The Overcrowded Barracoon:

The Overcrowded Barracoon, and Other Articles Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, 1972 The overcrowded barracoon and other articles V. S. Naipaul, 1969 The Overcrowded Barracoon Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, 1984 V S Naipul describes his literary predicament as a West Indian born Indian writer living in England and reflects upon the social aspects of colonialism V. S. Naipaul, Man and Writer Gillian Dooley, 2017-02-01 An introduction to the uncompromising artistic vision of the internationally acclaimed writer A survey of the life and work of the 2001 Nobel Laureate for Literature V S Naipaul Man and Writer introduces readers to the writer widely viewed as a curmudgeonly novelist who finds special satisfaction in overturning the vogue presuppositions of his peers Gillian Dooley takes an expansive look at Naipaul's literary career from Miguel Street to Magic Seeds From readings of his fiction nonfiction travel books and volumes of letters she elucidates the connections between Naipaul's personal experiences as a Hindu Indian from Trinidad living an expatriate life and the precise euphonious prose with which he is synonymous Dooley assesses each of Naipaul's major publications in light of his stated intentions and beliefs and she traces the development of his writing style over a forty year career Devoting separate chapters to three of his chief works A House for Mr Biswas In a Free State and The Enigma of Arrival she analyzes their critical reception and the primacy of Naipaul's specific narrative style and voice Dooley emphasizes that it is above all Naipaul's refusal to compromise his vision in order to flatter or appease that has made him a controversial writer At the same time she sees the integrity with which he reports his subjective response to the world as essential to the lasting success of his work Mauritius Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, 1972 V. S. Naipaul: Displacement and Autobiography Judith Levy, 2015-08-20 Originally published in 1995 V S Naipaul a Trinidadian of Indian descent living in the West has written in many forms Through an analysis of five works by Naipaul written in different modes and periods of his life this study posits a relationship between a cultural condition and a choice of genre and narrative or more specifically between cultural displacement and the writing of autobiography Examining an aspect of Naipaul's development as a post colonial writer this book is of interest in exploring the way that concepts of self determine the writing of texts It considers deflected autobiographies genre boundaries quests for origin and expression and Lacanian psychoanalytic theory The Sum of No Equation Sabine Freyling, 2008 Starting with the social and psychological side of the person Naipaul one can summarise some reasonably simple discoveries that can be extracted from both his autobiographical pieces and his seemingly fictional books published within a period of more than fifty years Naipaul suggested that the way to approach the author is not through finding out as much as possible about the man and one could easily argue that the idea shall simply be used in conversion One can learn more about the person when taking into account all that has been produced by the author who is part of the person By this means one can extract valuable information about both person and author and thus can easily uncover some mysteries that have been established by the author person to conceal the reality behind a fixed idea that has always played a significant role in Naipaul's life. Having studied English, Naipaul was aware of all the tools available and of the aims of literary critics and seems to have challenged these established routes for his own sake and to serve his purpose.

The Mauritian Paradox Ramola Ramtohul, Hylland Eriksen, 2018-04-11 Speaking of Mauritius as an economic miracle has become a cliché and with good reason. Its development since Independence in 1968 can easily be narrated as a rags to riches story. In addition, it is a stable democracy capable of containing the conflict potential inherent in its complex ethnic and religious demography. This book brings together some of the finest scholarship, domestic as well as foreign, on contemporary Mauritius, offering perspectives from constitutional law, cultural studies, sociology, archaeology, economics, social anthropology and more. While celebrating the indisputable and impressive achievements of the Mauritian nation on its fiftieth birthday, this book is far from toothless. Looking back inevitably implies looking ahead, and in order to do so, critical self-scrutiny is essential to be able to learn from the mistakes of the past. The contributors raise fundamental questions concerning a broad range of issues, from the dilemmas of multiculturalism to the marginal role of women in public life, from the question of constitutional reform and the continued problem of corruption to the slow destruction of Mauritius' joy and pride, namely the beauty and purity of its natural scenery. Taking stock of the first fifty years, this book also looks ahead to the next fifty years, giving some cues as to where Mauritius can and should aim in the next decades. Authority and Authorship in V.S. Naipaul I.

Coovadia, 2009-06-22 This book traces the ways in which problems of imaginative authority and authorship structure the fiction and non-fiction of V.S. Naipaul and resonate in postcolonial literature. Imraan Coovadia argues that the postcolonial societies Naipaul studies in novels such as A Bend in the River and Guerillas are defined by the fragility of their authority. Coovadia demonstrates through close reading how Naipaul, born in Trinidad to an Indian family and resident of the United Kingdom, asserts his imaginative authority over many different situations across the globe through a complex literary rhetoric.

A Study of Mixed Legal Systems: Endangered, Entrenched or Blended Sue Farran, Esin Örüçü, 2016-03-16 A Study of Mixed Legal Systems: Endangered, Entrenched or Blended takes the reader on a fascinating voyage of discovery. It includes case studies of a number of systems from across the globe: Cyprus, Guyana, Jersey, Mauritius, Philippines, Quebec, St. Lucia, Scotland, and Seychelles. Each combines its legal legacies in novel ways. Large and small, in Europe and beyond, some are sovereign, some part of larger political units. Some are monolingual, some bilingual, some multilingual. Along with an analytical introduction and conclusion, the chapters explore the manner in which the elements of these mixed systems may be seen to be entrenched, endangered, or blended. It explores how this process of legal change happens, questions whether some systems are at greater risk than others, and details the strategies that have been adopted to accelerate or counteract change. The studies involve consideration of the colourful histories of the jurisdictions, of their complex relationships to parent legal systems and traditions, and of language, legal education, and legal actors. The volume also considers whether the experiences of these systems can tell us something about legal mixtures and movements generally. Indeed, the volume will be helpful both for scholars and students with a special interest in mixed legal systems as well as anyone interested in comparative law and legal history in the diversity and dynamism of law
