Society And Food Science In A Social Context:

Food, Science and Society P.S. Belton, Teresa Belton, 2013-06-29 There is widespread concern amongst consumers about the safety and acceptability of food and there are clearly communication gaps between consumers many food professionals and food industry This book offers accounts of the two way nature of this difficult communication process and steps that can be made to bridge these communication gaps in a variety of social and cultural environments Individual chapters of the book analyze the roles of science culture and risk perception and of mass media and attitudes towards eating An additional section describes the interface between scientists and lay people with regard to policy making and agricultural practice

Education and Training in Food Science Ian Douglas Morton, J. Lenges, 1992 Containing a selection of papers presented at an international conference this volume reviews the need for increased training in the food industry in order to bridge the gap between standards in Eastern and Western Europe and the USA Higher education is discussed including the training of food technicians European initiatives such as ERASMUS and Network are also described The text includes coverage of the importance of international trade and consumer protection acts including a description of the needs of various groups and future developments

Communicating Science in Social Contexts Donghong Cheng, Michel Claessens, Nicholas R. J. Gascoigne, Jenni Metcalfe, Bernard Schiele, Shunke Shi, 2008-07-15 Science communication as a multidisciplinary field has developed remarkably in recent years It is now a distinct and exceedingly dynamic science that melds theoretical approaches with practical experience Formerly well established theoretical models now seem out of step with the social reality of the sciences and the previously clear cut delineations and interacting domains between cultural fields have blurred Communicating Science in Social Contexts examines that shift which itself depicts a profound recomposition of knowledge fields activities and dissemination practices and the value accorded to science and technology Communicating Science in Social Contexts is the product of long term effort that would not have been possible without the research and expertise of the Public Communication of Science and Technology PCST Network and the editors For nearly 20 years this informal international network has been organizing events and forums for discussion of the public communication of science

School Food, Equity and Social Justice Dorte Ruge, Irene Torres, Darren Powell, 2022-02-27 School Food Equity and Social Justice provides contemporary critical examinations of policies and practices relating to food in schools across 25 countries from an equity and social justice perspective The book is divided into three sections Food politics and policies Sustainability and development and Teaching and learning about food Bringing together an interdisciplinary group of academics with practitioner backgrounds the chapters in this collection broaden discussions on school food to consider its educational and environmental implications the ideals of food in schools the emotional and ideological components of schooling food and the relationships with home and everyday life Our aim is to provide enhanced insight into matters of social justice in diverse contexts and visions of how greater equality and equity may be achieved through school food policy and in school food programs We expect this book to become essential reading for students researchers and policy makers in health education health promotion educational practice and policy public health nutrition and social justice education

Applied food science Bart Wernaart,Bernd van der Meulen,2023-08-14 The food sciences cover a wide area from ethics to microbiology from toxicology to law from marketing to genetics Professionals in the food sector may have to deal daily with issues related to another expertise than their own and with colleagues who have their expertise in any of these fields The purpose of this book is to provide an introduction for future professionals students researchers and teachers to all these different fields collectively known as the food sciences Understanding the basics of other professionals expertise will improve mutual understanding and communication It will help to ask the right questions at the right moment to the right person Each chapter is dedicated to one of the food sciences It provides the basics in terms of scope terminology methods and content It is placed in a dynamic context by addressing recent developments and ongoing debates Food Culture of Southeast Asia:

Perspective of Social Science and Food Science David, Wahyudi,Kofahl, Daniel,2017-01-01 This book represents a unique collection of food studies from the perspective of both social and food science This book describes the current situation of food cultures in Southeast Asia and consists of six chapters which explain the cases of Thailand and Indonesia The selected case studies are illustrative of ten scholars from various disciplines and nationalities The multidisciplinary approaches help readers understand how the food culture in Southeast Asia changes and show the dominant factors driving those changes This book is suitable for students who are interested in food culture general readers and foodies By reading this book readers will realize the connection between social science and food science and find interesting insights from both perspectives In many cases this book describes ways of eating and traditional food cultures that have already begun to disappear or have been transformed into modernity To understand how and why this occurs enables researches to react and do something for the future of food tradition and nutrition Joint Seminars on the U.N. Conference on Science and Technology for

