Social Exclusion An Approach To The Australian Case:

Social Exclusion Doris Weiss, 2003 Far and away from the academic world with its theoretical discussion of what is meant by social exclusion and the empirical attempts to measure it is the painful reality that confronts large portions of society on a daily basis This book represents a contribution to the discussion on social exclusion in politics and social sciences However beyond this it is the social reality in Australia that this work hopes to address Social Infrastructure and Vulnerability in the Suburbs Lucia Lo, Valerie Preston, Paul Anisef, Ranu Basu, Shuguang Wang, 2015-01-01 Social Infrastructure and Vulnerability in the Suburbs examines how the combination of the low density car centric geography of outer suburbs and neoliberal governance in the past several decades has affected disadvantaged populations in North American metro areas Taking the example of York Region a large outer suburb north of Toronto the authors provide a spatial analysis that illuminates the invisible geography of vulnerability in the region The volume examines access to social services by vulnerable groups who are not usually associated with the suburbs recent immigrants seniors and low income families Investigating their access to four types of social infrastructure education employment housing and settlement services this book presents a range of policy recommendations for how to address the social inequalities that characterize contemporary outer suburbs

Imagined Australia Renata Summo-O'Connell, 2009 From Terra Nullius to Land of Opportunities and Last Frontier the European dream has constructed and deconstructed Australia to feed its imagination of new societies At the same time Australia has over the last two centuries forged and re-invented its own liaisons with Europe arguably to carve out its identity From the arts to social sciences to society itself a complex dynamic has grown between the two continents in ways that invite study and discussion A transnational research group has begun its collective investigation project of which this first volume is the outcome The book is a substantial multidisciplinary collection of current research and offers critical perspectives on culture literature and history around themes at the heart of the Imagined Australia project The essays instigate reflection discovery and discussion of how reciprocal imagining between Australia and Europe has articulated itself and ways and dimensions in which a relationship between communities imagined and not has unfolded Australian Muslim Women's Borderland Subjectivities Lütfiye Ali, 2024-01-19 This book claims a discursive space in academic scholarship for knowledges and ways of knowing that capture the diversity complexity and full humanness of Australian Muslim women's subjectivities It draws on in-depth conversational interviews with 20 Australian Muslim women from various ethnic backgrounds during which the women shared their experiences of being at the crossroads of their religious gendered racialised and ethnic identities The book puts forward a decolonial feminist border methodology by weaving the work of decolonial feminist philosophers Maria Lugones and Gloria Anzaldúa with postmodern feminist thinking on subjectivity and with discourse analysis This methodology is used to centre and attend to the fluidity and plurality of Muslim women's subjectivities at the intersections of race ethnicity patriarchy gender sexuality and Islam The Good Mother Susan

Goodwin, Kate Huppatz, 2010 The Good Mother brings together essays on the contemporary relevance of the good mother in Australia. Although the ideals of the good mother change with time, fashion and context, they persist in public policy, the media, popular culture and workplaces. They place pressure on women to conform to particular standards against which they are judged and judge themselves. This book captures the diversity of contemporary women's experiences. Chapters address the experiences of executive mothers, mothers working in manual trades, yummy mummies and slummy mummies, low income mothers, single mothers, Indigenous mothers, lesbian parents, adoptive mothers and mothers negotiating schools and school choice. The essays demonstrate that while the good mother is no longer exclusively white, heterosexual, economically dependent and child focused, prevailing ideas about mothers and motherhood continue to influence the way types of women are represented and the way that all mothers think, act and present themselves.

Addressing Violence, Abuse and Oppression Barbara Fawcett, Fran Waugh, 2013-07-04 This book provides a broad overview of violence in relation to a range of groups and areas that social workers and human service professionals work with: men, women, children, mental health, youth, older people, the workplace, disability, sexuality and rural communities.

Community and Local Governance in Australia Paul Smyth, Tim Reddel, Andrew Jones, 2005 This book examines the resurgence in Australia of locality based social policy concerned with the spatial dimensions of disadvantage after the political failures of the market oriented approach to regional reform. The book proposes that these trends are leading to a new post competition policy regime in Australia that mirrors global policy trends.

Social Work, Social Welfare, and Social Development in Nigeria Mel Gray, Solomon Amadasun, 2023-05-23 This groundbreaking book provides a comprehensive account of social work, social welfare and social development in Nigeria from a postcolonial perspective. It examines the historical development of social work and social welfare and the colonial legacies affecting contemporary social welfare provision, development planning, social work practice and social work education. Against this historical backdrop, it seeks to understand the position of social work within Nigeria's minimalist structure of welfare provision and the reasons why social work struggles for legitimacy and recognition today. It covers contexts of social work practice including child welfare, juvenile justice, disabilities, mental health and ageing, as well as areas of development related problems and humanitarian assistance as new areas of practice for social workers including internally displaced and trafficked people and their impact on women and children. It seeks to understand Nigeria's ethno-religious diversity and indigenous cultural heritage to inform culturally appropriate social work practice. This book offers a global audience insight into Nigeria's developmental issues and problems and a local audience, social science and human service researchers, educators, practitioners, students and policymakers a glimpse of what's possible when people work together toward a common goal. It will be of interest to all scholars and students of social work, development studies and social policy.
