The Handicapped Child Research Review Vol I:

The Child with Spina Bifida Elizabeth M. Anderson, Bernie Spain, 2016-02-26 First published in 1977 this book focuses on the disability of spina bifida in children Children with the condition frequently suffer with severe physical handicaps such as lower limb paralysis and incontinence as well as intellectual impairment It can be difficult for the families of these multiply handicapped children and they often require the help of professionals from many disciplines In this book the authors focus on practical suggestions for alleviating many of the problems brought about by the condition Their suggestions are designed to help parents as well as professionals Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1980 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Social Work with Children Juliet Berry, 2025-09-01 First published in 1972 Social Work with Children presents a detailed examination of children and their needs in our society The author moves from an initial discussion of the pleasures and pressures inherent in parenthood towards considering how children may be helped in their social development She distinguishes between situations in which children may benefit from direct casework help and those in which aid may be more appropriately offered by parents or caretakers and shows how such treatment can be carried out She deals with special circumstances in relation to adoption fostering residential care neglect and ill treatment and considers the position of the handicapped immigrant or delinquent child In a final chapter she discusses methods of social work other than casework including group work community work and social action Juliet Berry makes frequent use of case illustrations and throughout the book she provides an extensive guide to further reading Teratology C.L. Berry, D.E. Poswillo, 2012-12-06 In the fifteen years since the thalidomide disaster teratology has become a science in its own right distinct from its progenitors experimental embryology and developmental biology but bearing many of the familiar features of both parents In this growth period there have been contributions from many different scientific disciplines as diverse as molecular biology and obstetrics which have united in the field of study of congenital malformations Scientists in academic departments government research institutes and industrial pharmacology have all explored ways of evaluating the potential of drugs and chemicals to damage the embryo strict methods of screening for teratogenicity have become mandatory in most parts of the world Despite a wealth of basic information in the fields of genetics and embryology there is little concrete knowledge of the causal mechanisms of malformation in Man and even less concerning the relevance to Man of those laboratory and animal tests which decide the fate of potentially useful drugs It is timely therefore that in 1975 a group of young and active scientists and clinicians concerned with the broader implications of teratology should review the past and look to the future of this emerging speciality In this volume the editors have blended the opinions of teratologists their message presages change in many of the old and accepted areas of investigative teratology Teaching of Chronic Illness and Aging Duncan W. Clark, T. Franklin Williams, 1976 Resources in Education, 1991 Studies Indiana University, 1919 Research in Education, 1974 Indiana University Studies Indiana University, 1919 Children's Chances Jody

Heymann, 2013-02-13 Children's Chances urges a shift from focusing on survival to targeting children's full and healthy development Drawing on comparative data on policies in 190 countries designed to combat poverty discrimination child labor illiteracy and child marriage Heymann and McNeill tell what works to ensure equal opportunities for all children
