The Hambukushu Rainmakers Of The Okavango:

The Hambukushu Rainmakers of the Okavango Thomas John Larson, 2001 In light of the terrible AIDS tragedy unfolding in southern Africa one gets an enormous sense of sadness and loss when reading The Hambukushu Rainmakers of the Okavango Tom J Larson was one of the last anthropologists to experience and record their ancient culture before it was so radically impacted by modernization and the ravages of the AIDS epidemic Over the course of many years he earned the trust of the Hambukushu and was allowed the kind of access needed to painstakingly record the minutiae of every aspect of their daily lives What emerged is a portrait of a complex distinctive African culture defined by the abundance of their homeland the vast and wild Okavango River delta and by the powerful Rainmaker chiefs who controlled the very fabric of their existence To read Larson's extraordinary book is to understand how the belief systems that worked so well for them for centuries wreak such havoc on them today Novels of Botswana in English, 1930-2006 S. Lederer, 2014-06-16 Mary

Lederer provides a valuable critical historical survey of the genesis and development of the English novel in Botswana This book comes as a timely correction of the notion that Botswana has no sustained fiction written in English thus filling a gap that has existed for a long time in the literature of that country Tales from the Okavango Thomas J. Larson, 2002 Tales from the Okavango tells several typical Hambukushu folktales partly in narration and partly in song Some of the tales are heard only in song others only in narration Most of the stories take place along the Okavango River in Africa Animal characters interact with legendary characters Nyambi the god and the Hambukushu Learn the story of Chief Chakova who goes on an epic journey in search of his father and the story of Nyambi's climb into heaven by the spider web Meet Kadimba the hare Ngando the crocodile and Mbawathe the silver fox who are the clever ones who outwit Nthoo the leopard and many more fascinating characters These are authentic folk tales told to Professor Larson by the three greatest Hambukushu story tellers Setomba the ancient blind man of Shakawe Mohore the magician and Samarango the great magician of Seronga

Dibebe of the Okavango Thomas J. Larson, 2001 This exciting Huckleberry Finn kind of story is about two African herdboys in 1950 going down the Okavango River in a dugout canoe The beautiful river flows down out of the Benguela Highlands of Angola crosses the Caprivi Strip of Namibia then into Botswana where it spreads out through the vast Okavango Delta The true to life adventures of Dibebe and Andara are about hunting fishing surviving visiting friends and kinsmen along the great meandering river The Hambukushu tribal ceremonies are true to the culture of these remote riverine people Brave canoemen have traveled through the vast delta in dugout canoes Bushman paintings can be seen in the mysterious Tsodilo Hills It is possible that prehistoric peoples left their bones in a cave in these hills The anthropologist author made eight expeditions from 1950 to 1994 to study the culture of these matrilineal Bantu speaking hunters fishermen farmers All events in the story were possible in those long ago days of 1950 This story of karikaripamatango the olden days is most informative and educational reading for young people and adults alike Indigenous Knowledge of Namibia Chinsembu, Kazhila

Taylor,2012-12-29 This book encompasses a history of identity building amongst Khwe San people and of contestations for authority over land and natural resources in Namibias West Caprivi The politics of authority in this contested borderland area were significantly shaped by state and NGO interventions into local institutions and land use between the late 1930s and 2006 Julie J Taylor pays close attention to the role of NGOs in these processes She shows that in their relationship with West Caprivis residents NGOs unintentionally contributed towards the hardening and politicising of ethnic difference including through the implementation of land mapping projects At the same time in their relationship with the state NGOs often worked to depoliticise struggles over authority thus inadvertently reinforcing the states authority in the area

World Heritage Sites and Tourism Laurent Bourdeau,Maria Gravari-Barbas,Mike Robinson,2016-11-10 Not all World Heritage Sites have people living within or close by their boundaries but many do The designation of World Heritage status brings a new dimension to the functioning of local communities and particularly through tourism Too many tourists accentuated by the World Heritage label or in some cases not enough tourists despite anticipation of increased numbers can act to disrupt and disturb relations within a community and between communities Either way tourism can be seen as a form of activity that can generate interest and concern as it is played out within World Heritage Sites But the relationships that World Heritage Sites and their consequent tourism share with communities are not just a function of the number of tourists The relationships are complex and ever changing as the communities themselves change and are built upon long standing and wider contextual factors that stretch beyond tourism. This volume drawing upon a wide range of international cases relating to some 33 World Heritage Sites reveals the multiple dimensions of the relations that exist between the sites and local communities. The designation of the sites can create obscure and heighten the power relations between different parts of a community, between different communities and between the tourism and the heritage sector. Increasingly the management of World Heritage is not only about the management of buildings and landscapes but about managing the communities that live and work in or near them.
