Myth and the Human Sciences Angus Nicholls, 2014-12-05 This is the first book length critical analysis in any language of Hans Blumenberg s theory of myth Blumenberg can be regarded as the most important German theorist of myth of the second half of the twentieth century and his Work on Myth 1979 has resonated across disciplines ranging from literary theory via philosophy religious studies and anthropology to the history and philosophy of science Nicholls introduces Anglophone readers to Blumenberg s biography and to his philosophical contexts

He elucidates Blumenberg's theory of myth by relating it to three important developments in late nineteenth and early twentieth century German philosophy: hermeneutics, phenomenology and philosophical anthropology while also comparing Blumenberg's ideas with those of other prominent theorists of myth such as Vico, Hume, Schelling, Max Müller, Frazer, Sorel, Freud, Cassirer, Heidegger, Horkheimer and Adorno. According to Nicholls, Blumenberg's theory of myth can only be understood in relation to the human sciences since it emerges from a speculative hypothesis concerning the emergence of the earliest human beings. For Blumenberg, myth was originally a cultural adaptation that constituted the human attempt to deal with anxieties concerning the threatening forces of nature by anthropomorphizing those forces into mythic images. In the final two chapters, Blumenberg's theory of myth is placed within the post-war political context of West Germany. Through a consideration of Blumenberg's exchanges with Carl Schmitt as well as by analysing unpublished correspondence and parts of the original Work of Myth manuscript that Blumenberg held back from publication, Nicholls shows that Blumenberg's theory of myth also amounted to a reckoning with the legacy of National Socialism.

The Myths of Technology Judith Burnett, Peter Senker, Kathy Walker, 2009. This book questions whether technologies are the rational, tangible, scientific, forward-thinking, neutral objects they are so often perceived to be, exploring instead how powerful mythic ideas about technologies drive our social understanding and our expectations of them. Against a rising tide of information, we encounter significant technological, scientific and medical advances which promise to create an educated, humane and equal world. This book explores that promise, deconstructing technologies to conclude that though they do afford us significant and empowering advances, they remain largely cloaked in mystery and often promise more than they can deliver. Contributors from diverse intellectual backgrounds and political and epistemological stances, spanning sociology and psychosocial investigations, innovation studies and scientists, combine philosophical inquiry and empirical case studies to create a book which is at once provocative, innovative and exciting in the challenges it poses.
