Tenants and Trustees Paul D. Wiebe, 1982-03 The Politics of Heritage from Madras to Chennai Mary E.

Hancock, 2008-10-29 In this anthropological history Mary E Hancock examines the politics of public memory in the southern Indian city of Chennai Once a colonial port Chennai is now poised to become a center for India's new economy of information technology export processing and back office services State and local governments promote tourism and a heritage conscious cityscape to make Chennai a recognizable brand among investment and travel destinations Using a range of textual visual architectural and ethnographic sources Hancock grapples with the question of how people in Chennai remember and represent their past considering the political and economic contexts and implications of those memory practices Working from specific sites including a historic district created around an ancient Hindu temple a living history museum neo traditional and vernacular architecture and political memorials Hancock examines the spatialization of memory under the conditions of neoliberalism

Organising Women's Protest Eldrid Mageli, 2014-01-14 This study examines the nature of two women's activist groups in Madras and their activities since 1979 focusing on their work with the media slum issues registration of marriages and initiation of an apprenticeship scheme But this volume is more than a study of women and their organisations It is a study of political processes in which women are active an attempt to discuss women's political behaviour in male dominated society where official bodies as well as the academic world pay attention to women's issues but where women as political actors continue to be invisible

Diaspora of the Gods Joanne Punzo Waghorne, 2004-09-16 Many Hindus today are urban middle class people with religious values similar to those of their professional counterparts in America and Europe Just as modern professionals continue to build new churches synagogues and now mosques Hindus are erecting temples to their gods wherever their work and their lives take them Despite the perceived exoticism of Hindu worship the daily life style of these avid temple patrons differs little from their suburban neighbors Joanne Waghorne leads her readers on a journey through this new middle class Hindu diaspora focusing on their efforts to build and support places of worship She seeks to trace the changing religious sensibilities of the middle classes as written on their temples and on the faces of their gods She offers detailed comparisons of temples in Chennai formerly Madras London and Washington D C and interviews temple priests devotees and patrons In the process she illuminates the interrelationships between ritual worship and religious edifices the rise of the modern world economy and the ascendancy of the great middle class The result is a comprehensive portrait of Hinduism as lived today by so many both in India and throughout the world Lavishly illustrated with professional photographs by Dick Waghorne this book will appeal to art historians as well as urban anthropologists scholars of religion and those interested in diaspora transnationalism and trends in contemporary religion It should be especially appealing for course use because it introduces the modern Hinduism practiced by the friends and neighbors of students in the U S and Britain
