Life in Extreme Environments Ricardo Amils Pibernat,Cynan Ellis-Evans,Helmut G. Hinghofer-Szalkay,2007-07-21
From the deepest seafloor to the highest mountain from the hottest region to the cold Antarctic plateau environments labeled as extreme are numerous on Earth and they present a wide variety of features and characteristics The life processes occurring within these environments are equally diverse not only depending on stress factors e g temperature pressure pH and chemicals but also on the type of life forms ranging from microbes to higher species How is life limited by and adapted to extreme external biotic and abiotic factors This key question summarises the deliberations raised by this exciting and fascinating research area Addressing the challenge of answering this question would help to reveal new insights and refine theories concerning the origin and evolution of life on our planet as well as life beyond Earth Investigating life processes under extreme conditions can also bring clues for understanding and predicting ecosystems responses to global changes Furthermore this area of research has a wide application potential in the fields of bio technology chemical industry pharmaceuticals biomedicine or cosmetics Investigating Life in Extreme Environments A European perspective European Science Foundation May 2007
