A Study of the Circulation of Ceramics in Cyprus from the 3rd Century BC to the 3rd Century AD John Lund, 2015-10-26 This is the first monograph devoted solely to the ceramics of Cyprus in the Hellenistic and Roman Periods The island was by then no longer divided into kingdoms but unified politically first under Ptolemaic Egypt and later as a province in the Roman Empire Submission to foreign rule was previously thought to have diluted if not obliterated the time honoured distinctive Cypriot character The ceramic evidence suggests otherwise The distribution of local and imported pottery in Cyprus points to the existence of several regional exchange networks a division that also seems reflected by other evidence The similarities in material culture exchange patterns and preferential practices are suggestive of a certain level of regional collective self awareness From the 1st century BC onwards Cyprus became increasingly engulfed by mass produced and standardized ceramic fine wares which seem ultimately to have put many of the indigenous makers of similar products out of business or forced them to modify their output Also the ceramic record gradually became less diverse during the Roman Period than before developments which we today might be inclined to view as symptoms of an early form of globalisation

Insularity and identity in the Roman Mediterranean Anna Kouremenos, 2017-12-31 Insularity the state or condition of being an island has played a key role in shaping the identities of populations inhabiting islands of the Mediterranean As entities surrounded by water and usually possessing different landscapes and ecosystems from those of the mainland islands allow for the potential to study both the land and the sea Archaeologically they have the potential to reveal distinct identities shaped by such forces as invasion imperialism colonialism and connectivity The theme of insularity and identity in the Roman period has not been the subject of a book length study but has been prevalent in scholarship dealing with the prehistoric periods The papers in this book explore the concepts of insularity and identity in the Roman period by addressing some of the following questions what does it mean to be an island How has insularity shaped ethnic cultural and social identity in the Mediterranean during the Roman period How were islands connected to the mainland and other islands Did insularity produce isolation or did the populations of Mediterranean islands integrate easily into a common Roman culture How has maritime interaction shaped the economy and culture of specific islands Can we argue for distinct island identities during the Roman period The twelve papers presented here each deal with specific islands or island groups thus allowing for an integrated view of Mediterranean

BUILDINGS IN CYPRUS Henryk Meyza, 2020-01-01 Decoration of Hellenistic and Roman Buildings in Cyprus consists of 22 chapters and communications relevant to architectural details, mosaics, wall painting and sculpture both in Cyprus and neighbouring culturally related areas. It provides an overview of melting influences of Greek, Roman, Egyptian, including Alexandrian and oriental origin. Research on aspects of decoration in Nea Paphos is the principal theme. Archaeological excavations of Australian, Cypriot, French, Italian and Polish teams as well as salvage works and haphazard finds on the site uncovered decorated objects demanding study. Comparisons are made to Kourion and Soli in Cyprus, Alexandria and Aegyptum, Delos, Dura Europos and Ptolemais in Cyrenaica. Thesis of a structural koine uniting Cyprus and African coast, particularly Cyrenaica, is advocated. Both areas were ruled by Ptolemies and Roman conquest did not obliterate Hellenistic common background. Most of the contributions are based on updated and modified presentations read during a conference held in Warsaw on 10-11 March 2017. The Classical Review, 1992. Living Ruins, Value Conflicts Argyro Loukaki, 2008. Using monuments and ruins by way of illustration, this fascinating book examines the symbolic, ideological, geographical and aesthetic importance of Greek classical iconography for the Western world. It shows the ways in which archaeology and monumentality affect modern life, our notions of nationhood, of place of self and the limits and possibilities imposed by the need to ensure ruins are kept alive. Medelhavsmuseet, 2009.
