cultural philanthropists promulgated a Religion of Beauty as they advocated practical schemes for tenement reform, university settlement, education, Sunday museum opening, and High Anglican revival. Although subject to novelist's ambivalent even satirical representations, missionary aesthetes nevertheless constituted an influential social network imbuing fin de siècle artistic communities with political purpose and political lobbies with aesthetic sensibility.

The Working Class at Home, 1790-1940 Joseph Harley, Vicky Holmes, Laika Nevalainen, 2022-02-17

This book examines life in the homes inhabited by the working class over the long nineteenth century. These working class homes are often imagined as distinctly unhomely spaces which the inhabitants struggled to fill with even the most basic of furniture, let alone acquire the comforts associated with middle class domestic space. The concerned reformers of industrialising towns and cities painted a picture of severe deprivation of rooms that were both cramped yet bare at the same time and disease ridden spaces from which their subjects required rescue. It is an image which is not only inadequate but which also robs working class people of their agency in creating domestic spaces which allowed for the expression of personal and familial feeling. Bringing together emerging scholars who challenge these ideas and using a range of innovative sources and approaches, this edited collection presents a new understanding of working class homes.
