Jean Rhys: Letters 1931-1966; Selected and Edited by Francis Wyndham and Diana Melly Jean Rhys,1985      The Other Side of the Story Molly Hite,2018-03-05 According to Molly Hite a number of influential contemporary women novelists notably Jean Rhys Doris Lessing Alice Walker and Margaret Atwood attempt innovations in narrative form that are more radical in their implications than the dominant modes of fictional experimentation characterized as postmodernist In The Other Side of the Story Hite makes the point that these innovations which distinguish the genre she calls contemporary feminist narrative are more radical precisely because their context is the critique of a culture and a literary tradition apprehended as profoundly masculinist      Essays and Letters Ernest Rhys,2018-02-17 This work has been selected by

Jean Rhys's Modernist Bearings and Experimental Aesthetics Sue Thomas,2022-01-27 Addressing Jean Rhys s composition and positioning of her fiction this book invites and challenges us to read the tacit silent and explicit textual bearings she offers and reveals new insights about the formation scope and complexity of Rhys s experimental aesthetics Tracing the distinctive and shifting evolution of Rhys s experimental aesthetics over her career Sue Thomas explores Rhys s practices of composition in her fiction and drafts as well as her self reflective comment on her writing The author examines patterns of interrelation intertextuality intermediality and allusion both diachronic and synchronic as well as the cultural histories entwined within them Through close analysis of these this book reveals new experimental thematic generic and political reaches of Rhys s fiction and sharpens our insight into her complex writerly affiliations and lineages      Commonwealth of Letters Peter J. Kalliney,2013-07-26 Commonwealth of Letters examines midcentury literary institutions integral to modernism and postcolonial writing Several organizations central to interwar modernism such as the BBC influential publishers and university English departments became important sites in the emergence of postcolonial literature after the war How did some of modernism s leading figures of the 1930s such as T S

Eliot Louis MacNeice and Stephen Spender come to admire late colonial and early postcolonial literature in the 1950s Similarly why did late colonial and early postcolonial writers including Chinua Achebe Kamau Brathwaite Claude McKay and Ngugi wa Thiong'o actively seek alliances with metropolitan intellectuals Peter Kalliney's original and extensive archival work on modernist cultural institutions demonstrates that this disparate group of intellectuals had strong professional incentives to treat one another more as fellow literary professionals and less as political or cultural antagonists Surprisingly metropolitan intellectuals and their late colonial counterparts leaned heavily on modernist theories of aesthetic autonomy to facilitate their collaborative ventures For white metropolitan writers T S Eliot's notion of impersonality could help recruit new audiences and conspirators from colonized regions of the world For black colonial writers aesthetic autonomy could be used to imagine a literary sphere uniquely resistant to the forms of racial prejudice endemic to the colonial system This strategic collaboration did not last forever but as Commonwealth of Letters shows it left a lasting imprint on the ultimate disposition of modernism and the evolution of postcolonial literature

Modernist Voyages Anna Snaith, 2014-02-24 London's literary and cultural scene fostered newly configured forms of feminist anticolonialism during the modernist period Through their writing in and about the imperial metropolis colonial women authors not only remapped the city they also renegotiated the position of women within the empire This book examines the significance of gender to the interwoven nature of empire and modernism As transgressive figures of modernity writers such as Jean Rhys Katherine Mansfield Una Marson and Sarojini Naidu brought their own versions of modernity to the capital revealing the complex ways in which colonial identities traveled to London at the turn of the twentieth century Anna Snaith's original study provides an alternative vantage point on the urban metropolis and its artistic communities for scholars and students of literary modernism gender and postcolonial studies and English literature more broadly

Be a Good Soldier Jennifer Fraser, 2011-11-12 In the modern era children experiencing grief were encouraged to dry their tears and be good soldiers How was this phenomenon interrogated and deconstructed in the period's literature Be a Good Soldier initiates conversation on the figure of the child in modernist novels investigating the demand for emotional suppression as manifested later in cruelty and aggression in adulthood Jennifer Margaret Fraser provides sophisticated close readings of key works by Joseph Conrad Virginia Woolf and James Joyce among others who share striking concerns about the concept of infantry both as a collection of infants and as foot soldiers of war A phenomenon associated traditionally with Freud Fraser instead uses a unique Derridean theoretical prism to provide new ways of understanding modernist concerns with power dynamics knowledge and meaning Be a Good Soldier establishes a pioneering nuanced vocabulary for further historical and cultural inquiries into modernist childhood

Ethics and Nostalgia in the Contemporary Novel

John J. Su,2005-11-24 Images of loss and yearning played a crucial role in literary texts written in the later part of the twentieth century Despite deep cultural differences novelists from Africa the Caribbean Great Britain and the United States share a sense that the economic social and political forces associated with late modernity have evoked widespread nostalgia within the communities in which they write In this original and wide ranging study John J Su explores the relationship between nostalgia and ethics in novels across the English speaking world He challenges the tendency in literary studies to characterise memory as positive and nostalgia as necessarily negative Instead this book argues that nostalgic fantasies are crucial to the ethical visions presented by topical novels From Jean Rhys to Wole Soyinka and from V S Naipaul to Toni Morrison Su identifies nostalgia as a central concern in the twentieth century novel
