Superfortress The Boeing B29:

B-29 Superfortress Graham M. Simons, 2012-09-19 A well written history of a history changing aircraft the bomber that carried the two atomic bombs that destroyed Hiroshima and Nagasaki in WWII Aeromilitaria The Boeing B 29 Superfortress was a four engined heavy bomber flown primarily by the United States in World War Two and the Korean War The name Superfortress was derived from that of its well known predecessor the B 17 Flying Fortress The B 29 was the progenitor of a series of Boeing built bombers reconnaissance aircraft trainers and tankers including the variant B 50 Superfortress The B 29 was one of the largest aircraft to see service during World War Two A very advanced bomber for its time it included features such as pressurized cabins an electronic fire control system and remote controlled machine gun turrets Though it was designed as a high altitude daytime bomber in practice it actually flew more low altitude nighttime incendiary bombing missions It was the primary aircraft in the American firebombing campaign against Japan in the final months of World War Two Unlike many other World War Two era bombers the B 29 remained in service long after the war ended with a few even being employed as flying television transmitters The type was finally retired in the early 1960s with 3 960 aircraft in all built Without doubt there is a clear strong requirement to put the record straight using primary source documentation to record the undoubted achievements alongside and in context with the shortcomings to the type s design and operation that have otherwise received scant attention The book covers all variants and is profusely illustrated

Superfortress Curtis E. LeMay, Bill Yenne, 2006 The Complete Story of the Design Development and Deployment of an Iconic Aircraft Among the most sophisticated aircraft flown during World War II the Boeing B 29 Superfortress was designed to replace the B 17 as the primary long range bomber of the U S Army Air Forces With its distinctive glazed nose and long thin wings that provided both speed at high altitude and stability at takeoff and landing the Superfortress was the first operational bomber with a pressurized crew cabin and featured advanced radar and avionics Armed with remote controlled machine gun turrets and a 20 000 pound bomb load it was the first USAAF bomber capable of mastering the vast distances of the Pacific Theater of World War II The prototype flew in September 1942 but a series of post production modifications delayed the bomber s first mission until April 1944 Superfortresses began attacking Japan in daylight with conventional ordnance from high altitude but their mission was redirected in March 1945 with massive low level formations dropping incendiary bombs at night on Japanese cities The ensuing firestorms followed by the complete destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki by atomic bombs dropped from two specially modified silverplate B 29s forced Japan to cease fighting Written by the man who led the B 29 into combat Superfortress The Boeing B 29 and American Airpower in World War II is an important document of one of the most turbulent times in world history General Curtis LeMay recalls the early debate about whether or not the United States needed a long range bomber how the B 29 was created and produced despite the enormous logistical difficulties of the design and the decision to conduct fire bombings against Japan and ultimately drop the atomic bomb Highly praised when it was first published this new edition is complete with photographs a new introduction and statistical tables The B-29 Superfortress Chronology, 1934-1960 Robert A. Mann, 2009-09-12 The Boeing B 29 Superfortress lived an operational life of only 26 years but what a life it was The introduction to this book provides basic information on the physical plane dimensions specs leading particulars and operational usages Then an exhaustive day by day chronology of the B 29 is presented from the earliest designs in 1934 through thousands of missions and aircraft events in World War II and Korea to the 1960 retirement of the last operational B 29 The book also includes an extensive glossary and three appendices which provide a discussion of the general anatomy of a mission a sample of operational voice or radio codes used in 1945 and a guide to very unofficial aircraft names Boeing B-29 Superfortress Peter M. Bowers, 1999 This top flight series provides a review of the world's most exciting combat aircraft Boeing B-29 Superfortress Mantelli - Brown - Kittel - Graf, 2019-02-08 New edition completely revised and updated The Boeing B 29 Superfortress will be remembered as the aircraft to have used the atomic weapon in action during the war it was in fact aircraft of this type that dropped the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki to force Japan to surrender in August 1945 The Superfortress was designed for high altitude strategic bombing but also excelled in low altitude nighttime incendiary bombing and the dropping of naval mines to blockade Japan One of the largest aircraft of World War II the B 29 was designed with cutting edge technology which included a pressurized cabin a two wheel tricycle landing gear and a computer controlled analog fire control system which allowed a gunner and a fire control officer to direct four remote machine gun turrets The design and production cost of 3 billion equivalent to 51 billion in 2024 dollars far exceeding the 1.9 billion cost of the Manhattan Project made the B 29 program the most expensive of the war The B 29 was capable of flying at altitudes of up to 9 710 metres 31 850 ft at speeds of up to 560 km h 350 mph this was its best defense because Japanese fighters could barely reach that altitude and few could catch the B 29 even if they did The most famous B 29s were the Silverplate series which were extensively modified to carry nuclear weapons Initially it was considered to use the British Lancaster as a nuclear bomber as this would require fewer modifications However the superior range and high altitude performance of the B 29 made it a much better choice and after the B 29 began to be modified in November 1943 to carry the atomic bomb the suggestion of using the Lancaster was never considered again Boeing B-29 Superfortress John M. Campbell, 1997 The famed B 29 Superfortress is presented in this all new collection of World War II and Korean War era photographs Many of the 850 photographs appear here for the first time and are identified as to unit and location John Campbell is also the author of Consolidated B 24 Liberator and Talisman A Collection of Nose Art available from Schiffer Publishing Ltd B-29 Superfortress: The Plane that Won the War Gene Gurney, 2019-09-30 B 29 Superfortress The Plane that Won the War is the definitive account of the crucial role played by the B 29 bomber during World War II Author Gene Gurney takes the reader from the superplane's inception test flights and production to its combat deployments and its ultimate purpose of dropping the atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki Superfortress Curtis E.

LeMay,Bill Yenne,1989 The Boeing B 29 Superfortress the first long range bomber of World War II is remembered in one of the most dramatic inspiring war stories of our time Here is an astonishing tribute to a revolutionary aircraft and the men and women who dreamed it built it and flew it B-29 SUPERFORTRESS ,2022 Superfortress, the Boeing B-29 Steve Birdsall,1980 Beskriver det fra 2 verdenskrig kendte amerikanske bombefly Boeing B 29 Superfortress
