Africa and the Africans in the Nineteenth Century: A Turbulent History Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch, Mary Baker, 2015-02-12 Most histories seek to understand modern Africa as a troubled outcome of nineteenth century European colonialism but that is only a small part of the story In this celebrated book beautifully translated from the French edition the history of Africa in the nineteenth century unfolds from the perspective of Africans themselves rather than the European powers It was above all a time of tremendous internal change on the African continent Great jihads of Muslim conquest and conversion swept over West Africa In the interior warlords competed to control the internal slave trade In the east the sultanate of Zanzibar extended its reach via coastal and interior trade routes In the north Egypt began to modernize while Algeria was colonized In the south a series of forced migrations accelerated spurred by the progression of white settlement Through much of the century African societies assimilated and adapted to the changes generated by these diverse forces In the end the West's technological advantage prevailed and most of Africa fell under European control and lost its independence Yet only by taking into account the rich complexity of this tumultuous past can we fully understand modern Africa from the colonial period to independence and the difficulties of today

Manhood Enslaved Kenneth Edward Marshall, 2011 Manhood Enslaved reconstructs the lives of three male captives to bring greater intellectual and historical clarity to the muted lives of enslaved peoples in eighteenth and early nineteenth century central New Jersey where blacks were held in bondage for nearly two centuries The book contributes to an evolving body of historical scholarship arguing that the lives of bondpeople in America were shaped not only by the powerful forces of racial oppression but also by their own notions of gender The book uses previously understudied white authored nineteenth century literature about central New Jersey slaves as a point of departure Reading beyond the racist assumptions of the authors it contends that the precarious day to day existence of the three protagonists Yombo Melick Dick Melick and Quamino Buccau Smock provides revealing evidence about the various elements of slave manhood that gave real meaning to their oppressed lives Kenneth E Marshall is Assistant Professor of History at the State University of New York at Oswego

Migration in World History Patrick Manning, Tiffany Trimmer, 2020-05-04 In this third edition of Migration in World History Patrick

Manning presents an expanded and newly coherent view of migratory processes conveying new research and interpretation. The engaging narrative shows the continuity of migratory processes from the time of foragers who settled the earth to farmers opening new fields and merchants linking purchasers everywhere. In the last thousand years accumulation of wealth brought capitalism, industry and the travels of free and slave migrants. In a contest of civilizational hierarchy and movements of emancipation, nations arose to replace empires although conflicts within nations expelled refugees. The future of migration is now a serious concern. The new edition includes an introduction to the migration theories that explain the shifting patterns of migration in early and recent times. Quantification of changes in migration including international migration, domestic urbanization and growing refugee movements. A new chapter tracing twenty-first century migration and population from 2000 to 2050 showing how migrants escaping climate change will steadily outnumber refugees from other social conflicts. While migration is often stressful, it contributes to diversity, exchanges new perspectives and innovations. This comprehensive and up-to-date view of migration will stimulate readers with interests in many fields. Language and Civilization Change in South Asia Maloney, 1978-06

A Separate Canaan Jon F. Sensbach, 2012-12-01. In colonial North Carolina, German-speaking settlers from the Moravian Church founded a religious refuge, an ideal society they hoped whose blueprint for daily life was the Bible and whose Chief Elder was Christ himself. As the community's demand for labor grew, the Moravian Brethren bought slaves to help operate their farms, shops and industries. Moravians believed in the universalism of the gospel and baptized dozens of African Americans who became full members of tightly knit Moravian congregations. For decades, white and black Brethren worked and worshiped together, though white Moravians never abandoned their belief that black slavery was ordained by God. Based on German church documents including dozens of rare biographies of black Moravians, A Separate Canaan is the first full-length study of contact between people of German and African descent in early America. Exploring the fluidity of race in the Revolutionary era, America, it highlights the struggle of African Americans to secure their fragile place in a culture unwilling to give them full human rights. In the early nineteenth century, white Moravians forsook their spiritual inclusiveness, installing blacks in a separate church. Just as white Americans throughout the new republic rejected African American equality, the Moravian story illustrates the power of slavery and race to overwhelm other ideals.

The Creation of the British Atlantic World Elizabeth Mancke, Carole Shammas, 2015-10-15. Was the British Atlantic shaped more by imperial rivalries or by the actions of subnational groups with a variety of economic, social and religious agendas? The Creation of the British Atlantic World analyzes the interrelationship between these competing explanations for the development of the British Atlantic by examining migration patterns on both the macro and micro level. It also scrutinizes the roles played by trade, religion, ethnicity and class in linking Atlantic borders and the increasingly complicated legal, intellectual and emotional relationship between the British sovereign and colonial charterholders. Contributors include Joyce E. Chaplin, John E. Crowley, David Barry Gaspar, April Lee Hatfield, James Horn, Ray A. Kea, Elizabeth Mancke, Philip D. Morgan.

William M Offutt Robert Olwell Carole Shammas Wolfgang Splitter Mark L Thompson Karin Wulf Avihu Zakai An Economic History of West Africa A. G. Hopkins, 2019-10-17 This pioneering and celebrated work was the first and remains the standard account of the economic history of the huge area conventionally known as West Africa The book ranges from prehistoric times to independence and covers the former French territories as well as those colonised by the British It criticises conventional beliefs about economic backwardness offers an alternative account that explains the particular configuration of poverty that characterised the pre colonial period and assesses the consequences of the region's interaction with the wider world from the growth of the Saharan and Atlantic trades to the rise and demise of colonial rule This edition contains a substantial new Introduction that discusses the development of the subject during the past 50 years evaluates the debate over the original interpretation and provides a valuable guide to additional reading bringing the reader up to date with current scholarship on the subject as well as providing avenues for further independent research Appearing at a time when the study of African economic history is enjoying a revival and is engaging economists as well as historians the book fills a large gap in African studies provides newcomers with a stimulating point of entry into the subject and contributes to our understanding of wider issues of global underdevelopment
