Ten Theories Of Human Nature:

Ten Theories of Human Nature Leslie Stevenson, David L. Haberman, 1998 A superb introduction to the timeless struggle to understand human nature this book compresses into a small volume the essence of such thinkers as Karl Marx Sigmund Freud Jean Paul Sartre B F Skinner and Plato Ten Theories Of Human Nature, 4E Leslie Stevenson; David L. Haberman, 2006-10-27 Ten Theories of Human Nature Leslie Stevenson, David L. Haberman, 1998 A superb introduction to the timeless struggle to understand human nature this book compresses into a small volume the essence of such thinkers as Karl Marx Sigmund Freud Jean Paul Sartre B F Skinner and Plato Ten Theories of Human Nature Leslie Forster Stevenson, David L. Haberman, 2009 Over four previous editions Ten Theories of Human Nature has been a remarkably popular introduction to some of the most influential developments in Western and Eastern thought This fifth edition features a new chapter on Buddhism and a completely revised and reorganized chapter on Darwinian theories Lucid and accessible Ten Theories of Human Nature Fifth Edition compresses into a small space the essence of such ancient traditions as Confucianism Hinduism Buddhism and the Old and New Testaments as well as the theories of Plato Aristotle Immanuel Kant Karl Marx and Jean Paul Sartre The authors juxtapose the ideas of these and other thinkers and traditions in a way that helps readers understand how humanity has struggled to comprehend its nature To encourage readers to think critically for themselves and to underscore the similarities and differences between the many theories the book examines each one on four points the nature of the universe the nature of humanity the diagnosis of the ills of humanity and the proposed cure for these problems Ideal for introductory courses in human nature philosophy religious studies and intellectual history Ten Theories of Human Nature Fifth Edition will engage and motivate students and other readers to consider how we can understand and improve both ourselves and human society Ten Theories of Human Nature Stevenson & Haberman, Thirteen Theories of Human Nature Leslie Stevenson, 2017-05-15 Thirteen Theories of Human Nature Leslie Forster Stevenson, 2017 What Is a Person? Christian Smith, 2010-09-15 What is a person This fundamental question is a perennial concern of philosophers and theologians But Christian Smith here argues it also lies at the center of the social scientist's quest to interpret and explain social life In this ambitious book Smith presents a new model for social theory that does justice to the best of our humanistic visions of people life and society Finding much current thinking on personhood to be confusing or misleading Smith finds inspiration in critical realism and personalism Drawing on these ideas he constructs a theory of personhood that forges a middle path between the extremes of positivist science and relativism Smith then builds on the work of Pierre Bourdieu Anthony Giddens and William Sewell to demonstrate the importance of personhood to our understanding of social structures From there he broadens his scope to consider how we can know what is good in personal and social life and what sociology can tell us about human rights and dignity Innovative critical and constructive What Is a Person offers an inspiring vision of a social science committed to pursuing causal explanations interpretive understanding and general knowledge in the service of truth and the moral good Emotional Amoral Egoism Nayef R.F. Al-Rodhan,2022-01-01 What makes us who we are Are we born good or evil Do we have free will What drives our behaviour and why Can technology change what it means to be human In this thoroughly revised second edition of Emotional Amoral Egoism Professor Nayef Al Rodhan demonstrates the impact of our innate predispositions on key issues from conflict inequality and transcultural understanding to Big Data fake news and the social contract However it is the societies we live in and their governance structures that largely determine how we act on our innate predispositions Consequently Al Rodhan proposes a new and sustainable good governance paradigm which must reconcile the ever present tension between the three attributes of human nature Emotional Amoral Egoism and the nine critical needs of human dignity This book is a perfect resource for enlightened readers academics and policy makers interested in how our innate instincts and tendencies shape the world we live in and how the interplay between neurophilosophy and policy can be harnessed for pragmatic and sustainable peace security and prosperity solutions for all at all times and under all circumstances Christian Identity International Reformed Theological Institute. International Conference,2008 The volume offers contributions reflecting the understanding of Christian identity in the midst of changing cultural socio economic political and religious context in a globalized world Sustainable History and Human Dignity Nayef R.F. Al-Rodhan,2022-01-01 In Sustainable History and Human Dignity Professor Nayef Al Rodhan shows that it is the human quest for sustainable governance balancing the ever present tension between nine human dignity needs and three human nature attributes emotionality amorality egoism that has and will most profoundly shape the course of history Beginning with an Ocean Model of a single collective human civilisation Al Rodhan constructs a common human story comprised of multiple geo cultural domains and sub cultures with a history of mutual borrowing and synergies If humanity as a whole is to flourish all of these diverse geo cultural domains must succeed Only thus can lasting peace and prosperity be achieved for all especially in the face of Civilisational Frontier Risks and highly disruptive technologies in the twenty first century Humanity Ken Bazyn,2019-01-16 How can one do justice to the heights and depths of the human condition its mind boggling accomplishments its horrid corruptions Christian tradition in its wisdom has acknowledged both extremes We are fallible amphibians composed of matter and spirit yet capable of intense communication with God Bazyn poetically expands on and dissects the conundrums Frustrations dog our every step and cravings overthrow us repeatedly Why are we so prone to duplicity to prejudice What causes us to explode in anger retreat into superficiality see only the short term Why do we mistreat and ridicule others e g the poor minorities women Free will itself can create saints or antiheroes Rich in vocabulary dense in allusions far ranging in insight at times aphoristic in style these poems are the outpourings of anguished authenticity What message is our town bell pealing today Why are there flaws beneath the smoothest of surfaces How is it that we so often follow a zigzag course If revelation comes it may blind us or shine but a dim shadowy half light Bazyn s spontaneous undoctored black and white images clarify and add nuance to each

