The Future Of Memory:

The Future of Memory Richard Crownshaw, Jane Kilby, Antony Rowland, 2010-11-01 Memory studies has become a rapidly growing area of scholarly as well as public interest This volume brings together world experts to explore the current critical trends in this new academic field It embraces work on diverse but interconnected phenomena such as twenty first century museums shocking memorials in present day Rwanda and the firsthand testimony of the victims of genocidal conflicts The collection engages with pressing real world issues such as the furor around the recent 9 11 memorial and what we really mean when we talk about trauma

The Future of Memory Jimi Jones, Marek Jancovic, 2025-07-08 A new generation of video standards promises lossless storage of digital objects for future generations Jimi Jones and Marek Jancovic document the development and adoption of JPEG 2000 FFV1 MXF and Matroska while investigating the social and material aspects of their design and the forces driving their journeys from niche to ubiquity Drawing on interviews with archivists and developers Jones and Jancovic reveal the archive as a dynamic space where deeply entrenched social practices produce disagreements but also resourceful collaborations They contrast the unprecedented rise of archivist driven standardization and controversies around non standard technology with the historical dominance of the film and broadcast industries Throughout the authors clarify the role of tech companies software developers film pirates hackers and other players with poorly understood roles in the process A timely look at the state of audiovisual preservation The Future of Memory provides a history of recent innovations alongside a snapshot of a field in the midst of profound technological change

Committing the Future to Memory Sarah Clift, 2013-09-01 Whereas historical determinacy conceives the past as a complex and unstable network of causalities this book asks how history can be related to a more radical future To pose that question it does not reject determinacy outright but rather seeks to explore how it works In examining what it means to be determined by history it also asks what kind of openings there might be in our encounters with history for interruptions re readings and re writings Engaging texts spanning multiple genres and several centuries from John Locke to Maurice Blanchot from Hegel to Benjamin Clift looks at experiences of time that exceed the historical narration of experiences said to have occurred in time She focuses on the co existence of multiple temporalities and opens up the quintessentially modern notion of historical succession to other possibilities The alternatives she draws out include the mediations of language and narration temporal leaps oscillations and blockages and the role played by contingency in representation She argues that such alternatives compel us to reassess the ways we understand history and identity in a traumatic or indeed in a post traumatic age

Memory and the Future Yifat Gutman, Adam D. Brown, Amy Sodaro, 2010-10-06 For those who study memory there is a nagging concern that memory studies are inherently backward looking and that memory itself hinders efforts to move forward Unhinging memory from the past this book brings together an interdisciplinary group of prominent scholars who bring the future into the study of memory
