The Death Of A Soldier:

Death of a Soldier Margaret Evison, 2012 On 12 May 2009 Margaret Evison's son Lieutenant Mark Evison of 1st Battalion Welsh Guards died of wounds sustained whilst leading a patrol in Helmand Province. Hailed a hero, Mark's death was a national sacrifice; his grave to be one of many in the identical ordered rows in a military cemetery. But to his mother Margaret it was the most intimate of griefs. In Death of a Soldier she attempts to reconcile her own unanswerable sense of loss with the idea that her son died for a good cause.

Death of a Soldier Philip Prowse, 1976 Wallace Stevens James Longenbach, 1991 Religio Militis, Or, The Moral Duty of a Soldier, Shewing how He Ought to Behave Himself Towards God, His King and Country ... C. B., 1690 Letters of a Soldier, 1914-1915 Eugène Emmanuel Lemerancier, 2019-12-09 In Letters of a Soldier 1914-1915 Eugène Emmanuel Lemerancier presents a poignant collection of correspondence from the frontlines of World War I capturing the raw emotions, thoughts and experiences of a soldier grappling with the chaos of warfare. Written with a frank and unvarnished literary style, these letters combine an intimate and personal voice with broader reflections on the futility of conflict and the human spirit's resilience. The work stands as a critical document of its time, providing insight into the psychological landscape of soldiers and the stark realities of trench warfare, reflecting the literary context of early 20th-century war literature that sought to shed light on the often neglected inner lives of combatants. Lemerancier's own background as a soldier and his fervent desire to convey the truth of his experiences propelled him to write this remarkable collection. His dual role as both writer and participant in the war offers readers a unique perspective steeped in authenticity as he navigates themes of camaraderie, loss and longing amid the tragic backdrop of war. Lemerancier's poignant voice resonates with a depth that invites empathy and contemplation. Letters of a Soldier 1914-1915 is highly recommended for those who seek a deeper understanding of the emotional toll of war and the human experiences that transcend the battlefield. This book is essential reading for scholars, students and anyone interested in the complexities of war literature and the profound impact of World War I on the conscience of humanity. In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience. Lastly, our hand-picked Memorable Quotes distill pivotal lines and turning points serving as touchstones for the collection's central themes.

The Death of Ben Linder Joan Kruckewitt, 2011-01-04 In 1987 the death of Ben Linder, the first American killed by President Reagan's freedom fighters, the U.S.-backed Nicaraguan Contras, ignited a firestorm of protest and debate. In this landmark first biography of Linder, investigative journalist Joan Kruckewitt tells his story. In the summer of 1983 a 23-year-old American named Ben Linder arrived in Managua with a unicycle and a newly earned degree in engineering. In 1986 Linder moved from Managua to El Cu, a village in the Nicaraguan war zone where he helped form a team to build a hydroplant to bring electricity to the town. He was ambushed and killed by the Contras the following year while surveying a stream for a possible hydroplant. In 1993 Kruckewitt traveled to the Nicaraguan mountains to investigate Linder's death. In July 1995 she finally located and interviewed one of the men who killed Ben Linder, a story that became the basis for a New Yorker feature on Linder's death Linder's story is a portrait of one idealist who died for his beliefs as well as a picture of a failed foreign policy vividly exposing the true dimensions of a war that forever marked the lives of both Nicaraguans and Americans
