The David and Charles Manual of Roofing John WICKERSHAM,1994 The David and Charles Manual of Roofing John WICKERSHAM,1994 The David & Charles Manual of Roofing John H. Wickersham,1987 Roof watching Edmund W. Jupp,2003-01-01 The aim of the Watching series is to draw attention to some of the very interesting items around us things that perhaps we don t notice as much as we might The first was Bridge Watching and when this was put on the Net it produced to the surprise of the author such a pleasant flood of e mail that another was written called Water Watching This too was kindly received So it was tempting to continue with the theme Roof Watching is an invitation to look at the top covering of buildings Our eyes are set in our faces so that they look horizontally Hence in the ordinary way people mostly look straight ahead and don t look up as much as they might If they did this too much they might not see objects at ground level and so bump into things of course on the other hand there is a good deal above eye level that is worth seeing It is not only the outside of a roof that is of interest Inside they re all sorts of intriguing things If you hadn t thought much about it before you may be surprised at what goes on inside the roof space and what holds it all up So inside and outside the roof is worth some attention not only when complete but during its construction too A building site can be worth a visit at any stage of the construction It is particularly so when the roof is being built The variety of shapes textures and colours of the covering provides a fascinating display to delight the eye and enchant the enquiring mind Knowing something of the why and the how can add much to the absorbing pastime of just looking at roofs Walford's Guide to Reference Material: Science and technology Albert John Walford,Library Association,1996 Construction Materials Reference Book David Doran,1994 Investigation of Longwall Gateroad Roof Support Characteristics at Powhatan No. 4 Mine Alexander May,Bill M.
