McCarty, 2006-04-21 Language Literacy and Power in Schooling brings critical ethnographic perspectives to bear on language literacy and power in culturally and linguistically diverse contexts showing how literacy and schooling are negotiated by children and adults and how schooling becomes a key site of struggle over whose knowledge discourses and literacy practices count Part I examines tensions between the local and the general in literacy development and use Part II considers face to face interactions surrounding literacy practices in ethnically diverse classrooms and Part III widens the ethnographic lens to position literacy practices in the context of globalization and contemporary education policies Each section includes a substantive introduction by the editor and a synthetic commentary by a leading literacy researcher Above all this is a book oriented toward social action Unpacking the complexity of literacy practices and experiences in diverse settings the authors seek not only to build new knowledge but to inform and transform the pedagogies and policies that limit human potentials The chapters in this volume have much to teach us about the roots of inequality and the possibilities for positive change Together they highlight the urgent need for critical literacy researchers to engage politically confronting education policies that deny the rich multiplicity of human literacies thereby carving ever deeper cleavages between those with and without access to literacies of power The dual focus on language and literacy with critical ethnographic accounts of identity and schooling speaks to a growing constituency of scholars and practitioners concerned with the role of literacy and discourse in alternatively affirming or negating knowledge power and identity both within and outside of schools

Language, Learning, and Disability in the Education of Young Bilingual Children Dina C. Castro, Alfredo J. Artiles, 2021-04-27 Using an interdisciplinary perspective to discuss the intersection of language development and learning processes this book summarizes current knowledge and represents the most critical issues regarding early childhood research policy and practice related to young bilingual children with disabilities The book begins with a conceptual framework focusing on the intersection between the fields of early childhood education bilingual education and special education It goes on to review and discuss the role of bilingualism in young children s development and the experiences of young bilingual children with disabilities in early care and education settings including issues of eligibility and access to care instruction and assessment The book explores family experiences teacher preparation accountability and policy ending with recommendations for future research which will inform both policies and practices for the education of young bilingual children with disabilities This timely volume provides valuable guidance for teachers administrators policymakers and researchers
