The Life and Work of Thomas Chippendale Christopher Gilbert, Thomas Chippendale, 1978 The Life and Work of Thomas Chippendale, 1990 Celebrating Thomas Chippendale, 250 Years of Influence René Bilodeau, Anselm Fraser, 2005-05 A book that celebrates Thomas Chippendale's The Gentleman and Cabinet Maker's Director published in 1754. The Director would become the most significant publication of its time, influencing furniture design and style up to this day. Thomas Chippendale stands as a testament of his craftsmanship and design genius. The legacy and brand he left demonstrates without question his outstanding skills in marketing a talent that has left an indelible mark of influence on the world for some 250 years.

The Life and Work of Thomas Chippendale Christopher Gilbert, 1978 Gilbert looks at the life and work of Chippendale in a biographical essay, his commercial enterprise, branches of the business, The Director, the manuscript designs, stylistic development, and almost 300 pages of black and white photographs of Chippendale's work.

Thomas Chippendale Adam Bowett, James Lomax, 2021-06-24 For at least 150 years Thomas Chippendale has been synonymous with beautifully made eighteenth-century furniture in a variety of styles: Rococo, Chinese, Gothic, and Neoclassical. Born in Otley, Yorkshire, in 1718, Chippendale rose to fame because of his revolutionary design book The Gentleman and Cabinet Maker's Director, published in 1754. That same year he set up his famous workshops in St Martin's Lane, creating some of the most magnificent furniture ever made in Britain. This beautifully illustrated history focuses on Britain's most famous furniture maker and designer, including the worldwide phenomenon Chippendale style that became popular in Europe, North America, and Asia after his death in 1779. Today his influence lives on with the ongoing production of Chippendale furniture, while the eighteenth-century originals are selling for millions at auction.

The Life and Work of Thomas Chippendale Junior Judith Goodison, 2017-12-30 The Chippendale cabinet-making firm founded by Thomas Chippendale senior in about 1750 became famous partly through the successful publication of his The Gentleman and Cabinet Maker's Director (1754, re-published 1755 and 1762) and partly through the fine furniture supplied to a number of illustrious clients. Chippendale senior ran the workshop for just over twenty years. His eldest son, Thomas Chippendale junior, continued the business for over forty years; the first two decades in partnership with Thomas Haig Chippendale. Senior's work has been well documented; Chippendale junior's work has never until now been thoroughly researched. The Life and Work of Thomas Chippendale Junior repairs the omission. His patrons included members of the Royal Family, aristocrats, landed gentry, and antiquarians. He was adept at satisfying their demands, whether they required lavish gilt or simpler, often mahogany pieces. Where family archives and original settings survive, as at Harewood House, Paxton House, and Stourhead, they reveal the variety and quality of Chippendale's output. Analysis of clients' invoices, even when the furniture can no longer be traced, for the first time provides a colourful view of what customers chose and what prices they paid.
