The Devonshire Inheritance Five Centuries Of Collecting At Chatsworth:

The Devonshire Inheritance Nicolas Barker, Diana Scarisbrick, 2003 The Devonshire Inheritance, 2004 Music and Instruments of the Elizabethan Age Michael Jonathan Fleming, Michael Fleming, Christopher Page, 2021 Uses the rare depictions of musical instruments and musical sources found on the Eglantine Table to understand the musical life of the Elizabethan age and its connection to aspects of culture now treated as separate disciplines of historical study The reign of Elizabeth I 1558 1603 has often been regarded as the Golden Age of English music Many works of high quality both vocal and instrumental were composed and performed by native and immigrant musicians while balladry and minstrelsy flourished in hall street and alehouse No single source of the sixteenth century presents this rich musical culture more vividly than the inlaid surface of the Eglantine Table This astonishing piece of furniture was made in the late 1560s for the family of Elizabeth or Bess of Hardwick Countess of Shrewsbury 1527 1608 The upper surface bears a wealth of marquetry that depicts amidst the briar roses and other plants numerous Elizabethan musical instruments in exquisite detail together with open books or scrolls of music with legible notation Given that depictions of musical instruments and musical sources are rare in all artistic media of the Elizabethan period the Eglantine Table is a very important resource for understanding the musical life of the age and its connection to aspects of culture now treated separately in disciplines such as art history social and political history or the study of material culture This volume assembles a group of leading scholars in the history of instruments and associated fields to ground future research upon the most expert assessment of the depicted instruments the music and the decorative imagery that is currently attainable A final section of the book takes a broad view placing the Table and the musical components of its decoration in relation to the full range of Elizabethan musical life The Country House Library Mark Purcell, 2019-09-03 Beginning with new evidence that cites the presence of books in Roman villas and concluding with present day vicissitudes of collecting this generously illustrated book presents a complete survey of British and Irish country house libraries Replete with engaging anecdotes about owners and librarians the book features fascinating information on acquisition bordering on obsession the process of designing library architecture and the care and neglect of collections The author also disputes the notion that these libraries were merely for show arguing that many of them were profoundly scholarly assembled with meticulous care and frequently used for intellectual pursuits For those who love books and the libraries in which they are collected and stored The Country House Library is an essential volume to own Britain and the Continent 1660–1727 Christina Strunck, 2021-10-04 This monograph examines the most prestigious political paintings created in Britain during the High Baroque age It investigates a period characterized by numerous social political and religious crises in the years between the restoration of the Stuart monarchy 1660 and the death of the first British monarch from the House of Hanover 1727 On the basis of hitherto unpublished documents the book elucidates the creation and reception of nine major commissions that involved the court private aristocratic patrons and or civic institutions The ground breaking new interpretations of these works focus on strategies of conflict resolution the creation of shared cultural memories processes of cultural translation the performative context of the murals and the interaction of painted images and architectural spaces Peter Paul Rubens Anne-Marie S. Knowles, 2015-06-17 Politics and Political Culture in the Court Masque considers the interconnections of the masque and political culture It examines how masques responded to political forces and voices beyond the court and how masques explored the limits of political speech in the Jacobean and Caroline periods Palm Beach Life , 2005 Since 1906 Palm Beach Life has been the premier showcase of island living at its finest fashion interiors landscapes personality profiles society news and much more

Making Scientific Instruments in the Industrial Revolution A.D. Morrison-Low, 2017-03-02 At the start of the Industrial Revolution it appeared that most scientific instruments were made and sold in London but by the time of the Great Exhibition in 1851 a number of provincial firms had the self confidence to exhibit their products in London to an international audience How had this change come about and why This book looks at the four main and two lesser English centres known for instrument production outside the capital Birmingham Liverpool Manchester and Sheffield along with the older population centres in Bristol and York Making wide use of new sources Dr Morrison Low curator of history of science at the National Museums of Scotland charts the growth of these centres and provides a characterisation of their products New information is provided on aspects of the trade especially marketing techniques sources of materials tools and customer relationships From contemporary evidence she argues that the principal output of the provincial trade with some notable exceptions must have been into the London marketplace anonymously and at the cheaper end of the market She also discusses the structure and organization of the provincial trade and looks at the impact of new technology imported from other closely allied trades By virtue of its approach and subject matter the book considers aspects of economic and business history gender and the family the history of science and technology material culture and patterns of migration It contains a myriad of stories of families and firms of entrepreneurs and customers and of organizations and arms of government In bringing together this wide range of interests Dr Morrison Low enables us to appreciate how central the making selling and distribution of scientific instruments was for the Industrial Revolution The Book Collector , 2003
