The Phantom Public Sphere Cultural Politics:

The Phantom Public Sphere Bruce Robbins, Social Text Collective, 1993 In the recent culture wars over canon curriculum and multiculturalism enraged voices repeatedly claim that the academy has failed in its duty to the public These cries echo older charges against the schools and the media for failing to produce active informed citizens and more recently against race and gender politics for dividing the body politic against itself The Phantom Public Sphere interrogates the concept of the public in whose name all such charges are leveled The public sphere is presented as something already lost an unrepresented absence In the heterogeneous electronically mediated society we call postmodern can we still speak meaningfully of a public sphere On the other hand can supporters of democracy afford not to speak of it In The Phantom Public Sphere voices from numerous disciplines and perspectives share a common concern with what the public means now not as an object of nostalgia but as a presence within the institutions movements and events that have redefined contemporary life including Jesse Helms censorship campaign and the televised Senate hearing that made the names of Clarence Thomas and Anita Hill household words Provocative and disturbing The Phantom Public Sphere both engages the challenge Walter Lippmann posed for democracy in 1925 when he called the public a phantom and speaks in the name of democracy and its radical possibilities

Cultural Democracy David Trend, 1997-01-01 Follows the work of a range of public intellectuals like Aronowitz Giroux hooks Mouffe and West and argues for a radical democracy capable of subverting traditional divisions of left and right

Cultural Politics and the Mass Media Patrick Daley, Beverly Ann James, 2004 Founded in 1923 it was the territory's first Native owned and operated newspaper and quickly became the voice of Native opposition to commercial fishing interests Similarly the authors detail the formation of KYUK AM in 1971 the first community radio station to program in both the English and Yup'ik languages

Modernism on Fleet Street Patrick Collier, 2016-12-05 British modernism came of age at a time of great cultural anxiety about the state of journalism The new newspapers with their brief flashy articles striking visuals hyperbolic headlines and sensational news stood at the center of debates about reading in the period seeming to threaten the viability of representative democracy the health and vitality of the language and the very future of literature itself Patrick Collier's study brings an impressive array of archival research to his exploration of modernism's relationship to the newspaper press People who sought to make their way as writers could neither remain neutral on this issue nor abandon journalism which offered an irreplaceable source of income and self advertisement Collier discusses five modern writers T S Eliot James Joyce Virginia Woolf Rebecca West and Rose Macaulay showing how their work takes part in contemporary debates about journalism and examining the role journalism played in establishing their careers In doing so he uncovers tensions and contradictions inherent in the identity of the serious artist who relied on the ephemeral forms of journalism for money and reputation

Backscheider, Timothy Dykstal, 2014-04-08 The public and private spheres are conceived to be separate and complementary useful in understanding human experience and social phenomena gendered and perhaps natural Taking the usefulness of this model as a focus these essays ask how the spheres interpenetrate

Post-Nationalist American Studies John Carlos Rowe, 2000-12-04 Post Nationalist American Studies seeks to revise the cultural nationalism and celebratory American exceptionalism that tended to dominate American Studies in the Cold War era The goal of the book s contributors is a less insular more trans national comparative approach to American Studies one that questions dominant American myths rather than canonizes them Articulating new ways to think about American Studies these essays demonstrate how diverse the field has become Contributors are concerned with cross cultural communication race and gender global and local identities and the complex tensions between symbolic and political economies Their essays explore among other topics the construction of foreign peoples and cultures the notion of borders territorial racial economic and sexual the multilingual reality of the United States the place of the Mexican American War in U S history and the significance of Tiger Woods in today s global market of consumption Together the essays propose a renewed vision of the United States role in the world and how American Studies scholarship can address that vision Each contributor includes a sample syllabus showing how the issues discussed in individual essays can be brought into the classroom

States of Emergency Patricia Rodden Zimmermann, 2000 Out at Work Kitty Krupat, Patrick McCreery, 2001-01-01

Censorship & Cultural Regulation in the Modern Age, 2016-08-29 Censorship has become a fashionable topic not only because of newly available archival material from Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union but also because the new censorship inspired by the works of Foucault and Bourdieu has widened the very concept of censorship beyond its conventional boundaries This volume uses these new materials and perspectives to address the relationship of censorship to cultural selection processes such as canon formation economic forces social exclusion professional marginalization silencing through specialized discourses communicative norms and other forms of control and regulation Two articles in this collection investigate these issues theoretically The remaining eight contributions address the issues by investigating censorial practice across time and space by looking at the closure of Paul's playhouse in 1606 the legacy of 19th century American regulations and representation of women teachers the relationship between official and samizdat publishing in Communist Poland the ban on Gegenwartsfilme films about contemporary society in East Germany in 1965/66 the censorship of modernist music in Weimar and Nazi Germany the GDR's censorship of jazz and avantgarde music in the early 1950s Aesopian strategies of textual resistance in the pop music of apartheid South Africa and in the stories of Mario Benedetti
