Don't believe all the hype.
"Global Warming's" straight bogus.
I mean if the world was all melting,

You and Yours Naomi Shihab Nye, 2005 In You and Yours Naomi Shihab Nye continues her conversation with ordinary people whose lives become through her empathetic use of poetic language extraordinary Nye writes of local life in her inner city Texas neighborhood about rural schools and urban communities she's visited in this country as well as the daily rituals of Jews and Palestinians who live in the war-torn Middle East The Day I missed the day on which it was said others should not have certain weapons but we could Not only could but should and do I missed that day Was I sleeping I might have been digging in the yard doing something small and slow as usual Or maybe I wasn't born yet What about all the other people who aren't born Who will tell them Balancing direct language with a suggestive aslantness Nye probes the fragile connection between language and meaning She never shies from the challenge of trying to name the mysterious logic of childhood or speak truth to power in the face of the horrors of war She understands our lives are marked by tragedy inequity and misunderstanding and that our best chance of surviving our losses and shortcomings is to maintain a heightened awareness of the sacred in all things Naomi Shihab Nye poet editor anthologist is a recipient of writing fellowships from the Lannan and Guggenheim foundations Nye's work has been featured on PBS poetry specials including NOW with Bill Moyers The Language of Life with Bill Moyers and The United States of Poetry She has traveled abroad as a visiting writer on three Arts America tours sponsored by the United States Information Agency In 2001 she received a presidential appointment to the National Council of the National Endowment for the Humanities She lives in San Antonio Texas

Model Homes Wayne Koestenbaum, 2004 Urbane ribald melancholic and wry Koestenbaum puts a memorable spin on the status quo notion of domestic arrangements Drumvoices Revue, 2001 Cutting the Wire Lisa McNeil, 2018-10-15 Winner of the 2019 Southwest Book Award from the Border Regional Library Association 2018 Southwest Books of the Year Cutting the Wire a masterful collaboration between photographer Bruce Berman and poets Ray Gonzalez and Lawrence Welsh offers us a way to look again to really look at the border between Mexico and the United States Berman

who has photographed and lived in El Paso for decades is a documentarian who uses his camera to record what's in front of him rather than for as he puts it mere self expression Berman's visual investigations of the everyday realities of the border detention centers smelter town cemeteries kids playing along a river levee descanso crosses on telephone poles for the disappeared are exactly the stuff the poetry of Gonzalez and Welsh is made of The multilayered histories of the border landscape provide an inexhaustible supply of rich and fertile raw material for both Gonzalez and Welsh But their poetic visions allow them to capture elements of a personal and collective past that historians have often failed to record

Renaming the Earth Ray Gonzalez, 2008 In his distinctive and spirited way Ray Gonzalez the well known essayist poet fiction writer and anthologist reflects on the American Southwest where he was raised and to which he still feels attached even though he has lived much of his life elsewhere It is a place that tugs at him from its arid desert landscapes to its polyglot cities part Mexican part Anglo part something in between always in the process of redefining themselves Nowhere does the process of redefinition hit Gonzalez quite as hard as in his native city of El Paso Texas There he finds the segregated little town of my childhood transformed into a metropolis of fast Latino zip codes a world where the cell phone the quick beer the rented apartment and the low paying job say you can be young and happy on the border Readers will wonder along with the author whether life along the new border is worth the extermination of the old boundaries But there is another side of the Southwest for this son of the desert the world of dusty canyons ponderosa pines ocotillo and mesquite Here he writes there is a shadow and it is called ancient home structures erased from their seed to grow elsewhere vultured strings searching for a frame that stands atop history and renames the ground Rooted in the desert sand and in the banks of the Rio Grande the muddy river that forms the border between nations these essays are by turns lyrical mournful warm to the ways of the land and lukewarm to the ways of man
