Sociological Theories in Progress Joseph Berger, Morris Zelditch, Bo Anderson, 1966      Sociological Theories in Progress Joseph Berger, 1966      Sociological Theories in Progress Joseph Berger, Morris Zelditch (Jr.), Bo Anderson, 1989-11 This volume explores the leading edge of theoretical development in sociology between 1972 and 1989. It contains the work of some of the leading sociological theorists, presents extensions or reformulations of existing theories, and some wholly new theories. The editors particularly wish to show the range of middle range theory, theory orientated towards empirical knowledge of specific domains as opposed to overarching frameworks for all sociology.      Sociological Theories in progress Joseph Berger, 1972      Sociological Theories in Progress Joseph Berger, Morris Zelditch (Jr.), Bo Anderson, 1966

He took his BA Hons in Sociology and Philosophy from Leeds University and his MA in Sociology from McMaster University in Canada. He received his PhD from LSE and his thesis, Sociology of Progress, was published by Routledge in 1970.      Sociological Theories in Progress Joseph Berger, 1966      Status, Network, and Structure Jacek Szmata, John Skvoretz, Joseph Berger, 1997 This book challenges much that has been written about the decline of sociology as a vital, essential area of inquiry into the human condition. Against this Greek chorus of woe, these papers show by example that sociology can make progress, select significant problems, and cumulate an integrated and coherent set of findings and theoretical understandings. Although the twenty papers in the book engage a wide variety of issues, they are united by their adherence to one of the most active and successful traditions in sociology: the group process tradition. Group process research programs can examine tractable problems posed by social psychological phenomena for which sociology has the best methods of study; they have the potential for a hardware-based technological research front that discovers new phenomena and comes closest of all approaches in sociological research to using cognitive criteria in the choice of problems and to studying immutable phenomena. The overall aim of the book is to provide models for researchers struggling to develop, construct, and integrate coherent sociological theory and knowledge. The papers are grouped around three themes: 1. the problem of theory construction in sociology, including what is meant by theory and the methods of testing it, particularly empirical testing; 2. the extension and elaboration of existing theories of group processes, notably in the study of status, sentiment, and the comparison
