The Poets Madness A Reading Of Georg Trakl:

The Poet's Madness Francis Michael Sharp, 1981 Georg Trakl's Poetry Richard Detsch, 1991-01-18 The chaotic mixture of elements in Trakl's poems is more apparent than real this book argues thus challenging the Orphic view of Walther Killy and his followers A dream of unity one of the most ancient dreams in human history is in fact reflected in all of Trakl's work The recurring themes in Trakl's poetry are brought into focus through Dr Detsch's literary psychological and philosophical analysis the union of male and female in incest from the Jungian standpoint the union of life and death from the Heideggerian standpoint and that of German Romanticism as represented by Novalis the union of good and evil from the Dostoyevskian or Nietzschean standpoint the mixture of images from the Goethean definition of symbolism Trakl 1887-1914 is presented as a poet whose lyric voice sounded a cry of hope in its deepest despair As Dr Detsch's generous quotations from the poet's work in the original German make clear Georg Trakl sought poetic expression for a union of opposites Love Words Mariann Regan, 2011-05-15 The Poet's Madness Francis Michael Sharp, 1981 Madness and Death in Philosophy Ferit Guven, 2012-02-01 Ferit Guven illuminates the historically constitutive roles of madness and death in philosophy by examining them in the light of contemporary discussions of the intersection of power and knowledge and ethical relations with the other Historically as Guven shows philosophical treatments of madness and death have limited or subdued their disruptive quality Madness and death are linked to the question of how to conceptualize the unthinkable but Guven illustrates how this conceptualization results in a reduction to positivity of the very radical negativity these moments represent Tracing this problematic through Plato Hegel Heidegger and finally in the debate on madness between Foucault and Derrida Guven gestures toward a nonreducible disruptive form of negativity articulated in Heidegger's critique of Hegel and Foucault's engagement with Derrida that might allow for the preservation of real otherness and open the possibility of a true ethics of difference Sexuality and the Sense of Self in the Works of Georg Trakl and Robert Musil Andrew Webber, 1990 Complex Pleasure Stanley Corngold, 1998 Complex Pleasure deals with questions of literary feeling in eight major German writers Lessing Kant Holderlin Nietzsche Musil Kafka Trakl and Benjamin On the basis of close readings of these authors Stanley Corngold makes vivid the following ideas that where there is literature there is complex pleasure that this pleasure is complex because it involves the impression of a disclosure that this thought is foremost in the minds of a number of canonical writers that important literary works in the German tradition fiction poetry critique can be illuminated through their treatment of literary feeling and finally that the conceptual terms for these forms of feeling continually vary The types of feeling treated in Complex Pleasure include with the startling perception of likeness and the disinterested pleasure of aesthetic judgment Holderlin's swift conceptual grasp in which the tempo of the process of thought is stressed artistic imagination mood sadistic enjoyment rapturous distraction homonymic dissonance and courage as a mode of literary experience At the same time through the deftness range and surprise of its execution the book itself conveys complex
