The Poisoned Life Of Mrs Maybrick:

The Poisoned Life of Mrs. Maybrick Bernard Ryan, 2000-03-01 If you were intrigued by the purported diary of Jack the Ripper or other books that have convinced experts that the notorious murderer was a Liverpool cotton broker named James Maybrick read this true crime biography of Maybrick's wife In 1889 in one of the great trials of history that produced major changes in English jurisprudence she was tried convicted and sentenced to be hanged for Maybrick's murder This book takes you from the shipboard meeting of the 18 year old American girl and the 42 year old Englishman in 1881 to her death in 1941 as a lonely derelict whose past was unknown You get details of the reprehensible treatment of Mrs Maybrick by her husband's family You learn what happened when she weekended in London with Maybrick's handsome associate You watch as Maybrick succumbs to an arsenic diet You discover why the press found her guilty before the trial yet England's leading barrister proved her not guilty in the public mind despite a hanging judge and jury You learn the details of the uproar that followed the last minute before hanging commutation to imprisonment the 15 year trans Atlantic effort to get her released her return to America and acclamation and her years as the cat woman in a tiny cabin in rural Connecticut The Poisoned Life of Mrs. Maybrick Bernard Ryan, Sir Michael Havers, 1977 The Poisoned Life of Mrs. Maybrick Bernard Ryan, Jr., Bernard Ryan, New England Publishing Associates Inc, 2000-03-24 A Poisoned Life Richard Jay Hutto, 2018-05-27 Florence Maybrick was the first American woman to be sentenced to death in England for murdering her husband a crime she almost certainly did not commit Her 1889 trial was presided over by an openly misogynist judge who was later declared incompetent and died in an asylum Hours before Maybrick was to be hanged Queen Victoria reluctantly commuted her sentence to life in prison in her opinion a woman who would commit adultery as Maybrick had admitted would also kill her husband Her children were taken from her she never saw them again Her mother worked for years to clear her name enlisting the president of the United States and successive ambassadors including Robert Todd Lincoln Decades later a gruesome diary was discovered that made Maybrick's husband a prime Jack the Ripper suspect Disreputable Pleasures Mike Huggins, J. A. Mangan, 2004 Challenging the respectable image of Victorian society this irreverent revisionist collection explores the sinful side of middle class Victorian leisure highlighting the problematic relationship between public respectability and private pleasure Women, Crime and Justice in England since 1660 Shani D'Cruze, Louise A.

Jackson, 2009-06-30 Shani D Cruze and Louise A Jackson provide students with a lively overview of women's relationship to the criminal justice system in England exploring key debates in the regulation of respectable and deviant femininities over the last 4 centuries Major issues include Attitudes towards murder and infanticide Prostitution The decline of witchcraft belief Sexual violence The girl delinquent Theft and fraud The volume also examines women's participation in illegal forms of protest and political activism their experience of penal regimes as well as strategies of resistance and their involvement in occupations associated with criminal justice itself Assuming that men and women cannot be studied in isolation D Cruze and

Jackson make reference to recent studies of masculinity and comment on the ways in which relations between men and women have been understood and negotiated across time Featuring examples drawn from a rich range of sources such as court records autobiographies literature and film this is an ideal introduction to an increasingly popular area of study
