As the end of the first century approached, Jewish Christians continued to face challenges not only from the government but also within their communities. This opposition raised questions about Jesus: was He the promised Messiah of the Old Testament? Or was He another prophet? In the wake of persecution, war, and an ever-changing cultural climate, John writes to remind believers that Jesus is God. He not only recounts stories and teachings not found in the other gospels but also includes the meaning within the Scripture, all culminating with a choice: will you believe and find life? Or will you walk away from the Savior of the world? This inductive Bible study includes a guide for studying Scripture, group discussion questions, lined pages for notes, links to teaching videos, and more. It is designed to help you release the bonds of a perfect quiet time to find deeper, richer time in the Word. Build confidence as you learn how to study the Bible firsthand. Discover truths about God and His character. Connect the Old and New Testaments. Grow in your faith and knowledge in a way that produces life change.
