The Foreign Policies Of African States:

African Foreign Policies Gilbert M. Khadiagala, Terrence Lyons, 2001 This treatment of the relationship between domestic and international politics analyzes efforts by African states to manage their external relations amid shifts in the internal regional and global environments The study traverses the continent identifying patterns of change examining constraints and giving attention to the processes that influence policy outcomes Contributors include scholars of political science international relations African studies and conflict analysis c Book News Inc

The Foreign Policies of African States Olajide Aluko, 1977 African Foreign Policies Stephen Wright, 2018-02-22 This volume of thirteen original essays provides a timely analysis of African foreign policies in a post Cold War environment where African marginalization from the global economy appears to be increasing Three thematic essays give an overview of critical changes occurring in African foreign policies and ten country by country case studies provide specific analyses of decisionmaking intraregional relations and the struggles over policy with external agencies including the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund African Foreign Policies offers explanations for how African states are adapting to the international challenges of the late twentieth century

The United States, South Africa and Africa Brian J. Hesse, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 Grand aims refers to the overarching tenets and doctrines that prevailed in US and South African foreign policies towards Africa This study argues that when modest means were imposed upon American and South African foreign policy makers they were often forced to devise new grand aims Few in depth resources exist with regard to United States and or South African foreign policies towards Africa Those that do are overwhelmingly pre or early 1990s in focus This analysis encompasses the years 1990 to mid 1998 and is intended to be relevant to a broad readership including academics students Africanists historians political scientists regional specialists and policy makers in the public and private sectors on both sides of the Atlantic

The Foreign Policies of East African States Jude Kagoro, Julian Friesinger, Klaus Schlichte, 2024-11-26 This book analyses the foreign policies of African countries specifically in the region of East Africa It reveals the regional dynamics and the way in which the international system interacts with these policies and how they are driven by domestic politics versus national visions and vice versa As such it provides fine grained and historically informed analyses of the international relations of these states arguing that foreign policy is always informed by domestic processes and the relations between states and changes within the international system impact on the formulation of domestic politics via foreign policy Finally the book argues that East Africa s foreign policy is not one of militarised action alone but rather a m lange of self survival strategies stemming from the desire to close the gap with more industrialised states necessitating a variety of trade and diplomatic efforts This book is of key interest to scholars and students of African politics Foreign Policy Foreign Policy Analysis International Organisations and more broadly to comparative politics and international relations African Foreign Policies in International Institutions Jason Warner, Timothy M. Shaw, 2018-05-18 This book is the first to exclusively consider the foreign policy tendencies of African states in international institutions As an edited volume offering empirically based perspectives from a variety of scholars this project disabuses the notion that Africa should be considered a niche interest in the field of foreign policy analysis It asserts that the actions of the continent's states collectively serve as an important heuristic by which to interrogate and understand the foreign policies of other global states and are not simply anomalously extant entities whose actions should be studied only insofar as they deviate from predictions based on the experiences of Western or other non African states

The Foreign Policies of African States in the 21st Century: Challenges and Opportunities David Bongwele, 2021-08-03 In the last sixty years many African States have been active participants in global affairs and made invaluable contributions to the search of collective solutions to the multiple challenges facing the world However in an increasingly complex and fragmented international system it is vital for African States to regularly reevaluate their foreign policies to better advance their national interests while at the same time helping shape the global agenda The strengthening of the foreign policies of African States starts at home with the improvement of the domestic governance systems The foreign policies of African States in the 21st Century posits that in the digital era and an increasingly competitive challenging and complex global system many African States should consider regularly reevaluating their foreign policies and striving to make them more efficient and results oriented Furthermore the diversification of tools of foreign policy and the use of soft power should be part and parcel of strategies by African States to perfect how they interact and engage beyond their borders This is a prerequisite for African States to be able to advance their individual and collective interests while in tandem helping pursue the achievement of the pertinent regional and global agendas through bilateral cooperation regionalism and multilateralism on issues of common interest for Africa and the world The challenges that most African States face in the area of foreign policy either individually or collectively are manifold However these challenges are also opportunities for African States to enhance their foreign policies Speaking during a discussion panel on the theme Is digital diplomacy a future alternative on 4 May 2021 Ambassador Youssef Amrani who is the Ambassador of Morocco to South Africa argued that COVID 19 has been a major paradigm shift for diplomats and the practice of diplomacy in a post pandemic world with new unprecedented challenges 1 He explained that the COVID 19 pandemic has ushered in a new global reality in which everybody including diplomats have to adapt Furthermore he stressed the need for diplomats to adapt update some of their tools during and after the pandemic Ambassador Amrani noted that digital diplomacy must not be an instrument that favors the moment over the future We must use digital diplomacy but with control and caution Otherwise we risk losing relevance in trying to get efficiency 2 The purpose of this book is to assess the current state of play challenges achievements and prospects of the foreign policies of African States and how the foreign policies of African States could become more efficient This book will answer the following questions What is the foreign policy of a State How is a foreign policy defined and achieved Why is foreign policy important When is foreign policy considered to be successful What are the tools of foreign policy What is the state of play of the foreign policies of African States What are the challenges that they face in this area What have been the achievements of the foreign policies of African States How have these policies contributed to promoting development peace and prosperity and enabled the African States to partake in global affairs and efficiently advance their interests How can the foreign policies of African States become more effective 1 <https://www.moroccoworldnews.com/2021/05/341568-moroccan-ambassador-diplomacy-needs-to-adapt-to-post-covid-19-world/> 2 <https://www.moroccoworldnews.com/2021/05/341568-moroccan-ambassador-diplomacy-needs-to-adapt-to-post-covid-19-world/>