Development (UNCSTD) United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology,1979 Food and Society Amy E. Guptill,Denise A. Copelton,Betsy Lucal,2013-04-03 This timely and engaging text offers students a social perspective on food food practices and the modern food system It engages readers curiosity by highlighting several paradoxes how food is both mundane and sacred reveals both distinction and conformity and in the contemporary global era comes from everywhere but nowhere in particular With a social constructionist framework the book provides an empirically rich multi faceted and coherent introduction to this fascinating field Each chapter begins with a vivid case study proceeds through a rich discussion of research insights and ends with discussion questions and suggested resources Chapter topics include food s role in socialization identity work health and social change as well as food marketing and the changing global food system In synthesizing insights from diverse fields of social inquiry the book addresses issues of culture structure and social inequality throughout Written in a lively style this book will be both accessible and revealing to beginning and intermediate students alike      Interfaces between Science and Society Ângela Guimarães Pereira, Sofia Guedes Vaz, Sylvia Tognetti, 2017-09-08 The project of science has been to provide answers to questions about the world and how it works Often this lofty role has been characterised by a narrow and dogmatic scientific training an unwillingness to communicate to differing stakeholder needs a refusal to accept and to manage uncertainty complexity and value commitments and the reduction of knowledge assessment to colleague peer review on narrowly technical issues Times have changed As the world faces increasingly disparate challenges science is subjected to increasingly vehement demands from a society calling for transparency openness and public participation in science policy Science is going through an evolutionary process Perhaps the most painful process it has ever encountered Research on the interfaces between science and society is a burgeoning area A new conception of knowledge now appears to be emerging based on the awareness of complexity uncertainty and a plurality of legitimate perspectives and interests Democracy is extending into the previously quite exclusive scientific realm and science must now submit to public scrutiny and participation in the governance of knowledge This book provides much needed reflections on the methods and tools for knowledge quality assurance particularly on its inputs to extended policy and decision making processes The overall aim is to improve the relationship between science and society The discussion involves six themes communicating between plural perspectives accepting and learning how to manage uncertainty complexity and value commitments acknowledging new conceptions of knowledge implementing transparency openness and participation in science policy valuing community based research and exploring how new ICT can support inclusive governance Taken together these themes provide both a framework and vision on how to conceive discuss and evaluate the changes that are occurring The chapters cover theory practice approaches experiences ideas and suggestions for a move beyond talking the talk to walking the walk Science and policy interfaces are dynamic processes needing to permanently redefine themselves and their roles This book contributes to the enrichment and deepening of our understanding of these important new trends in the social relations of science which are fundamental to our understanding of the prospects for further progress The book will be essential reading for scientists policy makers managers and the public

