

A person is standing on a bridge over a lake at sunset. The sky is filled with soft, pinkish clouds, and the sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm glow. The mountains in the background are silhouetted against the sky, and their reflection is visible in the calm water. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.

widely regarded as the best treatment of the subject in any language Kierkegaard's Concept of Despair is also one of the few works on Kierkegaard that bridge the gap between the Continental and analytic traditions in philosophy Theunissen argues that for Kierkegaard the fundamental characteristic of despair is the desire of the self not to be what it is He sorts through the apparently chaotic text of The Sickness unto Death to explain what Kierkegaard meant by the self how and why individuals want to flee their selves and how he believed they could reconnect with their selves According to Theunissen Kierkegaard thought that individuals in despair seek to deny their authentic selves to flee particular aspects of their character their past or the world or in order to deny their mission In addition to articulating and evaluating Kierkegaard's concept of despair Theunissen relates Kierkegaard's ideas to those of Heidegger Sartre and other twentieth century philosophers
