Tending The Flock Bishop Joseph-Octave Plessis And Roman Catholics In Early Nineteenth-century New Brunswick:

The Church of England in Loyalist New Brunswick, 1783-1825 Ross N. Hebb, 2004 This study is an investigation of the arrival, planting and expansion of the Church of England in Loyalist New Brunswick. The obstacles encountered in setting up missions in the frontier both before and after the arrival of Bishop Charles Inglis are documented. It is revealed that the origins, qualifications, zeal and adaptability of the colony's missionaries were key factors in the Church's foundation and success. Legislated establishment, although British policy proved half-hearted and of little benefit in colonial New Brunswick. While imperial attention to colonial religious policy was short-lived, the continued interest and aid of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel (SPG) was crucial. Inability to fully understand and appreciate the New Brunswick reality, the SPG remained the only secure source of clerical income. Given the frontier economy, SPG funds were critical to the Church, but it was in the end the exertions of Bishop Inglis and his small band of former New England missionaries who effected the establishment and long-term viability of the Church of England in Loyalist New Brunswick.

Michael Power Mark G. McGowan, 2005-04-28 Setting his account against the dramatic backdrop of pre-Confederation Canada, McGowan traces the challenges Power faced as a young priest helping to establish and sustain the Catholic Church in the newly settled areas of the continent. Power was appointed first bishop of Toronto in 1841 and became an ardent proponent of the Ultramontane reforms and disciplines that were to revitalize the Roman Catholic Church. McGowan explores the way in which Power established frameworks for Catholic institutions, schools and religious life that are still relevant to English Canada today.

A Bishop and His Flock John Cuthbert Hedley, John Cuthbert Hedley O.S.B., 2011-10-06 Bishop Hedley writes: The Following of Christ, the Spiritual Combat, the Devout Life of St. Francis de Sales and other books of a like nature are at once a guide to virtue, an encouragement to prayer and an influence drawing the heart daily nearer to God. The reading of Holy Scripture, of the sermons and conferences of distinguished preachers and of the penetrating devotional books in which our language is by no means deficient, is adapted to sanctify the house and to keep out of it to a greater or less degree that flood of objectionable printed matter which overflows the land at the present moment. Priests and laity cannot do more for souls than to encourage by every means in their power good and cheap Catholic literature, instruction, devotion, tales and periodicals and to bring it within the reach of every class of the faithful. All read, they must read and they will read. Let us strive to check the evils of bad reading by the dissemination of that which is good This Bishop from the nineteenth century wrote to his flock many good instructions which are also applicable today Let us consider another good quote from this wonderful book Now love consists of four principal acts To prefer God before all things to dedicate to Him all we have and are to detest all that opposes Him and to do His will in all things St Alphonsus writes a single bad book will be sufficient to cause the destruction of a monastery Pope Pius XII wrote in 1947 at the beatification of Blessed Maria Goretti There rises to Our lips the cry of the Saviour Woe to the world because of scandals Matthew 18 7 Woe to those who consciously and deliberately spread corruption in novels newspapers magazines theaters films in a world of immodesty We at St Pius X Press are calling for a crusade of good books We want to restore 1 000 old Catholic books to the market We ask for your assistance and prayers This book is a photographic reprint of the original The original has been inspected and many imperfections in the existing copy have been corrected At Saint Pius X Press our goal is to remain faithful to the original in both photographic reproductions and in textual reproductions that are reprinted Photographic reproductions are given a page by page inspection whereas textual reproductions are proofread to correct any errors in reproduction Monseigneur, the Catholic Bishop, Joseph-Octave Plessis James H.
