Small Screens Big Ideas Television In The 1950s:

Small Screens, Big Ideas Janet Thumim, 2001-12-21 With radical changes taking place in terrestrial television this is a timely moment to revisit the decade when television's very novelty was its most striking feature Small Screens Big Ideas brings together specially commissioned writings from British and American contributors to explore themes of diversity in this formative period. Discussing television's role in the construction of national and gender identities and its relation to other media such as theatre, film and radio Small Screens Big Ideas offers fresh exploration based in detailed case studies of this complex era. An essential book for all students of media, cultural studies and history.

Entertaining television Su Holmes, 2015-11-01 Entertaining television challenges the idea that the BBC in the 1950s was elitist and staid, upholding Reithian values in a paternalistic even patronising way. By focusing on a number of often controversial programme case studies such as the soap opera, the quiz game show, the problem show and programmes dealing with celebrity culture, Su Holmes demonstrates how BBC television surprisingly explored popular interests and desires. She also uncovers a number of remarkable connections with programmes and topics at the forefront of television today, ranging from talk shows, Reality TV, even to our contemporary obsession with celebrity. The book is iconoclastic, perceptive and grounded in archival research and will be of use to anyone studying television history.

Personality Presenters Frances Bonner, 2016-05-06 Television presenters are key to the sociability of the medium, speaking directly to viewers as intermediaries between audiences and those who are interviewed, perform or compete on screen. As targets of both great affection and derision from viewers and the subjects of radio, internet, magazine and newspaper coverage, many have careers that have lasted almost as long as post-war television itself. Nevertheless, as a profession, television presenting has received little scholarly attention. Personality Presenters explores the role of the television presenter, analysing the distinct skills possessed by different categories of host and the expectations and difficulties that exist with regard to the promotion of the various films, books, consumer and cultural products with which they are associated. The close involvement of presenters with the content that they present is examined, while the impact of the presenters' own celebrity on the tasks that they perform is scrutinised. With a focus on non-fiction entertainment shows such as game shows, lifestyle and reality shows, chat, daytime and talk shows, this book explores issues of consumer culture, advertising and celebrity as well as the connection of presenters with ethical issues. Offering detailed case studies of internationally recognised presenters as well as comparisons between national presenters from the UK and Australia, Personality Presenters provides a rich discussion of television presenters as significant conduits in the movement of ideas. As such, it will appeal to sociologists as well as those working in the fields of popular culture, cultural and media studies and cultural theory.

Television Brandcasting Jennifer Gillan, 2014-11-20 Television Brandcasting examines U.S. television's utility as a medium for branded storytelling. It investigates the current and historical role that television content promotion and hybrids of the two have played in disseminating brand messaging and influencing consumer decision making. Juxtaposing

the current period of transition with that of the 1950s 1960s Jennifer Gillan outlines how in each era new technologies unsettled entrenched business models an emergent viewing platform threatened to undermine an established one and content providers worried over the behavior of once dependable audiences The anxieties led to storytelling promotion and advertising experiments including the Disneyland series embedded rock music videos in Ozzie Harriet credit sequence brand integration Modern Family s parent company promotion episodes second screen initiatives and social TV experiments Offering contemporary and classic examples from the American Broadcasting Company Disney Channel ABC Family and Showtime alongside series such as Bewitched Leave it to Beaver Laverne Shirley and Pretty Little Liars individual chapters focus on brandcasting at the level of the television series network schedule Blu ray DVD Digital combo pack the promotional short the cause marketing campaign and across social media In this follow up to her successful previous book Television and New Media Must Click TV Gillan provides vital insights into television s role in the expansion of a brand centric U S culture

News Parade Joseph Clark, 2020-05-19 A fascinating look at the United States conflicted relationship with news and the media through the lens of the newsreel When weekly newsreels launched in the early twentieth century they offered the U S public the first weekly record of events that symbolized indisputable evidence of the news In News Parade Joseph Clark examines the history of the newsreel and how it changed the way Americans saw the world He combines an examination of the newsreel s methods of production distribution and reception with an analysis of its representational strategies to understand the newsreel s place in the history of twentieth century American culture and film history Clark focuses on the sound newsreel of the 1930s and 1940s arguing that it represents a crucial moment in the development of a spectacular society where media representations of reality became more fully integrated into commodity culture Using several case studies including the newsreel s coverage of Charles Lindbergh s transatlantic flight and the Sino Japanese War News Parade shows how news film transformed the relationship between its audience and current events as well as the social and political consequences of these changes It pays particular attention to how discourses of race and gender worked together with the rhetoric of speed mobility and authority to establish the power and privilege of newsreel spectatorship In the age of fake news and the profound changes to journalism brought on by the internet News Parade demonstrates how new technologies and media reshaped the American public s relationship with the news in the 1930s a history that can help us to better understand the transformations happening today

The Joy of Sets Chris Horrocks, 2017-12-22 It is a modern activity one of the primary ways we consume information and entertainment something we'll do over dinner at a bar or even standing on the street peering into a store window watch TV Many of us spend countless hours in front of the tube and even those of us who have proudly eliminated it from our lives can probably still rattle off the names of today's most popular shows But for as crucial as television viewing is in modern culture the television set itself as a ubiquitous object in our environment rarely captures our attention turn one off and it seems to all but disappear In this book Chris Horrocks tells the story of the television set exploring its contradictory presence in our lives as both a material object and a conveyor of illusory images Horrocks begins in the nineteenth century and television's prehistory as a fantastic futuristic concept He follows the television's journey from its strange roots in spiritualism imperialism and Victorian experiments in electro-magnetism to the contested accounts of its actual invention looking at the work of engineering pioneers such as Philo Farnsworth and John Logie Baird Unboxing sets all across the world he details how it arrived as an essential consumer product and began to play an extraordinary role as a bridge between public and private life Horrocks describes how the console and cabinet themselves expressed status and good taste and how their designs drew on cultural phenomena such as the space race and the avant-garde He discusses how we have both loved it for what it can provide and reviled it as a sinister object literally controlling our thoughts and he shows how it has figured in other cultural realms such as the work of artists like Wolf Vostell and Nam June Paik Finally Horrocks laments the death of the cathode ray tube and the emergence of the flat screen which has reduced the presence of the television as a significant material object Altogether The Joy of Sets brings this most elusive object into
