Research in Young Children's Literacy and Language Development Olivia N. Saracho, 2019-12-13
The importance of the early years in young children's lives and the rigid inequality in literacy achievement are a stimulating backdrop to current research in young children's language and literacy development. This book reports new data and empirical analyses that advance the theory of language and literacy with researchers using different methodologies in conducting their study with both a sound empirical underpinning and a captivating analytical rationalization of the results. The contributors to this volume used several methodological methods e.g. quantitative qualitative to describe the complete concept of the study, the achievement of the study and the study in an appropriate manner based on the study's methodology. The contributions to this volume cover a wide range of topics including dual language learners, Latino immigrant children, children who have hearing disabilities, parents and teachers' beliefs about language development, early literacy skills of toddlers and preschool children, interventions, multimodalities in early literacies, writing and family literacy. The studies were conducted in various early childhood settings such as child care, nursery school, Head Start, kindergarten and primary grades and the subjects in the studies represent the pluralism of the globe, a pluralism of language backgrounds, ethnicity, abilities and disabilities. This book was originally published as a special issue of Early Child Development and Care. Raising and Educating a Deaf Child Marc Marschark, 2018
Over the past twenty years, considerable public attention has been focused on the decline of marine fisheries, the sustainability of world fish production and the impacts of fishing on marine ecosystems. Many have voiced their concerns about marine conservation as well as the sustainable and ethical consumption of fish. But are fisheries in danger of collapse? Will we soon need to find ways to replace this food system? Should we be worried that we could be fishing certain species to extinction? Can commercial fishing be carried out in a sustainable way? While overblown prognoses concerning the dire state of fisheries are plentiful, clear scientific explanations of the basic issues surrounding overfishing are less so, and there remains great confusion about the actual amount of overfishing and its ecological impact. Overfishing: What Everyone Needs to Know R will provide a balanced explanation of the broad issues associated with overfishing. Guiding readers through the scientific, political, economic and ethical issues associated with harvesting fish from the ocean, it will provide answers to questions about which fisheries are sustainably managed and which are not. Ray and Ulrike Hilborn address topics including historical overfishing, high seas fisheries, recreational fisheries, illegal fishing, climate and fisheries, trawling, economic and biological overfishing and marine protected areas In order to illustrate the effects of each of these issues they will incorporate case studies of different species of fish Overall the authors present a hopeful view of the future of fisheries Most of the world s fisheries are not overfished and many once overfished stocks are now rebuilding In fact we can learn from the management failures and successes to ensure that fisheries are sustainable and contribute to national wealth and food security Concise and clear this book presents a compelling big picture of the state of oceans and the solutions to ending overfishing What Everyone Needs to Know R is a registered trademark of Oxford University Press Robots for Learning Wafa Johal,Tony Belpaeme,Mohamed Chetouani,2022-11-25 Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1993 The Atlantic Monthly ,1911 Western Reserve University.
