The Oxford Handbook of the Septuagint Alison G. Salvesen, Timothy Michael Law, 2021-01-26 The Septuagint is the term commonly used to refer to the corpus of early Greek versions of Hebrew Scriptures The collection is of immense importance in the history of both Judaism and Christianity The renderings of individual books attest to the religious interests of the substantial Jewish population of Egypt during the Hellenistic and Roman periods and to the development of the Greek language in its Koine phase The narrative ascribing the Septuagint's origins to the work of seventy translators in Alexandria attained legendary status among both Jews and Christians The Septuagint was the version of Scripture most familiar to the writers of the New Testament and became the authoritative Old Testament of the Greek and Latin Churches In the early centuries of Christianity it was itself translated into several other languages and it has had a continuing influence on the style and content of biblical translations The Oxford Handbook of the Septuagint features contributions from leading experts in the field considering the history and manuscript transmission of the version and the study of translation technique and textual criticism The collection provides surveys of previous and current research on individual books of the Septuagint corpus on alternative Jewish Greek versions the Christian daughter translations and reception in early Jewish and Christian writers The Handbook also includes several conversations with related fields of interest such as New Testament studies liturgy and art history

Russia in the Early Modern World Donald Ostrowski, 2022-01-25 A fundamental problem in studying early modern Russian history is determining Russia's historical development in relationship to the rest of the world. The focus throughout this book is on the continuity of Russian policies during the early modern period 1450-1800 and that those policies coincided with those of other successful contemporary Eurasian polities. The continuities occurred in the midst of constant change but neither one nor the other continuities or changes alone can account for Russia's success. Instead, Russian rulers from Ivan III to Catherine II, with their hub advisors, managed to sustain a balance between the two. During the early modern period, these Russian rulers invited into the country foreign experts to facilitate the transfer of technology and know-how, mostly from Europe but also from Asia. In this respect, they were willing to look abroad for solutions to domestic problems. Russia looked westward for military weaponry and techniques; at the same time, it was expanding eastward into the Eurasian heartland. The ruling elite, and by extension the entire ruling class, worked in cooperation with the ruler to implement policies. The Church played an active role in supporting the government and in seeking to eliminate opposition to the government.

Russian Bible Wars Stephen K. Batalden, 2013-03-14 Although biblical texts were known in Church Slavonic as early as the ninth century, translation of the Bible into Russian came about only in the nineteenth century. Modern scriptural translation generated major religious and cultural conflict within the Russian Orthodox church. The resulting divisions left church authority particularly vulnerable to political pressures exerted upon it in the twentieth century. Russian Bible Wars illuminates the fundamental issues of authority that have divided modern Russian religious culture. Set within the theoretical debate over secularization, the volume clarifies why the Russian Bible was issued relatively late and amidst great controversy. Stephen Batalden's study traces the development of biblical translation into Russian and of the Bible wars that then occurred in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in Russia. The annotated bibliography of the Russian Bible identifies the different editions and their publication history.

Historical Dictionary of Sacred Music Joseph P. Swain, 2016-10-11 Sacred music is a universal phenomenon of humanity. Where there is faith, there is music to express it. Every major religious tradition and most minor ones have music and have it in abundance and variety. There is music to accompany ritual and music purely for devotion; music for large congregations and music for trained soloists; music that sets holy words and music without words at all. In some traditions, Islamic and many Native American, to name just two, the relation between music and religious ritual is so intimate that it is inaccurate to speak of the music accompanying the ritual. Rather, to perform the ritual is to sing, and to sing the ritual is to perform it. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Sacred Music contains a chronology, an introduction, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 800 cross-referenced entries on major types of music, composers, key religious figures, specialized positions, genres of composition, technical terms, instruments, fundamental documents, and sources, significant places, and important musical compositions. This book is an excellent access point for students, researchers,

Boeck, 2021-04-29 Justinian's triumphal column was the tallest free standing column of the pre modern world and was crowned with arguably the largest metal equestrian sculpture created anywhere in the world before 1699 The Byzantine empire's bronze horseman towered over the heart of Constantinople assumed new identities spawned conflicting narratives and acquired widespread international acclaim Because all traces of Justinian's column were erased from the urban fabric of Istanbul in the sixteenth century scholars have undervalued its astonishing agency and remarkable longevity Its impact in visual and verbal culture was arguably among the most extensive of any Mediterranean monument This book analyzes Byzantine Islamic Slavic Crusader and Renaissance historical accounts medieval pilgrimages geographic apocalyptic and apocryphal narratives vernacular poetry Byzantine Bulgarian Italian French Latin and Ottoman illustrated manuscripts Florentine wedding chests Venetian paintings and Russian icons to provide an engrossing and pioneering biography of a contested medieval monument during the millennium of its life Bibliography of Sources on the Region of Former Yugoslavia Volume III Rusko Matuli?, 1998 A ^AGuide to Early Jewish Texts and Traditions in Christian

Transmission Gabriele Boccaccini, Lorenzo DiTommaso, David Hamidovic, Michael E. Stone, 2019-10-04 The Jewish culture of the Hellenistic and early Roman periods established a basis for all monotheistic religions but its main sources have been preserved to a great degree through Christian transmission This Guide is devoted to problems of preservation reception and transformation of Jewish texts and traditions of the Second Temple period in the many Christian milieus from the ancient world to the late medieval era Passwords to Paradise Nicholas Ostler, 2016-02-23 In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God So opens the Gospel of John an ancient text translated into almost every language at once a compelling and beguiling metaphor for the Christian story of the Beginning To further complicate matters the words we read now are in any number of languages that would have been unknown or unrecognizable at the time of their composition The gospel may have been originally dictated or written in Aramaic but our only written source for the story is in Greek Today as your average American reader of the New Testament picks up his or her Bible off the shelf the phrase as it appears has been translated from various linguistic intermediaries before its current manifestation in modern English How to understand these words then when so many other translators languages and cultures have exercised some level of influence on them Christian tradition is not unique in facing this problem All religions if they have global aspirations have to change in order to spread their influence and often language has been the most powerful agent thereof Passwords to Paradise explores the effects that language difference and language conversion have wrought on the world's great faiths spanning more than two thousand years It is an original and intriguing perspective on the history of religion by a master linguistic historian
