The Deep Approach Second Languages For Community Building:

The Deep Approach François Victor Tochon, Denise M. Hanson, 2003 Bilingualism is not merely a nice addition to curriculum but community enhancement the authors and contributors to this volume insist Tochon is a native of Switzerland which has three official languages and has taught extensively in Canada which has two official languages In these and other settings Tochon has experienced and researched the impact of bilingualism on schools and communities Hanson who is the TEACH Wisconsin Project Coordinator for Madison Metropolitan School District has also anecdotally experienced the individual and community benefits of bilingualism joins Tochon and others in a research project designed to study the language phenomenon that they themselves have observed and experienced In order to better understand the process involved Tochon explains the idea of deep approach Here are the principles underlying nonintrusive action which characterize what I call the deep approach to language teaching Second languages are taught with the contribution of bilingual communities typically those cultures and languages that are represented in the school Action is taken with the people involved these people participate voluntarily and freely The approach is thematic and bottom up It has an ecological dimension It is based upon projects One does not begin with the presupposition that any one environment is superior to any other What is at issue is the relationship between people concerned with education Participants are conducting reflective research on their own actions Explore with the authors the very real possibilities for developing a language learning program the benefits the students and the community

Teaching for Deep Understanding Kenneth Leithwood, Pat McAdie, Nina Bascia, Anne Rodrigue, 2006-04-28 Empower students to reach new levels of thinking through teaching for deep understanding How do teachers successfully bridge the chasm between large numbers of very specific educational standards and deep understanding of important ideas This well researched text is based on the collaborative work between researchers and school practitioners to help answer this fundamental question The authors have drawn from the most up to date research to help teachers curriculum developers and school leaders discover how to implement and promote learner centered quality teaching strategies that encourage students understanding Organized into five parts this text systematically uncovers how to Advance student learning using leading edge research on powerful forms of instruction Foster metacognition in students and encourage them to take control of their own learning Extend learning from academic thinking to real world application across all disciplines Learn how to instill a culture of deep understanding among students while still meeting specific achievement standards found in most district and state curricula This timely and accessible resource reveals how rethinking school curriculum and teaching for deeper knowledge transfer can help students take control of their own learning

Interpretation Yung Suk Kim, 2013-01-21 Yung Suk Kim asks important questions in Biblical Interpretation Why do we care about the Bible and biblical interpretation How do we know which interpretation is better He expertly brings to the fore the essential elements of interpretation the reader the text and the reading lens and attempts to explore a set of criteria for solid interpretation While celebrating the diversity of biblical interpretation Kim warns that not all interpretations are valid legitimate or healthy because interpretation involves the complex process of what he calls critical contextual biblical interpretation He suggests that readers engage with the text by asking important questions of their own Why do we read How do we read and What do we read Study Guide <http://www.youaregood.com/bi/information.pdf> Intersections in

Language Planning and Policy Jean Fornasiero, Sarah M. A. Reed, Rob Amery, Eric Bouvet, Kayoko Enomoto, Hui Ling Xu, 2020-09-28 This volume encompasses the range of issues encountered by language scholars who teach and research in departments of languages and cultures within the higher education system predominantly in Australia but touching other universities worldwide Related studies on language planning methodology or pedagogy have focused on one or more of these same issues but rarely on their totality Intersections as a metaphor running discreetly through the essays in this volume connects them all to a lived reality The field of languages and cultures as it is practised and reflected upon in Australian universities is essentially an interdisciplinary and interconnecting space one in which linguistic and disciplinary diversities meet and join forces rather than collide or disperse along different pathways The international and local studies featured here focus on language planning new pedagogies and language reclamation and link to meeting points and commonalities They show that language scholars are increasingly finding themselves on common ground as they tackle issues of policy and practice affecting their field whether within their institutions within the tertiary system or within the framework of government policy Approaches to Language and Culture Svenja Völkel, Nico Nassenstein, 2022-08-22 This book provides an overview of approaches to language and culture and it outlines the broad interdisciplinary field of anthropological linguistics and linguistic anthropology It identifies current and future directions of research including language socialization language reclamation speech styles and genres language ideology verbal taboo social indexicality emotion time and many more Furthermore it offers areal perspectives on the study of language in cultural contexts namely

Africa the Americas Australia and Oceania Mainland Southeast Asia and Europe and it lays the foundation for future developments within the field In this way the book bridges the disciplines of cultural anthropology and linguistics and paves the way for the new book series Anthropological Linguistics
