

A sepia-toned photograph of the Birkenau railway tracks leading to the gatehouse at Auschwitz II. The tracks are in the foreground, receding into the distance towards a large, dark, rectangular building with a central gatehouse featuring a watchtower. Several small figures of people are visible on the tracks and near the gatehouse. The overall tone is somber and historical.

Teaching The Holocaust Educational Dimensions Principles And Practice:

Teaching the Holocaust Ian Davies, 2000-04-01 Offers a comprehensive treatment of Holocaust education blending introductory material broad perspectives and practical teaching case studies This work shows how and why pupils should learn about the Holocaust

Teaching the Holocaust in School History Lucy Russell, 2006-08-17 If we expose students to a study of human suffering we have a responsibility to guide them through it But is this the role of school history This issue is the rationale behind teaching the Holocaust primarily historical moral or social Is the Holocaust to be taught as a historical event with a view to developing students critical historical skills or as a tool to combat continuing prejudice and discrimination These profound questions lie at the heart of Lucy Russell's fascinating analysis of teaching the Holocaust in school history She considers how the topic of the Holocaust is currently being taught in schools in the UK and overseas Drawing on interviews with educationalists academics and teachers she discovers that there is in fact a surprising lack of consensus regarding the purpose of and approaches to teaching the Holocaust in history Indeed the majority view is distinctly non historical there is a tendency to teach the Holocaust from a social and moral perspective and not as history This book attempts to explain and debate this phenomenon

Teaching the Holocaust Michael Gray, 2015-05-15 Teaching the Holocaust is an important but often challenging task for those involved in modern Holocaust education What content should be included and what should be left out How can film and literature be integrated into the curriculum What is the best way to respond to students who resist the idea of learning about it This book drawing upon the latest research in the field offers practical help and advice on delivering inclusive and engaging lessons along with guidance on how to navigate through the many controversies and considerations when planning preparing and delivering Holocaust education Whether teaching the subject in History Religious Education English or even in a school assembly there is a wealth of wisdom which will make the task easier for you and make the learning experience more beneficial for the student Chapters include The aims of Holocaust education Ethical issues to consider when teaching the Holocaust Using film and documentaries in the classroom Teaching the Holocaust through literature The role of online learning and social media The benefits and practicalities of visiting memorial sites With lesson plans resources and schemes of work which can be used across a range of different subjects this book is essential reading for those that want to deepen their understanding and deliver effective thought provoking Holocaust education

Testimony, Tensions, and Tikkun Myrna Goldenberg, Rochelle L. Millen, 2011-10-01 The Holocaust was a cataclysmic upheaval in politics culture society ethics and theology The very fact of its occurrence has been forcing scholars for more than sixty years to assess its impact on their disciplines Educators whose work is represented in this volume ask their students to grapple with one of the grand horrors of the twentieth century and to accept the responsibility of building a more just peaceful world tikkun olam They acknowledge that their task as teachers of the Holocaust is both imperative and impossible they must teach something that cannot be taught as one contributor puts it and they recognize the formidable limits of language thought imagination and comprehension that thwart and obscure the story they seek to tell Yet they are united in their keen sense of pursuing an effort that is pivotal to our understanding of the past and to whatever prospects we may have for a more decent and humane future A Holocaust course refers to an instructional offering that may focus entirely on the Holocaust may serve as a touchstone in a larger program devoted to genocide studies or may constitute a unit within a wider curriculum including art literature ethics history religious studies jurisprudence philosophy theology film studies Jewish studies German studies composition urban studies or architecture It may also constitute a main thread that runs through an interdisciplinary course The first section of Testimony Tensions and Tikkun can be read as an injunction to teach and act in a manner consistent with a profound cautionary message that there can be no tolerance for moral neutrality about the Holocaust and that there is no subject in the humanities or social sciences where its shadow has not reached The second section is devoted to the process and nature of students learning These chapters describe efforts to guide students through terrain that hides cognitive and emotional land mines The authors examine their responsibility to foster students personal connection with the events of the Holocaust but in such a way that they not instill hopelessness about the future The third and final section moves the subject of the Holocaust out of the classroom and into broader institutional settings universities and community colleges and their surrounding communities along with museums and memorial sites For the educators represented here teaching itself is testimony The story of the Holocaust is one that the world will fail to master at its own peril The editors of this volume and many of its contributors are members of the Pastora Goldner Holocaust Symposium Led since its founding in 1996 by Leonard Grob and Henry F Knight the symposium s scholars a group that is interfaith international interdisciplinary and intergenerational meet biennially in Oxfordshire England

