Social Theory, Psychoanalysis and Racism

Simon Clarke,2017-03-04 Sociological explanations of racism tend to concentrate on the structures and dynamics of modern life that facilitate discrimination and hierarchies of inequality In doing so they often fail to address why racial hatred arises as opposed to how it arises as well as to explain why it can be so visceral and explosive in character Bringing together sociological perspectives with psychoanalytic concepts and tools this text offers a clear accessible and thought provoking synthesis of varieties of theory with the aim of clarifying the complex character of racism discrimination and social exclusion in the contemporary world

A New Science of International Relations

Damian Popolo,2016-03-16 Popolo applies Foucauldian methodology to the understanding of Complexity Science for the purposes of generating new understandings related to International Relations in general and to the Kosovo conflict in particular He provides an epistemic analysis to the history of International Relations theory to reveal its intrinsic modernity highlighting how such modernity derives from a particular understanding of scientific epistemology which is being radically undermined by the emergence of Complexity Science Importantly the book shows how these theoretical issues affect specific understandings of crisis in this case Kosovo leading to specific policy decisions in the real world of international policy making region have been discussed in many seminal works but the complex set of questions behind its domains and divisions merits a more sustained debate The disappearance of the cold war the enlargement of the European Union and core issues of historical sociology all require an exploration of the structures and boundaries of historical formations as well as the question of European unity This volume tackles the topic of the divisions that have shaped European history head on as leading scholars in the field negotiate such issues as regional identity geographical boundaries divisional labeling and post cold war European unity

Handbook of Contemporary Sociological Theory Seth Abrutyn, 2016-06-22 This Handbook provides the hidden common threads that tie sociological inquiry together and featuring eminent scholars it separates itself from its predecessors in substance and organization Rather than rehashing old debates or longingly gazing at the past this book presents sociologists with new ways of conceptualizing the organization and presentation of sociological theory At the heart of this Handbook's vision is the twin goals of making theory a viable enterprise by reconceptualizing how we teach theory and keeping theory closely tied to its empirical applications Three strategies are offered 1 Elucidating how classic issues like integration or interaction are interrogated today 2 Presenting a coherent vision of the social levels of reality that theorists work on such as communities groups and the self as well as how the coherence of these levels speaks to the macro micro link and 3 Theorizing the social world rather than celebrating theorists or theories that is one can look at how theory is used holistically to understand the constraints the social world places on our lived experience or the dynamics of social change Hence in the second decade of the 21st century it has become clear that sociology is at a crossroads as the number of theorists and amount of theory available is increasingly unmanageable and unknowable by the vast majority of professionals and students As such this Handbook of Contemporary Sociological Theory presents the novice and the expert with the a roadmap for traversing this crossroad and building a more coherent robust and cumulative sociology

Race, Ethnicity and Social Theory John Solomos, 2022-07-01 Race Ethnicity and Social Theory provides a critical analysis of the main areas of scholarly research and debate about racial and ethnic relations over the past few decades The book covers substantive areas of scholarly debate in this fast changing field including race and social relations identities and the construction of the racial other feminism and race the relationship between race and nationalism antisemitism the evolution of new forms of racism race and political representation and more generally the changing debates about race and ethnicity in our global environment The book argues that there is a need for more dialogue across national and conceptual boundaries about how to develop the theoretical tools needed to understand both the historical roots of contemporary forms of racialised social and political relations and the contemporary forms through which race is made and re made A key argument that runs through the book is the need to develop conceptual frameworks that can help us to make sense of the changing forms of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary societies This means developing more dialogue across national research cultures as well as empirical research that seeks to engage with the key issues raised by contemporary theoretical debates The book will be of
