The Fort Ancient Earthworks Prehistoric Lifeways Of The Hopewell Culture In Southwestern Ohio:

The Fort Ancient Earthworks Robert Patrick Connolly, Bradley Thomas Lepper, 2004 Hopewell Ceremonial

Landscapes of Ohio Mark Lynott, 2015-02-05 Nearly 2000 years ago people living in the river valleys of southern Ohio built earthen monuments on a scale that is unmatched in the archaeological record for small scale societies The period from c 200 BC to c AD 500 Early to Middle Woodland witnessed the construction of mounds earthen walls ditches borrow pits and other earthen and stone features covering dozen of hectares at many sites and hundreds of hectares at some The development of the vast Hopewell Culture geometric earthwork complexes such as those at Mound City Chillicothe Hopewell and the Newark earthworks was accompanied by the establishment of wide ranging cultural contacts reflected in the movement of exotic and strikingly beautiful artefacts such as elaborate tobacco pipes obsidian and chert arrowheads copper axes and regalia animal figurines and delicately carved sheets of mica These phenomena coupled with complex burial rituals indicate the emergence of a political economy based on a powerful ideology of individual power and prestige and the creation of a vast cultural landscape within which the monument complexes were central to a ritual cycle encompassing a substantial geographical area The labour needed to build these vast cultural landscapes exceeds population estimates for the region and suggests that people from near and possibly far travelled to the Scioto and other river valleys to help with construction of these monumental earthen complexes Here Mark Lynott draws on more than a decade of research and extensive new datasets to re examine the spectacular and massive scale Ohio Hopewell landscapes and to explore the society that created them

Reclaiming the Hopewellian Ceremonial Sphere A. Martin Byers, 2015-11-24 Multiple Hopewellian monumental earthwork sites displaying timber features mortuary deposits and unique artifacts are found widely distributed across the North American Eastern Woodlands from the lower Mississippi Valley north to the Great Lakes These sites dating from 200 b c to a d 500 almost define the Middle Woodland period of the Eastern Woodlands Joseph Caldwell treated these sites as defining what he termed the Hopewell Interaction Sphere which he conceptualized as mediating a set of interacting mortuary funerary cults linking many different local ethnic communities In this new book A Martin Byers refines Caldwell s work coining the term Hopewell Ceremonial Sphere to more precisely characterize this transregional sphere as manifesting multiple autonomous cult sodalities of local communities affiliated into escalating levels of autonomous cult sodality heterarchies It is these cult sodality heterarchies regionally and transregionally interacting and not their autonomous communities to which the sodalities also belonged that were responsible for the Hopewellian assemblage and the heterarchies took themselves to be performing not funerary but world renewal ritual ceremonialism mediated by the deceased of their many autonomous Middle Woodland communities Paired with the cult sodality heterarchy model Byers proposes and develops the complementary heterarchical community model This model postulates a type of community that made the formation of the cult sodality heterarchy possible But Byers insists it was the sodality heterarchies and not the complementary heterarchical communities that generated the Hopewellian ceremonial sphere Detailed interpretations and explanations of Hopewellian sites and their contents in Ohio Illinois Indiana and Georgia empirically anchor his claims A singular work of unprecedented scope Reclaiming the Hopewellian Ceremonial Sphere will encourage archaeologists to re examine their interpretations The Scioto Hopewell and Their Neighbors Daniel Troy Case, Christopher Carr, 2008-07-09 Bioarchaeological Documentation and Cultural Understanding Sacred Games, Death, and Renewal in the Ancient Eastern Woodlands A. Martin Byers, 2011-01-16 The book presents an account of the Ohio Middle Woodland period embankment earthworks ca 100 B C to A D 400 that is radically different from the prevailing theory Byers critically addresses all the arguments and characterizations that make up the current treatment of the embankment earthworks and then presents an alternative interpretation This unconventional view hinges on two basic social characterizations the complementary heterarchical community model and the cult sodality heterarchy model Byers posits that these two models interact to characterize the Ohio Middle Woodland period settlement pattern the community was constituted by autonomous social formations clans based on kinship and sodalities based on companionship The individual communities of the region each have their clan components dispersed within a fairly well defined zone while the sodality components of the same set of region wide communities ally with each other and build and operate the embankment earthworks This dichotomy is possible only because the clans and sodalities respect each other as relatively autonomous the affairs of the clans focusing on domestic and family matters remain outside the concerns of the sodalities and the affairs of the sodalities focusing on world renewal and sacred games remain outside the concerns of the clans Therefore two models are required to understand the embankment earthworks and no individual earthwork can be identified with any particular community This radical interpretation grounded in empirical archaeological data as well as the in depth overview of the current theory of the Ohio Middle Woodland period make this book a critically important addition to the perspective of scholars of North American archaeology and scholars grappling with prehistoric social systems Hopewell Settlement Patterns, Subsistence, and Symbolic Landscapes A. Martin Byers, DeeAnne Wymer, 2010-05-23 The IRA 1926 1936 Continuity and Change in the Native American Village Robert A. Cook, 2017-11-02 Cook demonstrates that we can better allow for affiliation of archaeological sites with living descendants by more fully examining the complexity of the past The Archaeology of Native North America Dean Snow, Nancy Gonlin, Peter Siegel, 2019-07-30 The Archaeology of Native North America presents the ideas evidence and debates regarding the initial peopling of the continent by mobile bands of hunters and gatherers and the cultural evolution of their many lines of descent over the ensuing millennia The emergence of farming urban centers and complex political organization paralleled similar developments in other world areas With the arrival of Europeans to North America and the inevitable clashes of culture colonizers and colonists were forever changed which is also represented in the archaeological heritage of the continent Unlike others this book includes Mesoamerica and the Caribbean thus addressing broad regional interactions and the circulation of people things and ideas This edition incorporates results of new archaeological research since the publication of the first edition a decade earlier Fifty four new box features highlight selected archaeological sites which are publicly accessible gateways into the study of North American archaeology The features were authored by specialists with direct knowledge of the sites and their broad importance Glossaries are provided at the end of every chapter to clarify specialized terminology The book is directed to upper level undergraduate and graduate students taking survey courses in American archaeology as well as other advanced readers It is extensively illustrated and includes citations to sources with their own robust bibliographies leading diligent readers deeper into the professional literature The Archaeology of Native North America is the ideal text for courses in North American archaeology

