Catalogue of Artefacts from Malta in the British Museum Josef Mario Briffa SJ, Claudia Sagona, 2017-04-30 Ancient finds from the Maltese islands are rare and those held in the British Museum form an important collection Represented is a wide cultural range spanning the Early and Late Neolithic the Bronze Age Roman and more recent historic periods The Archaeology of Malta Claudia Sagona, 2015-08-25 The Maltese archipelago is a unique barometer for understanding cultural change in the central Mediterranean Prehistoric people helped reshape the islands economy and when Mediterranean maritime highways were being established the islands became a significant lure to Phoenician colonists venturing from their Levantine homeland Punic Malta also sat at the front line of regional hostilities until it fell to Rome Preserved in this island setting are signs of people s endurance and adaptation to each new challenge This book is the first systematic and up to date survey of the islands archaeological evidence from the initial settlers to the archipelago s inclusion into the Roman world c 5000 BC 400 AD Claudia Sagona draws upon old and new discoveries and her analysis covers well known sites such as the megalithic structures as well as less familiar locations and discoveries She interprets the archaeological record to explain changing social and political structures intriguing ritual practices and cultural contact through several millennia Sacred Darkness Holley Moyes, 2012-04-15 Caves have been used in various ways across human society but despite the persistence within popular culture of the iconic caveman deep caves were never used primarily as habitation sites for early humans Rather in both ancient and contemporary contexts caves have served primarily as ritual spaces In Sacred Darkness contributors use archaeological evidence as well as ethnographic studies of modern ritual practices to envision the cave as place of spiritual and ideological power that emerges as a potent venue for ritual practice Covering the ritual use of caves in Europe Asia Australia Africa Mesoamerica and the US Southwest and Eastern woodlands this book brings together case studies by prominent scholars whose research spans from the Paleolithic period to the present day These contributions demonstrate that cave sites are as fruitful as surface contexts in promoting the understanding of both ancient and modern religious beliefs and practices This state of the art survey of ritual cave use will be one of the most valuable resources for understanding the role of caves in studies of religion sacred landscape or cosmology and a must read for any archaeologist interested in caves The Maltese Archipelago at the Dawn of History Davide Tanasi, David Cardona, 2020-08-27 This collection of essays provides a reassessment of the multifaceted evidence which emerged from excavations carried out in 1909 and 1959 in the settlement of Bahrija both largely unpublished until now Bahrija is a key site for understanding the later stages of Maltese prehistory before the beginning of the Phoenician colonial period The Prehistoric Antiquities of the Maltese Islands John Davies Evans, 1971 Sponsored by the Port Authority of Rotterdam The Adriatic Islands Project , 1978 Past Bodies Dusan Boric, John Robb, 2014-01-31 Archaeology often struggles in envisioning real people behind the world of material objects it studies Even when dealing with skeletal remains archaeologists routinely reduce them to long lists of figures and attributes. Such a fragmentation of past subjects and their bodies if analytically necessary is hardly satisfactory. While material culture is the main archaeological proxy to real people in the past, the absence of past bodies has been chronic in archaeological writings. At the same time, these past bodies in archaeology are omnipresent. Bodily matters are tangible in the archaeological record in a way most other theoretical centralities never appear to be. Ancient bodies surround us in representations in burials, in the remains of food preparation, cooking and consumption, in hands holding tools, in joint efforts of many individual bodies who built architecture and monuments. This collection of papers is a reaction to decades of the body's invisibility. It raises the body as the central topic in the study of past societies, researching its appearance in a wide variety of regional contexts and across vast spans of archaeological time. Contributions in this volume range from the deep Epi-Palaeolithic past of the Near East through the European Neolithic and Bronze Age, Classical Greece and Late Medieval England to pre-Columbian Central America, post-contact North America and the most recent conflicts in the Balkans. In all these case studies, the materiality of the body is centre stage. Possibilities are highlighted for future study by putting the body at the forefront of these archaeological studies; an attempt is made to provoke the imagination and map out new territories.

Semiotics of Landscape George Nash, 1997

A thought-provoking collection of essays which take a cognitive approach to landscape, examining the phenomenology and symbolism of landscapes and monuments.

Ancient Goddesses Lucy Goodison, Christine Morris, 1998. The nurturing Earth Goddess, the Great Mother worshipped at the dawn of civilization: historical fact or consoling fiction? While Goddess mythologies proliferate and the public devours books by artists, psychotherapists and enthusiastic amateurs, it is remarkable that those in the field of prehistory have remained largely silent. Did Goddess worship really exist? What actually remains from the earliest cultures and what can it tell us? What can we learn about the early stages of human religion from the study of prehistoric carvings, pictures, pottery, figurines and temples? In Ancient Goddesses, historians and archaeologists write accessibly about this intriguing and controversial topic for the first time. Considering a number of significant early civilizations: Predynastic and Early Dynastic Egypt, Old Europe, Early North West Europe, Celtic civilization, the Prehistoric Aegean, Malta, the Ancient Near East, Old Testament Israel, the Hittites and Archaic Greece, these experts review the most recent evidence so that readers can make up their own minds. The Oxford Handbook of Light in Archaeology Costas Papadopoulos, Holley Moyes, 2021-12-09. Light has a fundamental role to play in our perception of the world. Natural or artificial lightscapes orchestrate uses and experiences of space and in turn influence how people construct and negotiate their identities, form social relationships and attribute meaning to material practices Archaeological practice seeks to analyse the material culture of past societies by examining the interaction between people things and spaces As light is a crucial factor that mediates these relationships understanding its principles and addressing illumination s impact on sensory experience and perception should be a fundamental pursuit in archaeology However in archaeological reasoning studies of lightscapes have remained largely neglected and understudied This volume provides a comprehensive and accessible consideration of light in archaeology and beyond by including dedicated and fully illustrated chapters covering diverse aspects of illumination in different spatial and temporal contexts from prehistory to the present Written by leading international scholars it interrogates the qualities and affordances of light in different contexts and im material environments explores its manipulation and problematises its elusive properties The result is a synthesis of invaluable insights into sensory experience and perception demonstrating illumination s vital impact on social cultural and artistic contexts Journal of Mediterranean Studies ,1991 Catalogue of the Library of the Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. Cult in Context David A. Barrowclough,Caroline Malone,2007 Gods deities symbolism deposition cosmology and intentionality are all features of the study of early ritual and cult Archaeology has great difficulties in providing satisfactory interpretation or recognition of these elusive but important parts of ancient society and methodologies are often poorly equipped to explore the evidence This collection of papers explores a wide range of prehistoric and early historic archaeological contexts from Britain Europe and beyond where monuments architectural structures megaliths art caves ritual activity and symbolic remains offer exciting glimpses into ancient belief systems and cult behaviour Different theoretical and practical approaches are demonstrated offering both new directions and considered conclusions to the many problems of studying the archaeology of cult and ritual Central to the volume is an exploration of early Malta and its intriguing Temple Culture set in a broad perspective by the discussion and theoretical approaches presented in different geographical and chronological contexts The Subject Index to Periodicals ,1962 International Index ,1962
