The Development of Denmark's Nature Since the Last Glacial Johannes Iversen, 1973 Makroreste Palaeobotanik Palynologie Holozän Bulletin of the Geological Society of Denmark Dansk geologisk forening, 2007 Submerged Landscapes of the European Continental Shelf Nicholas C. Flemming, Jan Harff, Delminda Moura, Anthony Burgess, Geoffrey N. Bailey, 2017-08-07 Quaternary Paleoenvironments examines the drowned landscapes exposed as extensive and attractive territory for prehistoric human settlement during the Ice Ages of the Pleistocene when sea levels dropped to 120m-135m below their current levels This volume provides an overview of the geological geomorphological climatic and sea level history of the European continental shelf as a whole as well as a series of detailed regional reviews for each of the major sea basins The nature and variable attractions of the landscapes and resources available for human exploitation are examined as are the conditions under which archaeological sites and landscape features are likely to have been preserved destroyed or buried by sediment during sea level rise The authors also discuss the extent to which we can predict where to look for drowned landscapes with the greatest chance of success with frequent reference to examples of preserved prehistoric sites in different submerged environments Quaternary Paleoenvironments will be of interest to archaeologists geologists marine scientists palaeoanthropologists cultural heritage managers geographers and all those with an interest in the drowned landscapes of the continental shelf Paleoecology of Beringia David M. Hopkins, John V.
Matthews, Charles E. Schweger, 2013-09-17 Paleoecology of Beringia is the product of a symposium organized by its editors sponsored by the Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research and held at the foundation's conference center in Burg Wartenstein Austria 8-17 June 1979 The focus of this volume is on the paradox central to all studies of the unglaciated Arctic during the last Ice Age that vertebrate fossils indicate that from 45 000 to 11 000 years BP an environment considerably more diverse and productive than the present one existed whereas the botanical record where it is not silent supports a far more conservative appraisal of the region's ability to sustain any but the sparsest forms of plant and animal life The volume is organized into seven parts Part 1 focuses on the paleogeography of the Beringia The studies in Part 2 explore the ancient vegetation Part 3 deals with the steppe tundra concept and its application in Beringia Part 4 examines the paleoclimate while Part 5 is devoted to the biology of surviving relatives of the Pleistocene ungulates Part 6 takes up the presence of man in ancient Beringia Part 7 assesses the paleoecology of Beringia during the last 40 000 years book presents the geological evolution of the Baltic Sea area since its inception i.e. from the Late Glacial to the present day

The geological history of all evolutionary stages of the Baltic Sea is discussed in detail from the Baltic Ice Lake through the Yoldia Sea Ancyclus Lake Littorina Sea and Lymnaea Sea to the Mya Sea as the modern stage of the Baltic Sea development. The author presents palaeoecological and palaeosedimentological analyses of various evolutionary stages of the Baltic Sea. Detailed paleogeographic maps of the development of the Littorina Sea Lymnaea Sea and Mya Sea are displayed with particular focus on the Polish Baltic Sea area. Moreover characteristic geological cross sections and synthetic stratigraphic profiles representing individual areas of the Polish Baltic Sea coast are also shown. Each transgressive cycle of the various developmental stages of the Baltic Sea is characterized in terms of the average rate of marine transgression the fluctuation of Baltic levels and the average rate of marine abrasion of the then cliff and spit shores as well as the evolutionary changes of the area. In addition the lithostratigraphic characteristics of the various marine sediment complexes and dune sediments brown dune spits yellow dune spits light yellow grey dune spits and grey dune spits are also presented. Individual chapters address key aspects of Litho stratigraphical analysis of the Baltic Ice Lake deposits Litho stratigraphical analysis of the Yoldia Sea deposits Litho stratigraphical analysis of the Ancyclus Lake deposits Paleogeography litho stratigraphy and transgressive cycles of the Littorina Sea Paleogeography litho stratigraphy and transgressive cycles of the Lymnaea Sea Paleogeography litho stratigraphy and transgressive cycles of the Mya Sea. Danmarks geologiske undersøgelse, 1983. The Geological Record of Ecological Dynamics National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Life Sciences, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Committee on the Geologic Record of Biosphere Dynamics, 2005-01-13. In order to answer important questions about ecosystems and biodiversity scientists can look to the past geological record which includes fossils sediment and ice cores and tree rings. Because of recent advances in earth scientists ability to analyze biological and environmental information from geological data the National Science Foundation and the U S Geological Survey asked a National Research Council NRC committee to assess the scientific opportunities provided by the geologic record and recommend how scientists can take advantage of these opportunities for the nation s benefit. The committee identified three initiatives for future research to be developed over the next decade 1 use the geological record as a natural laboratory to explore changes in living things under a range of past conditions 2 use the record to better predict the response of biological systems to climate change and 3 use geologic information to evaluate the effects of human and non human factors on ecosystems The committee also offered suggestions for improving the field through better training improved databases and additional funding