Archaeologies of Cosmospaces in the Americas J. Grant Stauffer, Bretton T. Giles, Shawn P. Lambert, 2022-09-08 This volume examines how pre Columbian societies in the Americas envisioned their cosmos and iteratively modeled it through the creation of particular objects and places It emphasizes that American societies did this to materialize overarching models and templates for the shape and scope of the cosmos the working definition of cosmospace Noting a tendency to gloss over the ways in which ancestral Americans envisioned the cosmos as intertwined and animated the authors examine how cosmospaces are manifested archaeologically in the forms of objects and physically altered landscapes This book s chapters therefore offer case studies of cosmospaces that present themselves as forms of architecture portable artifacts and transformed aspects of the natural world In doing so it emphasizes that the creation of cosmospaces offered a means of reconciling peoples experiences of the world with their understandings of them Ancient Complex Societies Jennifer C. Ross, Sharon R. Steadman, 2017-01-06 Ancient Complex Societies examines the archaeological evidence for the rise and functioning of politically and socially complex cultures in antiquity Particular focus is given to civilizations exhibiting positions of leadership social and administrative hierarchies emerging and already developed complex religious systems and economic differentiation Case studies are drawn from around the globe including Asia the Mediterranean region and the American continents Using case studies from Africa Polynesia and North America discussion is dedicated to identifying what complex means and when it should be applied to ancient systems Each chapter attempts to not only explore the sociopolitical and economic elements of ancient civilizations but to also present an overview of what life was like for the later population within each system sometimes drilling down to individual people living their daily lives Throughout the chapters the authors address problems with the idea of complexity the incomparability of cultures and the inconsistency of archaeological and historical evidence in reconstructing ancient cultures
