Halle, 2010-10-01 What is the work of film in the age of transnational production To answer that question Randall Halle focuses on the film industry of Germany one of Europe's largest film markets and one of the world's largest film producing nations In the 1990s Germany experienced an extreme transition from a state subsidized mode of film production that was free of anxious concerns about profit and audience entertainment to a mode dominated by private interest and big capital At the same time the European Union began actively drawing together the national markets of Germany and other European nations subsuming their individual significances into a synergistic whole This book studies these changes broadly but also focuses on the transformations in their particular national context It balances film politics and film aesthetics tracing transformations in financing along with analyses of particular films to describe the effects on the film object itself Halle concludes that we witness currently the emergence of a new transnational aesthetic a fundamental shift in cultural production with ramifications for communal identifications state cohesion and national economies Generic Histories of German Cinema Jaimey Fisher, 2013 Generic Histories offers a fresh approach tracing a series of key genres including horror science fiction the thriller Heimat films and war films over the course of German cinema history It also addresses detective films comedies policiers and romances that deliberately localize global genres within Germany a form of transnationalism frequently neglected This focus on genre and history encourages rethinking of the traditional opposition and hierarchy between art and popular cinema that has informed German film studies In these ways the volume foregrounds genre theory's potential for rethinking film history as well as cultural history more broadly Publisher's description 140 All-Time

Identity in the New German Cinema Inga Scharf, 2008-06-30 This book investigates the construction of national identity in films of the New German Cinema using for the first time an explicitly cultural studies methodology      The C.A. Lejeune Film Reader C. A. Lejeune, 2000-05-01 C A Lejeune was among the first professional film critics in the world her columns in the Observer commanding a huge readership Her career spanned the rise the great days and the beginning of the decline of the industry and the start of the television age She saw the coming of sound and color of the star system and the wide screen Her column was eagerly read for its percipience humor kindliness and good writing by people who never went to the cinema at all This comprehensive selection of her articles essays and reviews from silent film days through to the 1960s has an autobiographical shape She tells how she became a critic and what criticism means she recalls her long acquaintance with Alfred Hitchcock and Alexander Korda Leslie Howard and Robert Donat personalities unforgettable and unforgotten who gave British cinema its finest hours For students of film history this is essential reading For lovers of old films it is an instructive and nostalgic delight And like C A Lejeune s column it will appeal to any reader who appreciates good writing and civilized values      German Film Directors in Hollywood Ernst Schürmann, 1978
