Leroux,2017-10-12 Excerpt from The Phantom of the Opera I was immensely interested by this story of the Persian I wanted if there were still time to find this valuable and eccentric witness My luck began to improve and I discovered him in his little at in the Rue de Rivoli where he had lived ever since and where he died five months after my Visit I was at first inclined to be suspicious but when the Persian had told me with child like candor all that he knew about the ghost and had handed me the proofs of the ghost s existence including the strange correspond ence of Christine Daae to do as I pleased with I was no longer able to doubt No the ghost was not a myth I have I know been told that this correspondence may have been forged from first to last by a man whose imagination had certainly been fed on the most seductive tales but fortunately I discovered some of Christine s writing outside the famous bundle of let ters and on a comparison between the two all my doubts were removed I also went into the past history of the Persian and found that he was an up right man incapable of inventing a story that might have defeated the ends of justice About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Phantom of the Opera Gaston
