Writers in Hollywood 1915-1951 Ian Hamilton, 2011-11-17 Legend has it that Hollywood lures gifted writers into its service with sunshine and money only to treat them as glorified typists and plot mechanics peripheral to the main business of moviemaking This is what Ian Hamilton describes as the writer in chains saga that emerges from any study of Hollywood during its so called golden years the period I have marked as running from 1915 1951 But in this superb account of what befell the likes of Faulkner Fitzgerald Chandler and Huxley by working for the Dream Factory Hamilton argues that these writers were in the movies by choice they earned far more money than their colleagues who did not write for films and in several cases they applied themselves conscientiously to the not unimportant task at hand And they had a lot of laughs Fascinating and enjoyable New Statesman Abounds in marvelous stories apocryphal fabulous funny and even true Observer Faber Finds is devoted to restoring to readers a wealth of lost or neglected classics and authors of distinction The range embraces fiction non fiction the arts and children s books For a full list of available titles visit www.faberfinds.co.uk To join the dialogue with fellow book lovers please see our blog www.faberfindsblog.co.uk

Southern by the Grace of God Megan Hunt, 2024-11 Like the media coverage of the civil rights era itself Hollywood dramas have reinforced regional stereotypes of race class and gender to cleanse and redeem the wider nation from the implications of systemic racism As Southern by the Grace of God reveals however Hollywood manipulates southern religion in particular to further enhance this pattern of difference and regional exceptionalism consistently displacing broader American racism through a representation of the poor white southerner who is as religious as he and it is always a he is racist By foregrounding the role of religion in these characterizations Megan Hunt illuminates the pernicious intersections between Hollywood and southern exceptionalism a long standing U S nationalist discourse that has assigned racial problems to the errant South alone enabling white supremacy to not only endure but reproduce throughout the nation Southern by the Grace of God examines the presentation and functions of Protestant Christianity in cinematic depictions of the American South Hunt argues that religion is an understudied signifier of the South on film used with varying degrees of sophistication to define the region's presumed exceptionalism for regional national and international audiences Rooted in close textual analysis and primary research into the production and reception of more than twenty Hollywood films that engage with the civil rights movement and or its legacy this book provides detailed case studies of films that use southern religiosity to negotiate American anxieties around race class and gender Religion Hunt contends is an integral trope of the South in popular culture and especially crucial to the divisions essential to Hollywood storytelling

New York Magazine, 1992-05-04 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea In Defense of Lost Causes Slavoj Žižek, 2009-10-19 No Marketing Blurb The IRA on Film and Television Mark Connelly, 2014-01-10 The Irish Republican Army IRA has for decades pursued the goal of unifying its
