The Forgotten People W. H. Woods, 1973 Mexican Americans Mario T. García, 1989-01-01 Profiles people who have emerged from the barrios between 1930 and 1960 to become leaders of the Mexican American community Underground Rises Pasquale De Marco, 2025-05-11 The underground is a hidden world of drugs danger and despair It is a place where people go to escape their problems but often end up finding more This book takes a deep dive into the world of addiction exploring its causes its consequences and its impact on individuals families and communities We will meet the people who have been lost to the underground as well as those who have fought their way back to the surface Through their stories we will learn about the challenges of addiction the power of hope and the importance of compassion We will also learn about the need for change both in the way we treat addiction and in the way we view those who struggle with it This book is a call to action It is time to shine a light on the dark world of addiction and to demand change We need to support those who are struggling and we need to fight for a better future for all The underground is a problem that affects all of us whether we know it or not Addiction is a disease that can destroy lives families and communities It is a problem that we can no longer afford to ignore This book is a must read for anyone who wants to understand the problem of addiction and its impact on our society It is also a book of hope a book that shows that even in the darkest of places there is always light If you like this book write a review on google books Through Our Fathers Eyes Saladin Shabazz Allah, 2020-09-11 The book is about social religious educational and class system in America and throughout the world and more The book is for adults but can be read by anyone including the youth The Forgotten People Gary B. Mills, Elizabeth Shown Mills, 2013-11-13 Out of colonial Natchitoches in northwestern Louisiana emerged a sophisticated and affluent community founded by a family of freed slaves Their plantations eventually encompassed 18 000 fertile acres which they tilled alongside hundreds of their own bondsmen Furnishings of quality and taste graced their homes and private tutors educated their children Cultured deeply religious and highly capable Cane River's Creoles of color enjoyed economic privileges but led politically constricted lives Like their white neighbors they publicly supported the Confederacy and suffered the same depredations of war and political and social uncertainties of Reconstruction Unlike white Creoles however they did not recover amid cycles of Redeemer and Jim Crow politics First published in 1977 The Forgotten People offers a socioeconomic history of this widely publicized but also highly romanticized community a minority group that fit no stereotypes refused all outside labels and still struggles to explain its identity in a world mystified by Creolism Now revised and significantly expanded this time honored work revisits Cane River's forgotten people and incorporates new findings and insight gleaned across thirty five years of further research This new edition provides a nuanced portrayal of the lives of Creole slaves and the roles allowed to freed people of color tackling issues of race gender and slave holding by former slaves The Forgotten People corrects misassumptions about the origin of key properties in the Cane River National Heritage Area and demonstrates how historians reconstruct the lives of the enslaved the impoverished and the disenfranchised The New Inheritors Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming, 2012-12-20 This groundbreaking book examines why the majority of Australian school leavers want to go to university and have resisted government attempts to promote alternative forms of tertiary education The New Inheritors explores differences in young people's understanding of the purpose of university and their reasons for wanting to enrol The book reveals that although there has been a general shift in values towards the utilitarian perspective there is still significant support for the traditional liberal idea of university education as a cultural experience. This support is concentrated in well educated families regardless of their financial resources but there is a substantial number of young people from less well educated families who have absorbed the liberal perspective The book begins with an extensive and unique overview of changes in Australian federal government tertiary education policy and changes in the public discourse on education This overview provides a framework against which differences among today s students are examined in detail Drawing on a study of over 200 secondary school students from diverse backgrounds The New Inheritors records their attitudes to university including access fees and the role of government and explores how these are formed by their family backgrounds and influenced by public policy on education The New Inheritors uncovers the complexity of young people's attitudes and what processes occur in the forming and reforming of those attitudes to university and what young people really want from university education Dr Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming is a Lecturer in Education at Australian Catholic University She has given numerous conference papers on transition from school to university and teaching students from diverse backgrounds In 2011 she received an Australian Learning and Teaching Council Citation for an outstanding contribution to student learning particularly at the first year