Teaching the Holocaust Ian Davies,2000-05-01 Offers a comprehensive treatment of Holocaust education blending introductory material broad perspectives and practical teaching case studies This work shows how and why pupils should learn about the Holocaust

Teaching and Learning Through the Holocaust Anthony Pellegrino,Jeffrey Parker,2022-12-16 This book serves as a critical resource for educators across various roles and contexts who are interested in Holocaust education that is both historically sound and practically relevant As a collection it pulls together a diverse group of scholars to share their research and experiences The volume endeavors to address topics including the nature and purpose of Holocaust education how our understanding of the Holocaust has changed and resources we can use with learners These themes are consistent across the chapters making for a comprehensive exploration of learning through the Holocaust today and in the future

The Oxford Handbook of Holocaust Studies Peter Hayes,John K. Roth,2012-11-22 Few scholarly fields have developed in recent decades as rapidly and vigorously as Holocaust Studies At the start of the twenty first century the persecution and murder perpetrated by the Nazi regime have become the subjects of an enormous literature in multiple academic disciplines and a touchstone of public and intellectual discourse in such diverse fields as politics ethics and religion

Forward looking and multi disciplinary this handbook draws on the work of an international team of forty seven outstanding scholars The handbook is thematically divided into five broad sections Part One Enablers concentrates on the broad and necessary contextual conditions for the Holocaust Part Two Protagonists concentrates on the principal persons and groups involved in the Holocaust and attempts to disaggregate the conventional interpretive categories of perpetrator victim and bystander It examines the agency of the Nazi leaders and killers and of those involved in resisting and surviving the assault Part Three Settings concentrates on the particular places sites and physical circumstances where the actions of the Holocaust s protagonists and the forms of persecution were literally grounded Part Four Representations engages complex questions about how the Holocaust can and should be grasped and what meaning or lack of meaning might be attributed to events through historical analysis interpretation of texts artistic creation and criticism and philosophical and religious reflection Part Five Aftereffects explores the Holocaust s impact on politics and ethics education and religion national identities and international relations the prospects for genocide prevention and the defense of human rights

Holocaust Education in Primary Schools in the Twenty-First Century Claus-Christian W. Szejnmann, Paula Cowan, James Griffiths, 2018-07-09 This collection is the first of its kind bringing together Holocaust educational researchers as well as school and museum educators from across the globe to discuss the potentials of Holocaust education in relation to primary school children Its contributors are from countries that have a unique relationship with the Holocaust such as Germany Israel neutral Switzerland and Allied countries outside the UK Their research provides new insight into the diverse ways in which primary aged students engage with Holocaust education Chapters explore the impact of teaching the Holocaust to this age group school and museum teaching pedagogies and primary students perspectives of the Holocaust This book will appeal to school and museum educators of primary aged students whose work requires them to teach the Holocaust Citizenship or Civics or Human Rights Education Since the turn of the twenty first century there has been a transformation in school and museum based Holocaust education This book clearly demonstrates that primary education has been included in this transformation

Teaching Controversial Issues in the Classroom Paula Cowan, Henry Maitles, 2012-02-02 A thorough exploration of the issues in teaching controversial issues in classroom drawing on international case studies sharing teachers and pupils experiences

Teaching a Dark Chapter Daniela R. P. Weiner, 2024-07-15 Teaching a Dark Chapter explores how textbook narratives about the Fascist Nazi past in Italy East Germany and West Germany followed relatively calm undisturbed paths of little change until isolated flashpoints catalyzed the educational infrastructure into periods of rapid transformation Though these flashpoints varied among Italy and the Germanys they all roughly conformed to a chronological scheme and permanently changed how each dark past was represented Historians have often neglected textbooks as sources in their engagement with the reconstruction of postfascist states and the development of postwar memory culture But as Teaching a Dark Chapter demonstrates textbooks yield new insights and suggest a new chronology of the changes in postwar memory culture that other sources overlook Employing a methodological and temporal rethinking of the narratives surrounding the development of European Holocaust memory Daniela R P Weiner reveals how long before 1968 textbooks in these three countries served as important tools to influence public memory about Nazi Fascist atrocities As Fascism had been spread through education then education must play a key role in undoing the damage Thus to repair and shape postwar societies textbooks became an avenue to inculcate youths with desirable democratic and socialist values Teaching a Dark Chapter weds the historical study of public memory with the educational study of textbooks to ask how and why the textbooks were created what they said and how they affected the society around them
