The Paths To Domination Resistance And Terror:

The Paths to Domination, Resistance, and Terror Carolyn Nordstrom, Joann Martin, 1992-02-25 The Paths to Terror offers a new and refreshing perspective on sociopolitical violence one that highlights the human experience of domination resistance and terror as they are woven into the fabric of everyday life These innovative essays take the reader from the Americas through Europe and the Middle East and to Asia to capture the cultural construction of sociopolitical violence The authors expand our view of the ethnographic reality revealing the complex interplay among local national and international actors in the perpetuation of violence and terror The organization of the essays along a continuum from domination through the emergence of resistance to the development of cultures of conflict and terror underlines the value of understanding the growth and resolution of violence as cultural dynamics

The Paths to Domination, Resistance, and Terror Nordstrom/Martin, 1992 The Paths to Terror offers a new and refreshing perspective on sociopolitical violence one that highlights the human experience of domination resistance and terror as they are woven into the fabric of everyday life These innovative essays take the reader from the Americas through Europe and the Middle East and to Asia to capture the cultural construction of sociopolitical violence The authors expand our view of the ethnographic reality revealing the complex interplay among local national and international actors in the perpetuation of violence and terror The organization of the essays along a continuum from domination through the emergence of resistance to the development of cultures of conflict and terror underlines the value of understanding the growth and resolution of violence as cultural dynamics

Anthropologica, 2006 Terror and Taboo Joseba Zulaika, William Douglass, 2016-04-22 Terror and Taboo is about the mythology of terrorism it is an exploration of the ways we talk about terrorism It offers incontestable evidence to support the idea that we give power to terrorism by the way we write and talk about it According to Zulaika and Douglass we make terrorism worse by the way we represent it in the media and in everyday conversation Through their examination of terrorism they propose to remove the taboos surrounding terrorism Terror and Taboo is full of examples to ground the authors premise ranging from specific examples such as tendency to talk more about where Timothy McVeigh shopped for weapons than about the international traffic in arms by legitimate nations to more theoretical interpretations that will be familiar to readers of cultural studies books

Deadly Developments Stephen and Downs Reyna, 2005-08-04 Ten anthropologists trace the machinations of war and the effects of violence in capitalist states from their formation to the present This collection the newest volume in the War and Society series questions the foundations of classical social theory while investigating local and international conflict through the critical and cross cultural lens of social theory history and anthropology The essays combine to challenge the notion developed by social theorists such as Comte Spencer Durkheim and Engels that war will diminish with the formation and the perpetuation of a capitalist economy and industry The development of capitalist states and the nefarious and violent processes which must occur to reproduce capitalism are rarely realized and then infrequently analyzed Many western and ethnocentric scholarly representations of war succeed in hiding the deadly developments that occur as a result of capitalist state formation and relations

Crisis of the State Bruce Kapferer, Bjørn Enge Bertelsen, 2009-04-01 Analyzing both historical contexts and geographical locations this volume explores the continuous reformation of state power and its potential in situations of violent conflict The state otherwise understood as an abstract and transcendent concept in many works on globalization in political philosophy is instead located and analyzed here as an embedded part of lived reality This relationship to the state is exposed as an integral factor to the formation of the social whether in Africa the Middle East South America or the United States Through the examination of these particular empirical settings of war or war like situations the book further argues for the continued importance of the state in shifting social and political circumstances In doing so the authors provide a critical contribution to debates within a broad spectrum of fields that are concerned with the future of the state the nature of sovereignty and globalization

Fieldwork Under Fire Carolyn Nordstrom, Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 1995 Required reading for anyone about to leave for the field A timely deserving and original contribution to a rapidly growing body of literature on the study of violence Jean Paul Dumont George Mason University

At the Crossroads of Rights Rahul Ranjan, 2022-03-30 This book demonstrates synergies and distils hard earned lessons of human and forest rights struggles to inform the ongoing debates on environmental human rights It highlights the ongoing struggles of the communities in postcolonial India that are confronted with the most brutal and unprecedented assault on their economic and sociocultural rights often led by the political establishment The contributions in this edited volume present multiple narratives of these struggles theoretical inquiries into a diversity of political imaginations and the intertwined changes in the legal and biophysical landscapes These contributions speak to some of the most important contemporary debates within the human rights community that stands in the crossroads with rights of Indigenous Peoples and other members of subaltern groups This volume will be of great value to scholars students and researchers interested in human rights politics power forest governance and environmental movements in postcolonial India The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of The International Journal of Human Rights

Jihadi Culture on the World Wide Web Gilbert Ramsay, 2013-10-10 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2014 This volume examines jihadi content on the Internet by drawing on both Arabic and English primary source materials After examining this content as digital media the work looks at how it is productively consumed by online communities including how jihadi individuals construct themselves online and how jihadism is practiced and represented as an online activity The work also discusses the consumption of such jihadi media by those who are hostile to radical Islam and the relation between fantasy pleasure ideology and ordinary life This unique survey features case studies such as the cyberjihadi Irhabi 007 pro US and Israeli patriots who are often openly Islamophobic and Infovlad a forum that became the meeting place for radical Islamists and radical freelance counter terrorists This innovative approach to studying violent content on the Internet is a significant contribution to the literature that will appeal to anyone interested in political violence terrorism and political communication      Organizations, Gender and the Culture of Palestinian Activism in Haifa, Israel Elizabeth Faier, 2013-09-13 This book based on 25 months of anthropological fieldwork examines activists and activism in Palestinian nongovernmental organizations in Israel It concentrates on the ways organizations enable certain processes of self identification based on activists constructions of modernity