Knowledge Mobilisation and Social Sciences Jon Bannister, Irene Hardill, 2016-03-17 The essays presented in this volume examine knowledge mobilisation and its relation to research impact and engagement The social sciences matter because they can help us to understand and address the complex challenges confronting society This is particularly true in an era of significant downward pressure on public expenditure a consequence of the global fiscal crisis when there is a striking need to ensure that policies are demonstrably effective and efficient The impact agenda in the UK reflected in parallel global debates actively encourages the social sciences to make and demonstrate a difference to justify and protect social science funding This volume shows how knowledge mobilisation can be thought of systematically as a process encompassing engagement leading to the co production and channelling of knowledge to make a difference in the economy and society This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science      Management of Health Risks from Environment and Food Hajime Sato,2009-10-30 This book examines the policy and politics of two health risks which have recently become prominent social issues in many countries One is the issue of asbestos as an environmental risk to humans and another is that of bovine spongiform encephalitis BSE or mad cow disease as an animal disease and of its variant Creutzfeldt Jakob disease CJD as a human food risk Employing a set of analytical frameworks in political science each case study explores how the issues emerged agendas got set alternatives were chosen and policies were implemented Through the analysis it is examined how safety and public reassurance were pursued in the countries studied Japan the UK France the USA and Korea Exploration of the successes and failures in their efforts discloses the key elements to successful health risk management      Social Sciences for Knowledge and Decision Making OECD,2001-01-31 This conference proceedings examines the role social sciences can play in developing sound policy      The Routledge Handbook of Food Ethics Mary Rawlinson,Caleb Ward,2016-07-01 While the history of philosophy has traditionally given scant attention to food and the ethics of eating in the last few decades the subject of food ethics has emerged as a major topic encompassing a wide array of issues including labor justice public health social inequity animal rights and environmental ethics This handbook provides a much needed philosophical analysis of the ethical implications of the need to eat and the role that food plays in social cultural and political life Unlike other books on the topic this text integrates traditional approaches to the subject with cutting edge research in order to set a new agenda for philosophical discussions of food ethics The Routledge Handbook of Food Ethics is an outstanding reference source to the key topics problems and debates in this exciting subject and is the first collection of its kind Comprising over 35 chapters by a team of international contributors the Handbook is divided into 7 parts the phenomenology of food gender and food food and cultural diversity liberty choice and food policy food and the environment farming and eating other animals food justice Essential reading for students and researchers in food ethics it is also an invaluable resource for those in related disciplines such as environmental ethics and bioethics      Nutrition Education: Linking Research, Theory, and Practice Isobel R. Technology, and Engineering - 4 Volume Set Y. H. Hui, Frank Sherkat, 2005-12-19 Advances in food science technology and engineering are occurring at such a rapid rate that obtaining current detailed information is challenging at best While almost everyone engaged in these disciplines has accumulated a vast variety of data over time an organized comprehensive resource containing this data would be invaluable to have The Environment and Social Justice Dorceta E. Taylor, 2010-08-26 The environmental justice movement an organized social and political force in America in the 80s is a global phenomenon today as activists worldwide try to understand the relationship between environment race ethnicity and social inequality This volume examines domestic and international environmental issues Technology and Society, second edition Deborah G. Johnson, Jameson M. Wetmore, 2021-08-24 Writings by thinkers ranging from Rokeya Sakhawat Hossain to Bruno Latour that focus on the interconnections of technology society and values Technological change does not happen in a vacuum decisions about which technologies to develop fund market and use engage ideas about values as well as calculations of costs and benefits In order to influence the development of technology for the better we must first understand how technology and society are inextricably bound together These writings by thinkers ranging from Bruno Latour to Francis Fukuyama help us do just that examining how people shape technology and how technology shapes people This second edition updates the original significantly offering twenty one new essays along with fifteen from the first edition The book first presents visions of the future that range from technological utopias to cautionary tales and then introduces several major STS theories It examines human and social values and how they are embedded in technological choices and explores the interesting and subtle complexities of the technology society relationship Remediating a gap in earlier theorizing in the field many of the texts illustrate how race and gender are intertwined with technology Finally the book offers a set of readings that focus on the sociotechnical challenges we face today treating topics that include cybersecurity geoengineering and the myth of neutral technology Food Justice and Hospitality in Luke-Acts Gideon S. S. Paulraj, 2023-05-23 Food security is a multifaceted concept and extends beyond the production of availability of and demand for food This book attempts to explore the meal narrations in Luke Acts as a source for a theology of hospitality to ascertain Luke s concern for the immigrant the poor the homeless the hungry and the outcasts This book focuses on fifteen meal scenes in Luke Acts and contributes to Lukan scholarship on meals particularly in addressing the issue of food insecurity Firstly by incorporating cultural dimensions and anthropology to understand the social context of the first century world this book contributes a new perspective on the Lukan audience which was stratified by socioeconomic and religious disparities in terms of privilege wealth and power Secondly this book analyzes the Lukan concern with the social structure and the social political economic and religious setting behind his emphasis on the pto set macron over o choi and the marginalized concerning livelihood needs such as food and shelter Thirdly this book connects Lukan concern with contemporary theologies that include an emphasis on hunger and hospitality such as liberation theology Dalit theology and practical theology Thus the book challenges readers and offers a few recommendations for implementations to combat hunger and destitution

Food Science, Production, and Engineering in Contemporary Economies Jean-Vasile, Andrei, 2016-05-12 As the population of the world continues to surge upwards it is apparent that the global economy is unable to meet the nutritional needs of such a large populace In an effort to circumvent a deepening food crisis it is pertinent to develop new sustainability strategies and practices Food Science Production and Engineering in Contemporary Economies features timely and relevant information on food system sustainability and production on a global scale Highlighting best practices theoretical concepts and emergent research in the field this book is a critical resource for professionals researchers practitioners and academics interested in food science food economics and sustainability practices

The Social Implications of Cellular Agriculture and the Future of Food Evan Bowness, Evan Fraser, Robert Newell, Lenore Lauri Newman, Rodrigo Luiz Morais-da-Silva, Alesandros Glaros, Sarah-Louise Ruder, Mariana Hase Ueta, Jessica Mukiri, 2025-04-24 Cellular agriculture refers to a suite of technologies for using cell cultures and advanced fermentation instead of live animals e g livestock poultry fisheries to produce food for human consumption Cellular agriculture is positioned to drive significant changes across the food system While there is much and growing interest in this area of research a focused and in depth critical examination of the social implications surrounding this emerging technology remains underdeveloped Social science research that assesses the degree to which these technologies both alleviate and reproduce existing social and ecological problems is therefore needed This Research Topic will feature research that responds to this need We seek empirical theoretical and analytical papers that address the social political ethical and cultural implications of cellular agriculture Ideally these papers will examine the prospects of cellular agriculture as a vehicle for but also a potential hindrance to social and ecological sustainability and justice We welcome disciplinary interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary submissions of conceptual and empirical research articles reviews and commentaries from within and beyond geography sociology economics urban studies philosophy political economy and political science We also seek work resulting from transdisciplinary collaborations that extend beyond the academy
