Both groups arrived in South America via 2 different routes One model designed to explain this migration indicates that the small forms used the Andes corridor while larger horses used the eastern route and arrived through some coastal areas Molecular dating ancient DNA suggests that the South American horses separated from the North American taxa caballines and the New World stilt legged horse after 3 6 3 2 Ma consistent with the final formation of the Panamanian Isthmus Recent studies of stable isotopes in these horses indicate an extensive range of ^{13}C values cover closed woodlands to C_4 grasslands This plasticity agrees with the hypothesis that generalist species and open biome specialist species from North America indicate a positive migration through South America
