Timothy M. Shaw, Olajide Aluko, 1983-06-18 The Political Economy of Foreign Policy in ECOWAS Timothy M Shaw, Julius Emeka Okolo, 1994-05-13 Both political economy and foreign policy have been transformed in the sixteen states of West Africa at the start of the 1990s because of interrelated external factors end of the Cold War and start of a New International Division of Labour and internal factors national structural adjustment programmes Sixteen leading analysts of new regional relations of both cooperation and conflict offer original revisionist insights into ECOWAS and ECOMOG debt and democracy reform and resistance The mixture of case studies and comparative analyses constitutes a comprehensive overview of West African actors issues structures perspectives and possibilities at the end of the century with relevance for development discourses and directions in other peripheral regions Together these offer timely redefinitions and reconceptualisations of central notions like civil society diplomacy foreign policy peacekeeping security and self reliance for political economies and cultures throughout the South African Foreign Policies Stephen Wright, 2018-02-22 This volume of thirteen original essays provides a timely analysis of African foreign policies in a post Cold War environment where African marginalization from the global economy appears to be increasing Three thematic essays give an overview of critical changes occurring in African foreign policies and ten country by country case studies provide specific analyses of decisionmaking intraregional relations and the struggles over policy with external agencies including the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund African Foreign Policies offers explanations for how African states are adapting to the international challenges of the late twentieth century Globalization and Emerging Trends in African States' Foreign Policy-Making Process Rok Ajulu, 2020-09-10 This title was first published in 2002 The resurgence of the democratization movement in Africa in the post Cold War era is gradually replacing authoritarianism with forms of democratic systems These changes have put into question the traditional big man image of African states foreign policy and foreign policy making The first book of its kind to focus on the foreign policy making process of Southern African countries in the era of globalization these instructive and rewarding case studies contextualize the increasing involvement of other internal actors in African states foreign policy making process Foreign policy actors such as the Presidency Ministries of Defence Foreign Affairs Trade Finance and the Intelligence Community among others are examined in a comparative perspective International Relations in Contemporary Africa Michael O. Anda, 2000 Although developing countries far outnumber fully industrialized states they are often neglected in the study of international relations especially with respect to the development of foreign policy theory International Relations in Contemporary Africa attempts to fill this void in the literature on comparative international relations while at the same time providing a detailed analysis of the economic development and integration of West African countries Michael Anda specifically focuses on the members of the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and their policies which encourage coordination on issues ranging from science and technology to diplomacy and mutual defense Tracing the diplomatic history of West Africa from independence to the present he assesses the various dimensions of cooperation among the smaller and less developed states of West Africa while revealing the precarious nature of the economy and security in the region Both detailed and comprehensive International Relations in Contemporary Africa represents a significant contribution to African studies that appeal to those with an interest in the foreign policy of smaller states