Contemplating God with the Great Tradition Craig A. Carter, 2021-04-20 Southwestern Journal of Theology 2021 Book of the Year Award Theological Studies 2021 Book Award The Gospel Coalition Honorable Mention Academic Theology Following his well received Interpreting Scripture with the Great Tradition Craig Carter presents the biblical and theological foundations of trinitarian classical theism Carter a leading Christian theologian known for his provocative defenses of classical approaches to doctrine critiques the recent trend toward modifying or rejecting classical theism in favor of modern relational understandings of God The book includes a short history of trinitarian theology from its patristic origins to the modern period and a concluding appendix provides a brief summary of classical trinitarian theology Foreword by Carl R Trueman

Adapting Minds David J. Buller, 2006-02-17 Was human nature designed by natural selection in the Pleistocene epoch The dominant view in evolutionary psychology holds that it was that our psychological adaptations were designed tens of thousands of years ago to solve problems faced by our hunter gatherer ancestors In this provocative and lively book David Buller examines in detail the major claims of evolutionary psychology the paradigm popularized by Steven Pinker in The Blank Slate and by David Buss in The Evolution of Desire and rejects them all This does not mean that we cannot apply evolutionary theory to human psychology says Buller but that the conventional wisdom in evolutionary psychology is misguided Evolutionary psychology employs a kind of reverse engineering to explain the evolved design of the mind figuring out the adaptive problems our ancestors faced and then inferring the psychological adaptations that evolved to solve them In the carefully argued central chapters of Adapting Minds Buller scrutinizes several of evolutionary psychology's most highly publicized discoveries including discriminative parental solicitude the idea that stepparents abuse their stepchildren at a higher rate than genetic parents abuse their biological children Drawing on a wide range of empirical research including his own large scale study of child abuse he shows that none is actually supported by the evidence Buller argues that our minds are not adapted to the Pleistocene but like the immune system are continually adapting over both evolutionary time and individual lifetimes We must move beyond the reigning orthodoxy of evolutionary psychology to reach an accurate understanding of how human psychology is influenced by evolution When we do Buller claims we will abandon not only the quest for human nature but the very idea of human nature itself

