Building Services Journal, 2004 Building Heat Transfer Morris Grenfell Davies, 2004-06-25. A third or more of the energy consumption of industrialized countries is expended on creating acceptable thermal and lighting conditions in buildings. As a result, building heat transfer is keenly important to the design of buildings, and the resulting analytical theory forms the basis of most design procedures. Analytical Theory of Building Heat Transfer is the first comprehensive reference of its kind, a one-volume compilation of current findings on heat transfer relating to the thermal behavior of buildings, forming a logical basis for current design procedures.

Environmental Design Randall Thomas, 2006. Written and edited by a team of specialists at Max Fordham LLP, one of the UK's leading environmental and building services engineering consultancies, Environmental Design is the result of their extensive experience in designing environmentally friendly buildings. The principles of their approach, which they have taught in numerous schools of architecture and engineering, are clearly presented here. The book starts with some basic scientific principles and environmental issues and then moves on to site planning, energy use, materials and building form. Natural ventilation systems, high efficiency mechanical equipment and alternative energy sources are also covered. State-of-the-art buildings of exceptional quality are incorporated throughout the text and illustrate the authors' belief that environmentally responsible architecture can be visually exciting. They conclude with a selection of detailed case studies of award-winning projects, including new for this third edition: Beaufort Court, King's Langley and the National Trust Headquarters, Swindon. This book is essential reading for architects, engineers, planners and students of these disciplines.

Solar Energy Update, 1983-12 Thermochemical Conversion Processes for Solid Fuels and Renewable Energies Falah Alobaid, Jochen Ströhle, 2021-08-30. It is widely believed that a large proportion of greenhouse gas emissions originated anthropogenically from the use of fossil fuels, with additional contributions coming from manufactured materials, deforestation, soil erosion and agriculture, including livestock. The global society actively supports measures to create a flexible and low-carbon energy economy to attenuate climate change and its devastating environmental consequences. In this Special Issue, the recent advancements in the next generation thermochemical conversion processes for solid fuels and renewable energies, e.g. the operational flexibility of co-combustion of biomass and lignite, integrated solar combined cycle power plants and advanced gasification systems such as the sorption-enhanced gasification and the chemical
