The Politics Of Belgium Crisis Compromise In A Plural Society:

The Politics of Belgium John Fitzmaurice, 1983 Politics of Belgium John Fitzmaurice, 1983-01-01 Conflict and Compromise in Multilingual Societies Kenneth Douglas McRae, 1983 The author of an authoritative work on this topic in Swiss society now draws a comprehensive picture of Belgium's linguistic demarcations. Firmly rooting the discussion in an historical background, the author discusses group images and attitudes and the constitutional and institutional framework for multilingualism that exists in Belgium. Yet as the title of the series would suggest, conflicts do lead to compromises and the study concludes with a penetrating look at contemporary problems in Belgium, problems stemming from the very richness of multilingual culture. This analysis of Belgium is concerned not only with conflict between language groups as such but with evolving relationships between language diversity and economic development, language diversity and distributional fairness, language cleavage and other societal cleavages and the implication of language diversity for democratic politics. The Politics of Multinational States Don MacIver, 2016-07-27 The events of recent years have demonstrated beyond doubt not only that ethnic pluralism presents major problems for the management of political systems but that it is also a major cause of their failure and disintegration. This timely and topical book discusses the general issue of ethnic pluralism and considers a range of types of multi-ethnic society within a common analytical framework. It then examines the responses of governments to the problems of ethnic diversity and assesses the effects of ethnic conflict on the development and viability of states.

The Politics of Ethnic Conflict Regulation John McGarry, Brendan O'Leary, 2013-06-17 This major and timely collection addresses one of the world's most visible and tragic problems: ethnic conflict and its regulation. It begins with a guide to the primary methods used to eliminate or manage ethnic conflict and is followed by a global sample of case studies written by leading authorities in their fields. The Global Age Ian Kershaw, 2019-04-30 The final chapter in the Penguin History of Europe series from the acclaimed scholar and author of To Hell and Back. After the overwhelming horrors of the first half of the twentieth century described by Ian Kershaw in his previous book as being to Hell and back, the years from 1950 to 2017 brought peace and relative prosperity to most of Europe. Enormous economic improvements transformed the continent. The catastrophic era of the world wars receded into an ever more distant past, though its long shadow continued to shape mentalities. Yet Europe was now a divided continent living under the nuclear threat in a period intermittently fraught with anxiety. There were, by most definitions, striking successes: the Soviet bloc melted away, dictatorships vanished and Germany was successfully reunited. But accelerating globalization brought new fragilities. The interlocking crises after 2008 were the clearest warnings to Europeans that there was no guarantee of peace and stability and even today the continent threatens further fracturing. In this remarkable book, Ian Kershaw has created a grand panorama of the world we live in and where it came from. Drawing on examples from all across Europe, The Global Age is an endlessly fascinating portrait of the recent past and present and a cautious look into our future. Terrorism in Western Europe Jan Oskar

Engene,2004-01-01 This important book examines why terrorism prevails in the otherwise stable and advanced democracies of Western Europe and why some countries have been more severely hit than others The author maps the trends in internal terrorism in 18 Western European countries since 1950 and explains those trends both from a theoretical and empirical perspective He uses a unique data set called TWEED which covers around 9000 terrorist attacks and records the activities of about 200 terrorist groups over the post war period Offering a historical and comparative approach to terrorism unlike the more usual focus on contemporary threats and developments this book will appeal to political and social scientists and students especially those working in comparative politics or on the causes of conflict Academics interested in European studies and more specifically the conditions and developments of European democracy and policymakers concerned with the development of the terrorist threat in Europe will also find the book of great interest The Netherlandic Presence in Ontario Frans J. Schryer,2006-01-01 Schryer s central argument is that ethnic groups are as much modern myths as they are integral components of a socially constructed reality Focusing on the large cohort of immigrants from the Netherlands and the former Dutch East Indies who arrived in Canada between 1947 and 1960 Schryer shows how the Dutch despite a loss of ethnic identity and a high level of linguistic assimilation replicated many aspects of their homeland While illustrating and illuminating the diversity among immigrants sharing a common national origin Schryer keeps sight of what is common among them In doing so he shows how deeply ingrained habits were modified in a Canadian context resulting in both continuities and discontinuities The result is a variegated image reflecting a multidimensional reality Stateless Nations J.

Friend,2012-05-15 Why are regional nationalisms threatening the old nations This book explores examples such as why Scotland might become independent why Wales wants more autonomy and why Catalonia emphasizes its distinctive language and institutions but does not want separation from Spain Stateless Nations explores the historical roots of modern nationalisms Urban Regimes and Strategies A. G. Papadopoulos,1996-11-15 If a city based its planning decisions on the needs of an international bureaucracy rather than on the traditional needs of local residents and businesses how would that city change Alex G Papadopoulos addresses this question with a detailed study of how the nineteenth century quarters of Leopold and Nord Est in Brussels have been transformed materially and functionally since the European Communities decided to locate their administrative headquarters there in 1957 Drawing on game and rational choice theories spatial analysis and urban morphology studies Papadopoulos analyzes how the landscape of Brussels s center has evolved over the last three decades under the influence of successive coalitions of local and foreign elites He describes how international real estate developers form ephemeral flexible and specialized regimes of cooperation with governmental organizations at all levels and with special interest lobbies to carry out major urban projects while local neighborhood groups conservationists and political factions such as the Green Party oppose them with qualitatively similar regimes of resistance
