Social Relations In A Philippine Market Self Interest And Subjectivity:

Social Relations in a Philippine Market William G. Davis,1973-01-01 The Economic Sociology of Immigration Alejandro Portes,1995-06-22 Portes suggests that immigration constitutes an especially appropriate Mertonian strategic research site for economic sociology in that it provides very good opportunities for investigating the embeddedness of economic relationships in social situations the contributors expand the conventional domain of economic sociology quite literally in both time and space Contemporary Sociology Alejandro Portes and his splendid band of collaborators make clear that the causes processes and consequences of migration vary dramatically from group to group that a group s history makes a profound difference to its fate in the American economy They have produced a sinewy book a book worth arguing with Charles Tilly Columbia University The Economic Sociology of Immigration forges a dynamic link between the theoretical innovations of economic sociology with the latest empirical findings from immigration research an area of critical concern as the problems of ethnic poverty and inequality become increasingly profound Alejandro Portes lucid overview of sociological approaches to economic phenomena provides the framework for six thoughtful wide ranging investigations into ethnic and immigrant labor networks and social resources entrepreneurship and cultural assimilation Mark Granovetter illustrates how small businesses built on the bonds of ethnicity and kinship can under certain conditions flourish remarkably well Bryan R Roberts demonstrates how immigrant groups expectations of the duration of their stay influence their propensity toward entrepreneurship Ivan Light and Carolyn Rosenstein chart how specific metropolitan environments have stimulated or impeded entrepreneurial ventures in five ethnic populations Saskia Sassen provides a revealing analysis of the unexpectedly flexible and vital labor market networks maintained between immigrants and their native countries while M Patricia Fernandez Kelly looks specifically at the black inner city to examine how insular cultural values hinder the acquisition of skills and jobs outside the neighborhood Alejandro Portes also depicts the difference between the attitudes of American born youths and those of recent immigrants and its effect on the economic success of immigrant children Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Wilma Dunaway,Maria Cecilia Macabuac,2022-10-31 East South and Southeast Asia are home to two thirds of the world s hungry people but they produce more than three quarters of the world s fish and nearly half of other foods Through integration into the world food system these Asian fisheries export their most nutritious foods and import less healthy substitutes Worldwide their exports sell cheap because women the hungriest Asians provide unpaid subsidies to production processes In the 21st century Asian peasants produce more than 60 percent of the regional food supply but their survival is threatened by hunger public depeasantization policies climate change land grabbing urbanization and debt bondage Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Globalized Fisheries Nutritional Unequal Exchange and Asian Hunger is now available in paperback for individual customers Textile Economies Walter E. Little,Patricia A. McAnany,2011-09-22 Textiles have been a highly valued and central part of the politics of human societies across culture divides and over millennia The economy of textiles provides insight into the fabric of social relations local and global politics and diverse ideologies Textiles are a material element of society that fosters the study of continuities and disjunctions in the economic and social realities of past and present societies From stick loom weaving to transnational factories the production of cloth and its transformation into clothing and other woven goods offers a way to study the linkages between economics and politics The volume is oriented around a number of themes textile production textiles as trade goods textiles as symbols textiles in tourism and textiles in the transnational processes Textile Economies appeals to a broad range of scholars interested in the intersection of material culture political economy and globalization such as archaeologists cultural anthropologists economists museum curators and historians Urban Food Marketing and Third World Rural Development T. Scarlett Epstein, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1982 This book explores the nature of food marketing in Third World countries Economic development invariably involves a transition from the traditional subsistence and or barter economics to increasing participation in cash transactions In many less developed countries this transition has been facilitated by enterprising middlemen who provide the link between dispersed small satellite producers and urban buyers In spite of these developments producer seller markets still operate in numerous countries particularly the newly independent Pacific island states and large parts of Africa and Asia This book examines the phenomenon of producer seller markets basing the study on the situation in New Guinea The author then uses this data to construct theoretical propositions for the marketing of various food items and examines the producer seller market arguing that the lack of inter regional economic interdependence is likely to promote secessionary movements particularly in states where two or more ethnic groups exist Globalization from Below Gordon Mathews, Gustavo Lins Ribeiro, Carlos Alba Vega, 2012-08-21 This book explores globalization as actually experienced by most of the world's people buying goods from street vendors brought by traders moving past borders and across continents under the radar of the law The dimensions and practices of globalization from below are depicted and analyzed in detail by a team of international scholars Topics covered include the New Silk Road African traders in China street hawking in Calcutta and pirate CDs in Mexico The chapters provide intimate portrayals of routes markets and people in locations across the globe and explore theories that can help make sense of these complex and fascinating case studies Students of globalization economic anthropology and developing world economics will find the book invaluable

Economies and the Transformation of Landscape Lisa Cliggett, Christopher A. Pool, 2008 Economies and the Transformation of Landscape explores both the general and specific ways in which local economic ventures around the world such as mining ranching and farming affect the environment Critical Craft Clare M. Wilkinson-Weber, Alicia Ory DeNicola, 2020-05-26 From Oaxacan wood carvings to dessert kitchens in provincial France Critical Craft presents thirteen ethnographies which examine what defines and makes craft in a wide variety of practices from around the world Challenging the conventional understanding of craft as a survival a revival or something that resists capitalism the book turns instead to the designers DIY enthusiasts traditional artisans and technical programmers who consider their labor to be craft in order to comprehend how they make sense of it The authors ethnographic studies focus on the individuals and communities who claim a practice as their own bypassing the question of craft survival to ask how and why activities termed craft are mobilized and reproduced Moving beyond regional studies of heritage artisanship the authors suggest that ideas of craft are by definition part of a larger cosmopolitan dialogue of power and identity By paying careful attention to these sometimes conflicting voices this collection shows that there is great flexibility in terms of which activities are labelled craft In fact there are many related ideas of craft and these shape distinct engagements with materials people and the economy Case studies from countries including Mexico Nigeria India Taiwan the Philippines and France draw together evidence based on linguistics microsociology and participant observation to explore the shifting terrain on which those engaged in craft are operating What emerges is a fascinating picture which shows how claims about craft are an integral part of contemporary global change

American Imperial Pastoral Rebecca Tinio McKenna, 2017-01-20 In 1904 renowned architect Daniel Burnham the Progressive Era urban planner who famously Made No Little Plans set off for the Philippines the new US colonial acquisition Charged with designing environments for the occupation government Burnham set out to convey the ambitions and the dominance of the regime drawing on neo classical formalism for the Pacific colony The spaces he created most notably in the summer capital of Baguio gave physical form to American rule and its contradictions In American Imperial Pastoral Rebecca Tinio McKenna examines the design construction and use of Baguio making visible the physical shape labor and sustaining practices of the US s new empire especially the disposessions that underwrote market expansion In the process she demonstrates how colonialists conducted market making through state building and vice versa Where much has been made of the racial dynamics of US colonialism in the region McKenna emphasizes capitalist practices and design ideals giving us a fresh and nuanced understanding of the American occupation of the Philippines

Market Frictions Kirsten W. Endres, 2019-06-06 Based on ethnographic research conducted over several years Market Frictions examines the tensions and frictions that emerge from the interaction of global market forces urban planning policies and small scale trading activities in the Vietnamese border city of L o Cai Here it is revealed how small scale traders and market vendors experience the marketplace reflect upon their trading activities and negotiate current state policies and regulations It shows how traditional Vietnamese marketplaces have continually been reshaped and adapted to meet the changing political economic circumstances and civilizational ideals of the time