Theological Anthropology: A Guide for the Perplexed Marc Cortez, 2010-01-21 What does it mean to be human and to be made in the image of God What does it mean to be a person What constitutes a human person What does it mean to affirm that humans are free beings And what is gender Marc Cortez guides the reader through the most challenging issues that face anyone attempting to deal with the subject of theological anthropology Consequently it addresses complexities surrounding such questions as Each chapter explains first both why the question under consideration is important for theological anthropology and why it is also a contentious issue within the field After this each chapter surveys and concisely explains the main options that have been generated for resolving that particular question Finally the author presents to the reader one way of working through the complexity These closing sections are presented as case studies in how to work through the problems and arrive at a conclusion than as definitive answers Nonetheless they offer a convincing way of answering the questions raised by each chapter

Who Do I Say That You Are? William Schumacher, 2010-01-04 The question of what it means to be a human creature lies at the heart of contemporary wrestling with anthropology and especially anthropology from a theological perspective Through both historical and systematic engagement with the so called Finnish school of Tuomo Mannermaa this study explores and assesses the anthropological dimension of their theology of theosis or deification Mannermaa initiated a minor revolution in Luther studies and in contemporary Lutheran theology by interpreting Luther's doctrine of justification to be a close analog to the Eastern Orthodox doctrine of theosis but his ecumenical interests led him to minimize or overlook key themes in Luther and sharp distinctions between Luther and Orthodox theologians Mannermaa's colleague Simo Peura then developed this thesis with specific reference to anthropology in a way reminiscent of the sixteenth century reformer Andreas Osiander On closer inspection the project of Mannermaa and his Finnish colleagues fails to understand adequately both Luther's sources and his own theological development In this study a theological anthropology which is more consistent with Luther's theology is developed an anthropology which is determined by God's address to his human creatures what God himself says we are and what he makes us by that word Such an answer to the anthropological question refuses to flee from creation but instead upholds the complex and paradoxical nature of human beings as creatures sinners and saints What it means to be human has become the major topic in theology philosophy and the social sciences in our time On the basis of Luther's understanding this study proposes a view of humanity in which God's word determines what human identity and human existence are The Creator's address to his creatures makes their existence possible and frees them to be human and nothing less Schumacher's proposal will command careful study and discussion throughout the world Robert A Kolb Concordia Seminary Saint Louis Missouri Schumacher provides the most comprehensive appraisal of the Finns to date He shows that Luther's is not an alternative view of divination to that of medieval theologians but a subversion of it No ontic category is as real or definitive of the sinful human as God's justifying word It is that word alone which imparts grace and new life Schumacher's work is required reading for any scholar of Reformation studies who wants to understand Luther on his own terms Mark C Mattes Grand View University Des Moines Iowa

Death and Finitude Sami Pihlström, 2016-09-21 Death and Finitude offers an examination and defense of a pragmatic transcendental anthropology applicable to the concepts of limit finitude and mortality that are constitutive of human life as we know it Sami Pihlström develops a special kind of philosophical anthropology a pragmatic yet transcendental examination of the human condition that interprets what is worth preserving in the tradition of transcendental philosophy in such a manner that this unusual combination will crucially enrich our understanding of a human problem we all share mortality In some sense all serious philosophy inevitably reflects on the human condition and is thus philosophical anthropology broadly conceived There can hardly be any more serious problem concerning the human condition than the problem of death Yet mainstream analytic contributions to the philosophy of death usually addresses death in general and it is far from obvious that such contributions are philosophically relevant in the sense of addressing the agony of an individual human being trying to understand their own mortal condition Continental philosophy of death may be frustrating in a different sense as it often fails to be conceptually as clear and argumentatively as rigorous as the analytic literature Claiming to address my being toward death such contributions may also fail to speak to the mortal individual if they end up in endless pseudo philosophical jargon It is against this background of frustration that Death and Finitude contributes to humanity's ongoing reflections on death dying and mortality from a pragmatist yet transcendental perspective seeking to accommodate these topics within a broader philosophical anthropology The book is primarily intended for academic philosophers but the potential readership includes not only scholars but also both graduate students and advanced undergraduates as well as general educated readers It is relevant to the concerns of philosophers specializing in transcendental philosophy philosophical anthropology pragmatism Wittgenstein and the philosophy of religion As the book may be said to be an attempt to philosophize historically it is in principle of interest to both systematically and historically oriented philosophers and students
