The Future of Sexual Relations Robert T. Francoeur, Anna K. Francoeur, 1974 Sociologists look at the 60 s sexual revolution
Post-Human Futures Mark Carrigan, Douglas V. Porpora, 2021-04-12 This volume engages with post humanist and transhumanist approaches to present an original exploration of the question of how humankind will fare in the face of artificial intelligence With emerging technologies now widely assumed to be calling into question assumptions about human beings and their place within the world and computational innovations of machine learning leading some to claim we are coming ever closer to the long sought artificial general intelligence it defends humanity with the argument that technological advances introduced artificially into some humans do not annul their fundamental human qualities Against the challenge presented by the possibility that advanced artificial intelligence will be fully capable of original thinking creative self development and moral judgement and therefore have claims to legal rights the authors advance a form of essentialism that justifies providing a decent minimum life for all persons As such while the future of the human is in question the authors show how dispensing with either the category itself or the underlying reality is a less plausible solution than is often assumed
